

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE FORTY-FIFTH REPORT OF
THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg leave to submit to Your Majesty my Annual Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office for the year 1883: pursuant to the Acts 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94., § 17, and 40 & 41 Vict. c. 55.

I. FAC-SIMILES OF NATIONAL MANUSCRIPTS, &c., BY PROCESS OF PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY, &c.

These operations have been continued during 1883, at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, under the superintendence of Mr. William Basevi Sanders, an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records, stationed there; further details will be found in Mr. Sanders' Report for that year, submitted to Your Majesty in the Appendix to this Report (App. I., No. 4).

II. CALENDARS AND TRANSCRIPTS.

The progress in the Calendars in 1883 is also mentioned in § xi., and in Appendix I. (No. 8.)

In Appendix I. (No. 2), will be found the continuation of the Calendar of Inquisitions post mortem, &c., among the Cursitor's Records of the County of Durham, more particularly described in the Introduction to the Calendar. Mr. Gustavus Frederick Handcock, a Junior Clerk in this Office, prepared both portions of the Calendar.

A further portion of the Calendar of the Patent Rolls in this Office is submitted to Your Majesty (Appendix II., No. 3), being for the fourth year of Edward I., calendared by Mr. Frank Scott Haydon, the Senior Clerk in the Department.

In Appendix I. (No. 1) is an Inventory of the Accounts of the Ministers and Receivers of the Duchy of Lancaster, from Edw. I. to Geo. III. The Inventory is arranged alphabetically, of the Honors, Manors, and other possessions of the Duchy, under the Counties of England and Wales. Further valuable information is given in an Introduction. The Inventory has been prepared by Mr. Robert Douglas Trimmer, a Senior Clerk in this Office.

The Volumes of Calendars published in 1883 were:—

(1.) The Seventh Volume of the Calendar of Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., for the year 1534, edited by Mr. James Gairdner, an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records; being the third volume of that reign edited by Mr. Gairdner, with the help of Mr. Charles Trice Martin, a Senior Clerk in the Public Record Office. The Papers calendared in this volume cover the whole of the year 1534, a date when the severance of England from Papal authority was all but complete, and Henry was endeavouring to secure greater power over his subjects by the new Act of Succession. The great unpopularity of this Act is amply illustrated by documents showing the harsh treatment dealt out to many persons, of whom Sir Thomas More and Bishop Fisher are the most illustrious, who declined the oath. The King's difficulties with the Pope had increased his troubles in Scotland and Ireland; hence the hardships undergone by the English settlers in the latter country, which are very graphically told in some of the letters.

(2.) The Tenth Volume of the Calendar of Domestic State Papers during the Commonwealth, edited by Mrs. M. A. Everett Green, comprises the period between July 1656 and May 1657. The chief matters concerned therein are—the proceedings of the Parliament which met in September 1656, the plots against Cromwell and the measures taken for his protection, the efforts to induce him to take the title of King and to make the Crown hereditary in his family, the needy fortunes of the Royalist party, Charles II.'s treatment at the Brussels Court, the persecutions of the Quakers, &c., &c.

(3.) The Fifth Volume of the Calendar of Treasury Papers, prepared by Mr. Joseph Redington, an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records, extends from the beginning of George I.'s reign, 1 August 1714, to the end of the year 1719. Among the chief events of that period illustrated by this valuable series of State documents are—the Cattle Plague which broke out about November 1714, the Rebellion of 1715, difficulties with Scotland about the collection of Customs, disputes with our Colonies and Trading Companies, and the settlement of the poor Palatines in England and Ireland.

(4.) The Second Part of the Fourth Volume of the Calendar of Letters, Despatches, and State Papers, relating to the Negotiations between England and Spain, edited by Don Pascual de Gayangos, embraces the three years 1531, 1532, and 1533, in two volumes. Some of the letters noticed were written from Rome by Miguel Mai and Don Fernando de Silva, who successively conducted the Emperor's affairs in that city, and they are of great importance in showing the state of affairs when the discussions arising from Henry's divorce were still at their height. Among other prominent Continental statesmen who appear as writers in this correspondence, may be named Cardinal Loaysa, Muxetula, Dr. Pedro Ortiz, Don Pedro de la Cueva, and the lawyer Davalos, proctor to Queen Katherine.

In the Forty-fourth Report (§ II.) allusion is made to the severe accident which Mr. Rawdon Brown, the editor of the Venetian Calendar, who resided at Venice for 50 years, had met with in 1881, and which delayed the completion and publication of the Third Part of Vol. VI. of that Calendar. It was printed in London, and thus a certain unavoidable delay is caused with regard to the correction of the proof sheets. To the end of the year 1876, Mr. Brown had published five volumes of his Calendar, extending from 1202 to 1554. At the close of 1881, Vol. VI., Part I., had appeared, and Part II. was nearly ready for publication. A large Appendix of earlier Documents was also in hand, which was to form Part III. of Vol. VI. Mr. Brown had further calendared in MS. the Venetian Despatches for France to April 1560, and those from Spain to 26 May 1560, and other Documents relating to the intercourse between England and France, to the death of Francis II. on 5 December 1560, as before mentioned. Mr. Brown met with a serious accident in 1881 by falling down a steep stone staircase, and this interrupted for a long time the progress of his Calendar; the second part of Vol. VI. was, however, published in 1882. Mr. Brown never recovered from the effects of the accident above alluded to, and died on 25 August 1883.

The third part of the Sixth Volume was unfinished at the time of Mr. Brown's death; but arrangements have been made for its completion.

In the Forty-fourth Report to Your Majesty, it is stated that Mr. Rawdon Brown had transmitted to this Department 129 Volumes of Transcripts, for which he received an annual grant from the Public Funds. A List of these Documents is annexed to the present Report (App. II., No. 2).

Mr. Brown bequeathed by his will to the Public Record Office a collection of Manuscripts contained in 20 portfolios and 156 bound volumes, relating chiefly to the history of Venice. An English inventory of these valuable papers is in preparation.

The illness of Mr. H. S. Sweetman, editor of the Calendar of Documents relating to Ireland, preserved in the Public Record Office, London, alluded to in my Forty-fourth Report (§ II.), increased so greatly in the year 1883 that he was obliged to quit that employment on 31 December 1883, leaving the Volume on which he had been working in an incomplete state. The completion of that Volume, and the continuation of the Calendar, has been assigned to Mr. Gustavus Frederick Handcock, previously mentioned, who has commenced this duty.

In the Forty-fourth Report (§ II.) it was stated that the Fourth Volume of the Calendar of Spanish Papers (Henry VIII.) was expected to be published early in 1883. It was accordingly so published, for the years 1531-1533, in two parts, on account of its large size, edited by Don Pascual de Gayangos, as previously stated (§ II.). Vol. V., Part I. is now in the printers' hands, commencing with the year 1534.

Of the Calendar of State Papers printed for sale, three Volumes were published in 1883, making a total of 172 Volumes published; 844 copies of the series were sold in 1883. The total number of Volumes sold is 14,592. The state of the Calendars at the end of 1883 will be found in the Appendix I. (No. 8).

Other operations in connexion with Foreign Documents are given in § IV.

III. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

Six additional Volumes of this series were published in 1883 making a total of 179 Volumes already published; 1,710 Volumes were sold in that year, making a total of 40,662 Volumes sold. A list of those works published in 1883, and of those in progress at the end of 1883, is given in the Appendix I. (No. 9).

IV. RESEARCHES, &c., IN FOREIGN DOCUMENTS.

In addition to the operations previously mentioned on Foreign Documents, the following researches, &c., took place, during 1883, on Documents in Rome, Sweden (2), and Paris.

Rome.—Mr. William Henry Bliss has continued his researches in the Libraries and Secret Archives of Rome, and forwarded 23 bundles of valuable Transcripts, including some from Sweden, which have been consulted by searchers in this Office. He has made two Reports of his proceedings at Rome for 1882, which are annexed to this Report (App. I., No. 6).

Stockholm.—Mr. Bliss has also, with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, been employed, during the period the Vatican Library was closed, to make a complete examination of and report on the collection of State Papers connected with English and Scottish affairs, preserved among the Public Archives at Stockholm. His First Report on Papers relating to the History of England is annexed to the Forty-third Report (Appendix II., No. 2). Mr. Bliss repeated his visit to Stockholm in 1882, and an extract from his Report to the Master of the Rolls is given in the Forty-fourth Report, § IV. A Summary Report on the Records of Sweden, by Mr. Bliss, in the years 1882 and 1883, is annexed to this Report (App. I., No. 7). Some bundles of transcripts have been received as above mentioned.

Stockholm, Skokloster, Upsala, &c.—As stated in the Forty-fourth Report (§ IV.), the Rev. William Dunn Macray was appointed to make a further investigation in the Swedish Records in the course of the summer of 1883, and his Report is annexed to this Report (App. II., No. 1).

Mr. Macray has since been appointed to make further researches in the Swedish Records.

Paris.—M. Armand Baschet has continued his valuable researches in the Archives and Public Libraries of Paris for Documents illustrating British History, reporting his operations annually. At the end of the year 1883, the annual collection of Transcripts made in that year was received from M. Baschet. A list thereof is annexed to this Report (App. I., No. 5).

V. CANADIAN ARCHIVES.

In the Forty-fourth Report (I., § V.) it is stated that Mr. Douglas Brymner, Archivist of the Dominion of Canada, had transmitted his usual Annual Report on the Archives of Canada. This was for the year 1882, and extracts from the Report are given in the Forty-fourth Report. Mr. Brymner has since transmitted his Report on the Canadian Archives for the year 1883, in which he alludes to the increased facilities afforded to him, to consult the Records in the custody of the Master of the Rolls in the Public Record Office, and in other Departments, and gives some extracts from the Colonial Entry Books, containing Papers relating to New England, &c.

VI. THE ACT 40 & 41 VICT. C. 55.

Among the proceedings which can now be taken under the First Section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, are the following:—

(I.) Proceedings under Subsection One of the above-mentioned First Section and under the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25th July 1882, as applied to documents of Courts mentioned in the Third Section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838. (See 44th Report, p. ix.)

(II.) Proceedings under Subsection Two of the above-mentioned First Section and under the Rules numbered One and Two in the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd May 1883, which Rules so numbered One and Two are applicable exclusively to documents in the Offices of certain Departments of the Government.

(III.) Proceedings under Subsection Two of the above-mentioned First Section and under the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25th July 1882, as applied (by the Rule numbered Four in the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd May 1883) to documents removed from the Offices of certain Departments of the Government into the Public Record Office.

Proceedings were in the year 1883 taken under heads I. and II. only.

(I.) Under the first head a Schedule No. 2 in continuation of Schedule No. 1 of Valueless Documents of the Court of Queen's Bench (Plea Side) has been laid before both Houses of Parliament for four weeks, and most of the Documents therein recommended for destruction have been handed over to the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office and destroyed. Some of them, however, have yet to be separated from documents of a more valuable nature with which they are intermixed. The weight of those destroyed was 9 tons 2 cwts. 14 lbs.

An examination of the records of the Court of Common Pleas was commenced in January 1883, and a Schedule of the Valueless Documents amongst them, which has been nearly completed, will be noticed in the Deputy Keeper's Report for 1884.

A Schedule of Valueless Documents formerly in the Office of the Principal Secretary of the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, and in the Office of the Secretary of Causes of the Master of the Rolls, and now existing or accruing in the Office of the Registrars of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, has also been prepared and is ready to be laid before the two Houses of Parliament.

(II.) The Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd May 1883 (by virtue of the first two of which the proceedings under the second head have been taken) were published in the London Gazette of June 5, 1883 (No. 25,239), and the following is a copy of them :—

"I, the Right Honourable Sir George Jessel, Master of the Rolls, in exercise of the power conferred upon me by the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, do hereby add to the Rules made by me on the 28th day of January 1882, whereof Her Majesty has declared Her approbation by Order in Council, dated the 25th day of July 1882, the Rules following :—

"1. A schedule or schedules of documents not removed to the Public Record Office, but remaining in any Office of any of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, or other Department of the Government, may be prepared by direction of any such Principal Secretary, or any Head of such Department who has the custody thereof respectively, and who has approved of these present Rules, and, after having been submitted to the Master of the Rolls, may be laid before both Houses of Parliament in the manner and for the purposes mentioned in the First Section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877.

"2. All documents in the office of any of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, or other Department of the Government (not being of more ancient date than the year 1715) which are or shall be of the classes included in any such Schedule or Schedules aforesaid, duly submitted to both Houses of Parliament for a period of not less than four weeks, may, at the end of such number of years from the date of such documents as may be specified with respect to any class in any such Schedule, be from time to time destroyed in such manner as may be agreed between the Principal Secretary of State, or other Head of Department having the custody thereof, and the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office.

"3. The Rules numbered 1 and 2 in these present Rules shall not, nor shall either of them, extend or be applied to any documents which have been or which shall hereafter be removed to the Public Record Office.

"4. The Rules for the disposal of Valueless Documents, of which Her Majesty has declared Her approbation by Order in Council, dated the 25th day of July 1882, shall (except Rules 5 and 8) extend and be applied to all the documents which have been, or which hereafter shall be, removed to the Public Record Office from the Office of any Department of Government, the Head whereof (being one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State or otherwise) has approved of these present Rules.

G. JESSEL, M.R.

"11th August 1882."

The foregoing Rules were approved by the following Departments:—

The Treasury.
The Admiralty.
The War Office.
The Colonial Office.
The Home Office.
The Board of Trade.
The Office of Works.
The Exchequer and Audit Department.
The Prison Department.
The Convict Prisons Department.
The Paymaster General's Office.
The Patent Office.
The Civil Service Commission.
The National Debt Office.
The Land Commission.

The Office of Examiner of Criminal Law Accounts.
The Royal Mint.
The Treasury Solicitor's Department.
The Public Works Loan Board.
The Stationery Office.
The Education Department, England.
The Public Record Office.
The Wreck Commission.
The Privy Council Office.
The General Post Office.
The Office of Her Majesty's Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues.
The Customs.

Schedules of Valueless Documents in certain Departments of the Government have been prepared in those Departments in accordance with the first two of these Rules, and have been submitted to the Master of the Rolls, by whom they have been referred to the Inspecting Officers named in the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25th July 1882. They have been carefully examined by the Inspecting Officers with the assistance, in each case, of an Officer from the Department in which the Schedule had been prepared.

The two following Schedules have been (after examination) approved by the Master of the Rolls and returned to the respective Departments to be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

(1.) A Schedule of documents existing or accruing in the Office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the War Department.

(2.) A Schedule of documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Commissioners of Your Majesty's Works and Public Buildings.

Schedules of Valueless Documents in other Departments of the Government which have been under examination will be mentioned in subsequent Reports. The mode of proceeding which has been adopted has, in every case, been found satisfactory. There has been complete unanimity between the Inspecting Officers and the Officers deputed from the respective Departments; and there is every reason to believe that the purposes of the Public Record Office Acts will be fully attained, both in the destruction of Documents which are of only temporary value, and in the preservation of those which are of more permanent importance or interest.

VII. FEES: GOVERNMENT AND OTHER BUSINESS, &c.

The amount of Business in the Search Office, and of Fees received, in 1883, is as follows:—

1132 Copies - -	581	4	0
209 Attendances - -	158	8	0
	£739	12	0

Amount of Stamp Duty on Office Copies, paid at the Public Record Office by Applicants in 1883, 17*l.* 4*s.*

The total amount of Fees received, and paid to the account of the Consolidated Fund, from 1840, is 31,979*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*

The number of registered applications for Records in the Search Office by the Public, in 1883, was 43,139, each application being on an average for more than ten documents. This does not include the daily inquiries for information, which are answered and disposed of. 37,759 membranes and leaves were stamped before their production to searchers; a regulation which cannot be dispensed with. These are in addition to 20,491 membranes and leaves already stamped, which were reproduced, making a total of 64,451 membranes and leaves consulted by searchers in 1883.

The amount of work performed specially for Government Departments during 1883 is as follows :—

NUMBER of SEARCHES, INSPECTIONS, ISSUES, and RETURNS of GOVERNMENT PAPERS, for GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS, in 1883.

Departments.	Number of Searches or Applications.	Number of Inspections, Issues, Returns, &c.
Treasury - - - - -	86	1,087
Home Office - - - - -	123	1,158
Foreign Office - - - - -	748	1,986
Colonial Office - - - - -	1,472	2,864
War Office - - - - -	605	6,841
Admiralty (Whitehall) - - - - -	249	3,189
" (Registry) - - - - -	3	3
Lord Chamberlain's Office - - - - -	2	7
Paymaster General's Office - - - - -	1	1
India Office - - - - -	1	1
Patent Office - - - - -	34	34
Chancery Masters - - - - -	27	4
Total - - - - -	3,351	17,175

The preceding table does not, however, give an adequate idea of the business transacted in the Public Record Office for Government Departments, inasmuch as searches for, and references to, the Documents wanted, often occupy many days; and long copies of Documents are frequently made for those Departments.

18,504 Books and Papers have been stamped before transmission to Government Departments. These are not included in the number stamped for searchers above-mentioned.

The examination into the Documents belonging to the late Masters of the Court of Chancery has been continued. As mentioned in the 44th Report, they were removed from Southampton Buildings to seven houses in the Rolls Yard, forming a portion of the Public Record Office, in November and December 1881. 26 applications were made to inspect those Documents in 1883; two deliveries of Papers have been made to claimants, and 2*l.* 0*s.* 6*d.* received for one Office copy. Some Documents are being sorted, indexed, &c.

The assistance afforded by the Record Officers to the Historical Manuscripts Commission has been continued (Fortieth Report, § VI., &c.); some Documents for the Commission have been repaired, copies made, &c.

In the Fortieth Report (§ VI.) it is stated that Returns, for the Houses of Lords and Commons, of the names of Members returned to serve in Parliament were in progress. These have been completed, and the Index is in hand.

VIII. TRANSFERS AND REMOVALS.

Transfers of Documents have been made into this Office during the year 1883 from the Foreign Office, War Office, Admiralty, Admiralty Registry, Royal Courts of Justice, Paymaster-General's Office, and Queen Anne's Bounty Office; amounting to 5,402 volumes, 126 rolls, 1,641 bundles, parcels, portfolios, &c.

IX. ARRANGEMENT, REPAIRS, BINDING, AND SIMILAR OPERATIONS.

The important duties of repairing and arranging the Records have been continued in the usual manner during the year 1883; viz., 1,191 volumes and bundles, and 1,228 membranes, have been arranged; 160 bundles, and 1,323 membranes and leaves, have been flattened; 14,478 membranes and leaves guarded; 845 membranes and 11,040 leaves repaired; 2,890 membranes filed; 12 volumes, 136 membranes, and 7,999 leaves sewed; 7,456 membranes and leaves repaired by the process of sizeing; 15,253 volumes, bundles, membranes, &c., numbered; 18,504 volumes, bundles, and membranes stamped; 14,207 membranes collated; upwards of 2,077 rolls, bundles, &c., tied up; 2,757 rolls, 464 portfolios, bundles, &c., ticketed; 160 bundles dusted; Papers incorporated with series to which they belong; 291 volumes bound, bindings repaired, &c.; slips of Indexes, &c., arranged alphabetically, &c.; lists of documents made, stitched, &c.

APPENDIX I.

TO THE

FORTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

NO. 1.—DUCHY OF LANCASTER RECORDS.—INVENTORY OF THE ACCOUNTS OF THE MINISTERS AND PARTICULAR RECEIVERS. —EDW. 1. TO GEO. 3.

The following Inventory of the Honors, Manors, and other possessions of the Duchy, has been arranged alphabetically, as far as possible, under the Counties of England and Wales in which they are situate.

In certain cases in which the Estates extend into two or more Counties the more prominent has been selected, and cross references have been made to the others.

In order to avoid the enormous labour of transcribing the names of all places contained on the margin (or otherwise appearing conspicuously on each Roll) one Roll of each series has been selected, and the names thereon contained have been set out in full at the heading of the series. This will serve as a guide to the names of the places that occur, more or less frequently, on the Rolls of the Honor or Manor referred to.

As the Accounts, numbered respectively 1, 2, and 3—the possessions of Henry de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, and Thomas Earl of Lancaster—extend into so many Counties, it has been found necessary to place them by themselves at the beginning of the Inventory.

An addition having been made to the Rolls of the Honor of Halton by the gift of Mr. William Beaumont of Orford Hall, Warrington, his collection has been added to that of the Duchy; labels have been attached to those Rolls marked "From Mr. Beaumont's Collection." They are indicated in the Inventory by an asterisk.

It has been thought best to arrange such special series of Accounts as those known as "Warwick and Spencer lands," "South Parts—Hereford Heritage," "South Parts—Ancient Duchy," "South Parts—Chantries, &c.," "North and South Parts—Auditors' Accounts," &c., by themselves at the end of the Inventory, rather than place them in the general series, under their respective Counties.

The Accounts of the lands and possessions of the late Colleges, Chantries, and other Ecclesiastical and Monastic Establishments, have been arranged, as far as possible, under the Counties in which they are situate.

These documents, which contain the annual accounts—of the reeves, bailiffs, farmers, and other ministers of the Crown—of the revenues arising from the Duchy Estates, will be found serviceable in a variety of ways to the historian, topographer, and genealogist. They illustrate the social life of our ancestors, furnish the names of tenants and their holdings, supply many field-names, and give important particulars with regard to land tenure, rents, customs, services, and the value of land, labour, and agricultural produce.

Further information on these subjects may be obtained from the Court Rolls, which have been described in Appendix I., No. 2, to the 43rd Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records.

COUNTY OF LINCOLN.

MANOR OF LONGBENYNGTON.

N.B.—As in many cases the Receivers' Accounts of the manor of Longbenyngton are attached to the Ministers' Accounts of the same manor, the two sets of accounts have been arranged together throughout the series.

In some cases the accounts of the manor of Longbenyngton are rendered on the Rolls of the honor of Bolingbroke.

No. 2.—DURHAM RECORDS: CURSITOR'S RECORDS: INQUISITIONS POST MORTEM, &c.—(continued from the Forty-fourth Report, Appendix No. 2.)

DURHAM, CURSITOR'S RECORDS: INQUISITIONS POST MORTEM, &c.

VOLUME II. of the Cursitor's series of the Durham Records consists of abstracts, or rather transcripts, of Inquisitions post mortem, &c., taken during a period which extends through the Pontificates of the Bishops Louis de Bellomonte (Beaumont), Richard de Bury, Thomas de Hatfield, John de Fordham, Walter Skirlawe, Thomas Longley or Langley, and the first four years of Robert Nevill. Of these transcripts those taken under the last-mentioned Bishop have already been dealt with (see Appendix to the Forty-fourth Report of the Deputy Keeper) in connexion with the original documents of that date. The remaining transcripts in the volume, referring to 1,089 persons, form the subject of this Calendar. In some of the earlier, the names of the heirs are either omitted, or added in a different handwriting. Many of them conclude with the words "rem ut supra," although such remainder had not previously been alluded to. Lastly, the transcripts have not been made in strict chronological order, as on fol. 18 there is, among the inquisitions taken in Bishop Bury's time, one taken during the pontificate of John de Fordham; whilst those dated during the pontificate of Walter Skirlawe are entered before those taken under John de Fordham; and, again, on folio 246d there is a copy of a commission issued with reference to Ralph Gray, which, though dating in the time of Robert Nevill, is transcribed among the inquisitions held in the pontificate of Thomas Longley.

In this volume, from folio 1 to folio 189, the entries are made on paper, and from folio 190 to the end on parchment. The leaves, not the pages, are numbered.

NO. 3. — CALENDAR OF DIPLOMATIC DOCUMENTS; FORMERLY IN THE TREASURY OF THE RECEIPT OF THE EXCHEQUER, CHAPTER HOUSE, WESTMINSTER.

INTRODUCTION.

THIS Calendar of "Diplomatic Documents" has been compiled in order to bring together all treaties, or documents relating to treaties, between England and other countries, preserved among the Records transferred to the Public Record Office from the Chapter House at Westminster. The old list of these documents was altogether unreliable from the want of accuracy and completeness. It would appear that many of the descriptions in that list were taken directly from the endorsements on the covers of the documents or on the deeds themselves, which endorsements are in many cases misleading and incorrect, while in others they are simply fictitious and have no connection with the contents of the document. In making the present Calendar therefore it has been necessary to go through each treaty or document by itself without reference to its description in the former list, and an abstract of the contents has been given on perusal of the original. The present list has also been made complete by including in it some most valuable treaties remaining in other classes of the Chapter House Records,—as, for instance, the treaties concluded in 1527 between Henry VIII. and Francis I., which were omitted from the previous Calendar.

(1.) Great care has been taken to correct mistakes in previous descriptions of the Diplomatic Documents. Not only have those made in the old list been set right, but this Calendar will also be found useful in correcting occasional errors, both in the contents and in the dates of Diplomatic Documents included in the valuable Calendar of State Papers of the reign of Henry VIII. Thus the document dated 27 Oct. 1515 (Box 26, No. 779) is described in the Calendar (Vol. ii. pt. 1, No. 1076 (2)) as the attestation of Bernard Mesa to the oath taken by the Catholic King and Joan Queen of Castile, to observe the treaty with Henry VIII. concluded 19 Oct. 1515; whereas it is the oath taken by Bernard Mesa at Greenwich that the said Sovereigns shall observe that treaty. The error most likely arose from following an incorrect endorsement on the document. Again, in the treaty dated 14 Sept. 1521, the same Calendar says (Vol. iii. pt. 2, No. 1571) that "failing such issue it was agreed . . .," whereas it should be "in case of such issue . . .," as is shown at once by a perusal of the original, and also by the consideration that the extra dower—which was not to be paid in any case—could only be nominally demanded as compensation for the Princess Mary being deprived of succession to the English crown by the birth of a son to Henry VIII. Once more, the obligation dated 3 Oct. 1525 (Box 31, No. 919) is described (Vol. iv. pt. 1, No. 1688) as "an obligation of the city of Toulouse for payment of money due to England by the treaty" of 30 Aug. 1525; whereas it is an obligation for the observance of that treaty by themselves, Francis I., and the Queen Regent of France.

In other cases the description given in the same Calendar is misleading from its brevity. Thus the commission to the French ambassadors, dated 17 June 1528 (Box 33, No. 944), is described (Vol. iv. pt. 2, No. 4365) as a commission to treat with the Emperor; it is really a commission to treat with Margaret of Austria on behalf of the Emperor, and also with Henry VIII., which latter power is not mentioned. The truce was concluded between the three parties 18 June 1528, and confirmed by Francis the 24 June following (see Rymer O. xiv. 258).

(2.) It has also been necessary to revise carefully the dates of those documents printed in Rymer and elsewhere, and as a result some important corrections have had to be made. The deeds in Box 12, Nos. 374, 374*a* should be dated 1409–10, not 1408–9, to which the first is assigned by Rymer, for the grant appealed against was not made till 2 Aug. 1409, as we see from Box 12, No. 375, where the grant is recited. And so No. 375 is not 26 April 1409—which would be some months before the grant was made—but 26 April 1410, as is stated on the deed. See also the enrolment of the grant on the Vascon Roll, 10 Hen. IV., m. 2, No. 75.

Mistakes in dates seem sometimes to have arisen from following an incorrect endorsement, as in Box 25, No. 777, which is calendared (Vol. ii. pt. 1, No. 975) under 1 Oct. 1515, instead of 27 Jan. 1515–16, which a perusal of the deed proves to be its correct date.

(3.) The dates given between square brackets are only conjectural, but a careful comparison has been made with other documents printed in Rymer bearing on the same subject in order to fix them as accurately as possible. For examples see the deeds dated [1417] Oct., [1362] and [1371 Feb.]. Many of the documents have now been thoroughly repaired, and as a result their contents have become more apparent and the dates can be accurately determined; e.g., Box 17, No. 511, which appears in the old list under date 1447, when repaired was clearly seen to be dated 7 Dec. 1407, and to be a counterpart of the deed printed in Rymer O. viii, 507.

(4.) This Calendar has been compiled entirely from Chapter House collections. No documents enrolled on the Charter, French, Almain, or other Rolls have been included, because the present list consists of originals, or loose copies of originals only. Many of the treaties contained in this set will be found enrolled on the above Rolls.

The documents are for the most part in French or Latin, the early ones being in Norman French, but a few are in Dutch, German, Spanish, or English.

(5.) Some of the treaties and deeds here calendared require to be explained by a comparison with and reference to other documents printed by Rymer from various sources. For instance, Box 20, No. 600 (12 Sept. 1490), is a treaty for making war on France at the end of three years from that date, but this was only to be done if the King of France first invaded the territory of either of the contracting Sovereigns, of Philip Duke of Burgundy, or of Anne Duchess of Brittany, as we learn from Rymer O. xii. 379, 401, 404.

(6.) References are given to the following works, in one or more of which the greater part of these Diplomatic Documents are printed:—

If it be found it was so and the land escheated to the French King by the decease of the Countess of Poitiers, he shall give it to the King of England. If it escheated to some one else and were found to have been so given as aforesaid, after the death of the Countess it should become the fee of the King of England, saving the homage of his brothers, if they hold anything there, as long as they live. 3. After the death of the Count of Poitiers the French King shall give the King of England the lands the Count now holds, and other territory, for which the King of England shall do homage, and also for Bordeaux, Bayonne, Gascony, and all the land he holds in fee and demesne, and for the isles if he hold any belonging to the realm of France; and he shall hold as Peer of France and Duke of Aquitaine. Of all the aforesaid the King of England shall cause survey to be taken to find the services due. 4. The French King shall give the King of England the cost, as settled by honest men on either side, of maintaining 500 horsemen for two years, the said sum to be paid at Paris within two years in six payments, the first payment to be next Candlemas. In pledge of this the French King shall give letters patent, &c., and the King of England ought not to spend the sum except in the service of God or the church or for the profit of the realm of England. The King of England shall give acquittances for these payments and for any rights he or his ancestors have or ever had in the Duchy and all the territory of Normandy, in all the territory of Anjou, Touraine, and Maine, in Poitiers or elsewhere in the realm or islands of France, and for all arrears. Also the King of England and his two sons shall give acquittance to all who hold anything from the King of France, his ancestors or brothers by gift, exchange, sale, purchase, lease, or in any similar way in the above territories; saving to the King of England all lands for which he ought to do homage to the French King by this peace, as above appointed, and saving that he can demand his right in Agenois and have it if the Court of the King of France adjudge it, and also in Caorain. 5. The King of England shall give the French King the letters which it is reported he has of King Richard his brother [uncle] in acquittance of all those lands he had by exchange, if he can find them; if not he shall give his own and the letters of the barons, prelates, and chief men who witnessed the acquittance King Richard gave. The King of England also to make oath and letters patent that since this acquittance no right is owed him in any of these matters. The acquittances to the King of France and others aforesaid the English King shall cause to be made by his sister [Eleanor] the Countess of Leicester for herself and her heirs. 6. All past wrongs and damages in war and otherwise to be forgiven on either side. 7. The King of England, his two sons, the Countess of Leicester and her children shall swear to observe this peace; and the King of England shall give security for the nobility and towns of the territories the French King gives him in the form following. The King of France and his two sons shall make the like oath to keep this peace. Paris, "le Mardy apres la quinsene de Penthecost," 1258, 42 Hen. III. [Cf. R. i. 371; O. i. 655; H. i. pt. ii. 38.]

23	681	[1480-1500?]. January 10.	Renaut de Schormorst to the King of England. John de Schornowe his cousin has returned from the Emperor with information how Duke Louis Marquis of Brandenburg can get his own and his brother Duke Otho's rights in Hanault and Holland; they cannot be obtained without the Emperor's consent, by conditions the latter made with the two brothers heretofore. Has not yet spoken to Duke Osbert, travelling is so difficult, from the war raging in Bavaria; but if the Emperor gives the brothers their rights many think that will be enough. If the King agrees to omit Duke Osbert's affairs, it will be necessary to treat with the Emperor about the brothers, who will submit to the Emperor's will entirely. Advises the King to send some one with full power to treat finally with the Emperor. Has spoken to the Bishop of Liege, and will treat with him on his return from the Emperor to the King's profit. The King's nephew, the Duke of Juliers, will do for his right what will content the King. Has informed the bearer of these, Gautier de la Boker, the King's clerk, of all else. "Ays en Alemaigne," 10 January, [Hen. VI.—Hen. VII. ?]

29	861	1521. July 1.	Letters patent of Francis I., King of France, promising to send commissioners to Calais by 25 July if the King of Castile will do the same, to submit their differences to the King of England's arbitration; and agreeing to a truce from July 25 till September 9 for that purpose. Arkillac, 1 July, 13 Hen. VIII. [O. xiii. 748; H. vi. pt. i. 193. S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1382.]
29	869	1521. July 15.	Promise made by the Emperor Charles V. [to Cardinal Wolsey] not to make any treaty with Francis I. or any one else in his name without the express consent of the Pope and Henry VIII. until the stricter alliance with England, for which Wolsey is proceeding to Calais, be concluded, or the congress dissolved. Antwerp, 15 July, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1418.]
29	860A	1521. July 29.	Commission of Henry VIII. to Cardinal Wolsey to settle the differences between Francis I., King of France, and Charles V., King of the Romans and of Spain. London, 29 July, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1443.]
29	868	1521. July 29.	Commission of Henry VIII. to Cardinal Wolsey to treat for a confederation and defensive league with Pope Leo X., the Emperor Charles V., Francis I., King of France, and other Christian Princes and States. London, 29 July, 13 Hen. VIII. [O. xiii. 750; H. vi. pt. i. 197. S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1443 (5).]
29	863	1521. August 16.	Commission of Charles V., Emperor of the Romans and King of Spain, to Margaret of Savoy and John de Bergis, to conclude a treaty with Henry VIII. for a marriage between himself and the Princess Mary, for a closer alliance with Henry VIII., and for engaging in war against Francis I., King of France, for recovery of dominions belonging to either of them. Bruges, 16 August, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1491.]
20	867	1521. [August 25.]	Oath of the Emperor Charles V. to observe the treaty of indemnity and closer alliance concluded by Margaret of Savoy and John de Bergis on his behalf with Cardinal Wolsey, on behalf of Henry VIII., at Calais on August 25, 1521. Calais, 7 October, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1660 (2). Cf. O. xiii. 752; H. vi. pt. i. 198.]
29	871	1521. October 11.	Transumpt on the part of Francis I. of a convention negotiated by Wolsey at Calais between Francis I. and Charles V. 1. Subjects of either Prince to fish without molestation by the other's subjects till the end of January next. 2. No subject of either Prince to pillage in territories under the King of England's jurisdiction, nor to intercept victuals being taken to Calais. 3. No subject of either Prince to attack the shipping of any nation in waters under the jurisdiction of the King of England. 4. The commissioners of either Prince to have free passage to their respective Sovereigns while the congress lasts, for 15 days after its dissolution, or as long as they are with Wolsey. 5. English shipping to be everywhere free from molestation. Calais, 11 October, 13 Hen. VIII. [O. xiii. 752; H. vi. pt. i. 198. S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1660.]
29	866	1521. November 24.	Treaty between the Emperor Charles V. and Hen. VIII. against Francis I., King of France, and the enemies of the Church. Calais, 24 November, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1602.]
29	864	1521. December 6.	Commission of the Emperor Charles V. to Bernard de Mesa, his resident ambassador in England, to continue negotiations there for a treaty of peace with France, as suggested by Cardinal Wolsey, the congress at Calais having ended in failure. Oudenarde, 6 December, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1639.]
29	865	1521. December 6.	Charles V., Emperor of the Romans, &c. to Henry VIII. Reviews the state of affairs between himself, Henry, and Francis I., King of France. Contrary to the treaty of London, dated 3 October 1518, Francis employed Robert de Marchia, Lord of Sedan, to attack Luxembourg, and also invaded Navarre and Castile. Charles informed Henry of this, that he might, in accordance with treaties between them, make war on France; Henry proposed a congress at Calais for settlement of differences instead, but not waiting for this, Francis invaded Italy and Sicily. Thereupon Charles took from his ambassadors to the congress all power of making peace, empowering them instead to treat with England for assistance against France, according to treaty, but by Wolsey's persuasion he restored to them sufficient powers. Wolsey failed to make peace, for Francis, while admitting his previous infractions of the treaty of London, proceeded to invade Hainault and Artois, took Fontarabia and other places in Castile, and would not restore them, so the congress closed, no arrangement having been made as to help to be given Francis by England. Charles desires Henry to require Francis to restore Fontarabia and the other places seized, which if he will not do, prays Henry to join him in declaring war against the French King, as by treaty he is bound to do. Oudenarde, 6 December, 13 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 1635.]
29	870	1521-2. February 23.	Francis I., King of France, to Henry VIII., requiring him, in accordance with the treaty of London, dated 3 October 1518, to declare war against the Emperor Charles V. for aiding the rebels against him to invade Milan and Genoa, for taking Mouson and Tournay, for having besieged Mazieres, and done other things contrary to the said treaty. St. Germain en Laye, 23 February, 13 Hen. VIII. [O. xiii. 764; H. vi. pt. i. 203. S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 2066.]
30	880	1522. June 16.	Ratification by the Emperor Charles V. of the treaty made at Windsor with Henry VIII. against the King of France and for defence of the faith. Windsor Castle, 16 June, 14 Hen. VIII. [S.P., Hen. VIII., Vol. iii. pt. ii., No. 2212.]

No. 4.—MR. SANDERS' ANNUAL REPORT, for 1883, on FAC-SIMILES of ANGLO-SAXON CHARTERS, &c., photozincographed at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton.

Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton,
February 29, 1884.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to submit to you the following report upon the work performed at this office under my superintendence during the past year.

In my last report I stated that Part II. of the series of fac-similes of Anglo-Saxon MSS. was in the press, and I have now to state that it was published in May last.

Part III., the Ashburnham volume, is in favourable progress and only awaits a change from the long continuance of damp, dark weather, during which all photographic work has been unavoidably suspended, to make a rapid advance towards completion. The whole number of charters contained in it have been successfully photographed, and some of them transferred to zinc. The volume was taken away from here to the British Museum, at Lord Ashburnham's request, during the negotiations for its purchase by the Trustees, and remained there for ten weeks. Upon its becoming the property of the nation, the laws of the British Museum rendered it necessary that it should be at once given up, which it was on the 8th of last August after my receiving notice to that effect in the previous month, so that the concluding photographs, including the most difficult of all to get, the dorses, had to be taken at all hazards and under great drawbacks. The compulsory return of the volume before the completion of the fac-similes—a thing that has never happened before with any of the MSS. confided to my care—has been the cause of great inconvenience and trouble to me, and I shall be obliged to make use of Mr. Maunde Thompson's offer of permission to compare, and where necessary amend, the fac-similes by access to the originals in the British Museum; for I have had in a great measure to work in the dark.

I gave a general outline of the contents of this volume in my last report; they range from Wihtried of Kent, A.D. 697, to Harthacnut, A.D. 1040, and in addition are a charter of Henry the First between 1123 and 1126, and one of Henry the Second between 1154 and 1161, both of which are to Christchurch, Canterbury. They form good examples of the retention of the Saxon forms "in re diplomatica" for some time after the Conquest, of the gradual relinquishment of those forms for the Norman, and of the decline of the general knowledge and use of the Anglo-Saxon language in public documents. They are also fine specimens of penmanship and preservation.

Many of the MSS. reproduced in this volume have never been printed, and many find no place in the laborious lists compiled by Wanley of the contents of the great collections, public and private, in England in 1704. Some appear to have at one time belonged to other libraries than Stowe, and with regard to three of them, including the very interesting Testament of the Ealdorman Ælfhelm, there can be no doubt that they once formed part of the collection of the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, where, indeed, two of them appear to be noted by Wanley. An endorsement of a particular date, prefaced by a peculiar mark or emblem, which exists on the dorse of these three MSS., and is identical—date, handwriting, and emblem—with similar endorsements on

MSS. now in the Chapter House of Westminster, and reproduced in Part II. of this series, would seem conclusive evidence of their having formed part of that collection; irrespective of the fact of the two charters being grants to Westminster and almost the first bequest in Ælfhelm's will being one of land to that Abbey.

With regard to seven other MSS. in this volume Nos. XIII., XVI., XXVIII., XXXVIII., XL., XLIV., and XLV., I cannot speak with certainty, but I suspect they belonged originally to the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury. They are all grants to Christchurch—at least six of them are, the seventh being Æthelwyrd's will devising land to that Church in reversion—and they each bear on the dorse a number written in an ancient and unmistakeable character exactly corresponding with similar numbers on the dorse of charters contained in the Canterbury volume. The sequence of these numbers goes to prove that other charters once belonging to that church are still undiscovered.

As in the case of the preceding volumes, it is not within my province to pronounce an opinion as to the absolute genuineness of these charters: I give those already pronounced by the best authorities, and these are in some cases, and some in which a difference seems least to be expected, contradictory. I have reason to doubt whether glaring anachronisms or profound corruptness are proof of forgery in these very curious documents: but both of these defects exist in a remarkable degree in some of those contained in this volume. One marked contrast about them to those in either of the preceding volumes, especially the last, is to be found in the much milder language in which they are couched. The magniloquent proem and the minatory sanction are no longer all marvels of sententiousness and malignant vituperation. Even S. Dunstan, whose denunciations have hitherto been of the fiercest, is comparatively temperate.

Their description and what I have been able to find out about their history are as follows:—

No. I. A grant of Wihtred, King of Kent, to the church of S. Mary, Liminge, of land in Wieghelmestune. There is no date to this charter, and from an indorsement of the 17th century it is evident that at that time the date was not known, but it is printed in the Codex from a facsimile in the Antiquarian Repository and a Lambeth MS. under the year 697 which tallies with the 10th indiction given here. A charter of Wihtred, conveying the same property to the same grantee, is quoted by Wanley among the Cottonian MSS. with no dominical year; but in the 13th indiction, and appears in the Codex under 700–715. Wanley questions its genuineness. In the Codex it is printed as genuine. The charter presented here contains the clause that in consequence of the King's inability to write his name he makes the sign of the cross. It is witnessed first by Berichtwald, Archbishop of Canterbury, King Wihtred, and his second queen Æthilburh, and 11 other witnesses with no designation. Latin. Cod. Dip. XLIII.

No. II. A confirmation in 716, by the Synod of Clovesho, of privileges granted by Wihtred, King of Kent, in a previous Synod at Bapchild to the church, of freedom from secular interference and control. A version of this Bapchild Synodal decree is printed in the Codex, DCCCCXCVI., and in the Diplomatarium, page 9, under the year 694, from Reg. C. C. Cantuar. a Lambeth MS. and Twysden's Hist. Angl., in both works with an asterisk. Wanley makes no mention of it. The present MS. is undated as far as the Bapchild record goes. It has a much longer list of witnesses, including such important personages as Æthelberht and his brother Eadberht, Wihtred's sons and successors; Tobias, Bishop of

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

Rochester, celebrated by Bede for his varied learning and scholarship; Mildred, the daughter of Eormanburh of Kent, first Abbess of Minster, and her successor in that abbey; and four other abbesses, one of whom bears the name of a very famous Saxon abbess, Ætheldryth of Ely, the daughter of Anna, King of East Anglia, and wife successively of Tunberht Ealdorman of the South Gyrwas and Ecgrith, King of Northumberland; whose death is said to have taken place some 14 years before the date of this instrument.

The witnesses to the Confirmation at Cloverho include the Archbishop of Canterbury, Berhtwald, and the bishops of Lichfield, Leicester, Worcester, Sherborne, Winchester, Selsey, Hexham, London, Dunwich, Elmham, Hereford, Rochester, and Lindsey. I am, however, uncertain as to Haerdred of Dunwich, the record of that see being very imperfect. As to the second bishop in the list, Wor, I am also at fault. The name, a singular one, only occurs once in Hardy's Fasti and Stubbs' Episcopal Succession and then as successor to Headdi in 721; yet here we have Headdi himself heading the list. They both held the see of Leicester as well as Lichfield, and some confusion seems to exist with regard to these prelates and their double diocese. After the bishops come seven priests, three reeves, one abbot, one earl, and 21 names without any designation, one of which, Galba, is noticeable as a very rare instance of the occurrence of a Roman name among the Anglo-Saxon population.

The apparent mention of a third queen of Wihtred, in addition to the two others previously known, Cynegyth and Æthelburh, has given rise to some conjecture. I think, however, that Werburh is no other than a second appellation of Æthelburh, who is known to have been the mother of Alric, here called Werburh's son.

In the sanction clause of this synodal decree, the members invoke the usual curse, not only upon the head of the offender himself but also upon the head of any one who is in any way connected with him, living and dead, and indeed become quite indistinct and unintelligible in the fervour of their religious zeal. Latin.

No. III. A grant by Eardulf, King of Kent, to Heabercht, abbot, and the monastery of Reculver, of land in Perhampstede. This charter is undated, but a modern endorsement assigns the year 770, apparently on the authority of Battely. King Eardulf, the grantor, was the son of Eadberht, King of Kent, and seems to have reigned conjointly with his uncle Alric, the last of the race of the Æscings, whom he predeceased. Alric reigned 34 years, from 760 to 794. The estate granted is stated to have been "in regione Cæstruuara." In the Codex, XCVI., is printed a grant by Eardulf, in which mention is made of a wood for pasturing swine, called "Cæstruuarounalþ," perhaps meaning "The Townsman's Wood"—in Textus Roffensis, "cestersettawalda." One of the witnesses is Eardwulf, Bishop of Rochester, and if 770 be the correct date, this charter furnishes a later signature of that prelate than has been yet given. The charter has not been printed either in the Codex or Diplomatarium or mentioned by Wanley. Latin.

No. IV. A grant by Offa, King of all the country of the Angles in 784, to Archbishop Iamberht and Christchurch of land at Hlidum in the region which is called Merscuuare, i.e., of the Marsh Folk, Lydd in Romney Marsh.

The witnesses are the King and Queen Cynethrith, the Archbishop, the bishops of Leicester, Lichfield, and Lindsey, five abbots, two princes, one duke, one reeve, and eight others without designation. Printed in the Codex, CXXII., minus the boundaries. Latin.

No. V. A grant by Offa, King of the Mercians, at the Synodal meeting at Celchyth in 785, to his thane Ealdbeorht, of land at Ioccham and Perhamstede in Kent, and in the wood called Andred, for the pasturing of swine, and other woods and places in the same county with privilege of salt boiling, fishing, and cutting timber for building. Witnessed by Offa and Cynethryth, Archbishop Iamberht, the bishops of Lichfield, Lindsey, Dunwich, Sherborn, Winchester, Worcester, Leicester, Elmham, and Rochester, Ecgrith, and four dukes.

At this same Synod, Offa's and Cynethryth's only son Ecgrith was hallowed King of Mercia in association with his father, whom he outlived only a few months; and at this Synod also the see of Lichfield was raised to an archiepiscopate for the kingdom of Mercia, and Higeberht, the first attesting bishop of this charter, was made first archbishop. It is said that he refused to assume such authority and was content to remain bishop; but his name appears as archbishop among the witnesses of a charter of King Coenwulf, No. VII. of this volume, in 798, as well as in others.

This charter is not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium, or mentioned by Wanley, but there is a charter of Offa's in 791 granting this same property to Christchurch printed in the Codex, MXIV. Latin.

No. VI. A grant by Offa, King of the Mercians in 786, to his thane Ealdberht and his sister the Abbess Seledhryth of lands in Iocham, Perhamstede, and Hroching in Kent. This charter is also dated from the Synod at Celchyth, and the property seems the same as that recorded in the preceding charter, but the whole document is so exceedingly corrupt and obscure that I cannot quite make out all the particulars. It is attested by the King, who says that he has affixed the sign of the cross with his very own hand, the Queen Ecgrith, Archbishop Iamberht, the bishops of Lichfield, Lindsey, Sherborn, Winchester, Worcester, Leicester, Elmham, and Rochester, and four princes. The third attesting bishop, Eadred, I cannot identify, though I conclude he is Heardred of Dunwich.

Not in the Codex, or Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin.

No. VII. A grant by Coenwulf, King of the Mercians, at the request of Archbishop Æthilheard, in 799, to the Metropolitan Church of the Saviour of lands in Ciorring and Seleberhtes Cert, which had been formerly given to the same church in recompence of a large sum of money by King Ecgbert, and Humblingland. This last estate had been given by Ecgbert to his thane Aldhun, who going beyond the seas made it over to the brotherhood at S. Saviour's; but Offa the "Decus Britanniæ" afterwards seized it and divided it among his thanes on the plea that it had been unlawfully so disposed of by Aldhun. The price of its restoration by Coenwulf was 100 gold mancuses. This charter is dated from the royal town of Tamworth and witnessed by Coenwulf, the Archbishops of Lichfield and Canterbury, Hygeberht signing first, the bishops of Leicester, Winchester, Worcester, Hereford, Dunwich, Lindsey, Selsey, and London, four abbots, two princes, and ten dukes. Cod. Dip. MXX. from Reg. C. C. Cantuar., and a Cott. MS. Not in Diplomatarium or Wanley's lists. Latin.

No. VIII. A grant by Cuthred, King of the Kentish people, with the consent of King Coenwulf of Mercia, to his reeve Æthelnoth, of land at Heagythethorne in Kent for 3,000 pence. Witnessed by both kings, Archbishop Wulfred, the bishops of Lichfield, Leicester, Worcester,

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

Dunwich, Elmham, Lindsey, Hereford, Rochester, Sherborn, Winchester, Selsey, seven witnesses without titles but evidently of high rank from their taking precedence of the bishops, and two priest-abbots.

This charter is supplemented by a declaration of their disposition of this estate by Æthelnoth and Gœnburh, first to the survivor of the two and then to their children and, failing issue, remainder to the Archbishop for their soul-shot. Witnessed by Æthelnoth and Gœnburh, Wulfred, one priest-abbot, two priests, and a name undesignated.

Both of these are undated. A modern endorsement says 804, but Archbishop Wulfred did not succeed to Canterbury till 805. Printed in the Codex CXCI. from a Cott. MS., and O'Connor's copy of this, with two corrections in a note, both of which are wrong. Quoted by Wanley among the Cott. MSS. Not in the Diplomatarium. The grant is also printed in Madox's Formulare Anglicanum, page 174. Latin and Saxon.

No. IX. A joint grant by Kings Coenwulf and Cuthred in 805 to Wulfheard the priest, a devoted servant of the late Archbishop Æthelheard, for his services to both monarchs in both lives, and also, what was of a great importance in those days as in the present "pro ejus placabili pretio" of 100 "sicli," of land at Sueord Hlincas and Ecgheanng land and 80 cart loads of wood from the Royal Forest in Kent.

The construction of this charter is peculiar. Immediately after the usual exemption from all public services, in this case with no express mention of the "trinoda necessitas," is the attestation of King Coenwulf coupled with the date. Then comes a paragraph notifying that it was granted in the very famous place called Acleah in the year stated "in which year the Most Blessed Archbishop Æthilheard migrated to the Heavenly Kingdom," and after this the list of witnesses, comprising King Cuthred, Wulfred Elect of Canterbury, the bishops of Leicester, Winchester, Dunwich, London, Worcester, Rochester, Lichfield, Sherborn, Elmham, Lindsey, Selsey, and Hereford, nine dukes, three abbots, one priest, one reeve, and four earls. The whole winding up with the sanction clause.

Sueord Hlincas, Swerdling, or more commonly Swarling, seems to have been an estate of considerable importance from the way in which the history of its descent down to the present time from that of this grant of Coenwulf and Cuthred has been preserved.

The "siclus" or Anglo-Saxon shekel seems to have been of uncertain value, and Hickes in his preface refers the question to Archdeacon Otteley as being beyond him and presenting a "knot" which he himself has neither the knowledge to untie or the will to cut.

This charter is not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium or mentioned by Wanley. Latin.

No. X. A record of proceedings in the great Synod held in London on the 1st of August 811, at which King Coenwulf, out of love and affection for Archbishop Wulfred, and for the sum of 126 mancuses, grants to him lands in Roegingaham, Appingland, Faversham, Suithunningland, Gravena, Romney Marsh, and Canterbury. Witnessed by Coenwulf and his queen Ælfthryth, Sigred Rex—as to whom I have no information, but who may possibly be a hitherto unnoticed son of Coenwulf, as he signs immediately after the Queen—Archbishop Wulfred, the bishops of Worcester, Rochester, and Selsey, three princes, three dukes, two abbesses, a priest, and two others.

Printed in the Codex and Diplomatarium from a Cott. MS. Diplomatarium also says from a Stowe MS., but both omit a considerable portion which appears in this MS. and consists principally of boundaries set out in Anglo-Saxon and comprising local names and expressions of interest. It is also quoted by Wanley, with the same omission, among the Cottonian MSS.

Cod. Dip. CXCVI. Dip. Angl., p. 57. Latin and Saxon.

No. XI. A grant by Coenwulf, King of the Mercians, in 814, to Archbishop Wulfred of land in Byxlea. Witnessed by the King, Queen Ælfthryth, Archbishop Wulfred, the bishops of Worcester and Hereford, and four dukes.

The proem to this charter furnishes a rather more than usually remarkable example of Latinity; the writing is coarse and the indiction, the 6th, does not agree with the dominical year. The Queen's name comes after the bishops' names.

Printed in the Codex, CCIV., from a Cottonian MS. and quoted as one by Wanley. Not in the Diplomatarium. In the printed copy, the Queen's name and that of duke Heardberht do not appear. Latin and Saxon.

No. XII. A grant by Coenwulf, King of the Mercians, to Archbishop Wulfred, in 815, of land called Seleberhting land at Faversham. Witnessed by the King, the Archbishop, the Bishop of Worcester, and three dukes, the first of whom, Ceolwulf, who also appears in the preceding charter, being not improbably Coenwulf's brother and successor on the Mercian throne. Dated at Wichbold in Worcestershire; the price paid by Wulfred being 23 mancuses in a ring.

Not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium or mentioned by Wanley, but Nos. CCL and MXXVII. in the Codex both relate to the same grant. See also No. VI. in the Canterbury volume. Latin.

No. XIII. A deed executed at Canterbury on the 23rd of July 824, between Archbishop Wulfred and his Brotherhood of Christchurch, whereby the former makes over lands in Ægythethorn and Longdune in exchange for others in Beorham and Suithberhtingland. Witnessed by the Archbishop, ten priests, and four deacons.

In this document most of the rules of grammar and composition are violated. It is printed in the Codex from a Lambeth MS. and Reg. C. C. Cantuar. minus the boundaries and the witnesses' names. Not in the Diplomatarium or Wanley's list. Cod. Dipl. MXXXII. Latin.

No. XIV. A record of proceedings at the Synod of Clovesho in 824, under the presidency of Beornwulf King of the Mercians, whereat it was resolved that a certain estate at Oeswal, which Earl Aldberht and his sister, Abbess Seledhryth, had bequeathed to Archbishop Wulfred, but which had been seized upon after their death by Earl Oswulf and fraudulently bestowed upon Abbess Quenthryth and the Convent of Southminster, should be restored to him. Witnessed by the Archbishop, first, the King, the bishops of Lichfield, Leicester, Worcester, Winchester, Lindsey, Dunwich, London, Selsey, and Beonna Elect of Hereford; two abbots, two priest abbots, 13 dukes, among them Ludeca, Beornwulf's successor, and one footman. The estate mentioned here seems to be the same as was granted by King Offa 39 years before the date of this instrument to Aldberht and his sister, by the charters represented in Nos. V. and VI. of this volume. What the modern name of it may be I do not know. In the Codex, CCXXX., where it occurs in Werhard's disposition of his property in 832, the name in the index is rendered Kent. I think this can hardly be the case, and suggest that it may be Eastwell in the hundred of Wye. On the dorse are set out the boundaries of two estates, one at Godmersham the other at Cealfalocum, probably the present Challock, granted by

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1888—continued.

Beorhtwulf, King of the Mercians, to Archbishop Wulfred, This endorsement is in a different hand from that of the deed itself, and the property set out in it is not that of which the deed treats, and there are two other endorsements, one relating to Beornwulf's deed, the other to Beorhtwulf's. Beornwulf was killed in battle in 825, Ludeca succeeded him—Wiglaf Ludeca—and Beorhtwulf, Wiglaf's successor, came to the throne in 838, six years after Wulfred's death and 14 after the date of this instrument. And if it be suggested that Beorhtwulf might be a mistake for Beornwulf, a spirit of prophecy would be imported into the question more damaging than a mistake in dates. One of the principal parties to the dispute argued before the Synod, the Abbess Coenthryth, was a person very infamous in the traditions of those times. She was Coenwulf's eldest daughter, and to her care was entrusted his only son, her brother Coenhelm, whom she caused to be murdered in a wood by his tutor Æsceberht, in the hope of herself succeeding to the throne. This instrument supplies the name of the convent which had the privilege of possessing her for abbess, which does not appear to have been known. The boundaries of Godmersham and Challock are very interesting and can to a great extent be identified by reference to the Ordnance Survey of Kent. Latin and Saxon.

Not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium or quoted by Wanley.

No. XV. A record of proceedings at the Synod of Clovesho in 825 under the presidency of Archbishop Wulfred and Beornwulf, King of the Mercians, reciting the disputes between King Coenwulf and Wulfred, the spoliations perpetrated through the enmity, violence, and avarice of the King upon the Archbishop with regard to the monasteries of Reculver and South Minster, the general deprivation of the whole race of the Angles of the benefits of episcopal supervision by the same monarch, and his deceitful and treacherous conduct towards the Archbishop; and the unanimous decision of the whole Synod in favour of the latter. Also reciting how Beornwulf had professed to make amends for all these wrongs and how his professions had been immediately broken; how the Abbess Coenthryth, whom Wulfred had cited to appear at Clovesho, and with whom, not of his own will but for the love of God and out of friendship for the King, he had entered into an arrangement for the restoration of his lands, had also immediately broken her engagement; how she had afterwards sought him out in the province of the Huiccii at Oslafeslau, confessed her transgressions, and with all humility promised diligent amends; and how the Archbishop had consented to take the lands which she offered to him, and the whole matter had been sanctioned and subscribed by the assembled Synod.

The witnesses to this record, which is written throughout in terms of insolence and hostility and contempt for both Coenwulf and Beornwulf, and which is quite a remarkable expression of sacerdotal aggressiveness and presumption, are first the Abbess Coenthryth, who states expressly that she has made the sign of the Cross with her very own hands, then the King, the Archbishop, the bishops of Lichfield, Leicester, Lindsey, Worcester, Rochester, Hereford, Winchester, Sherborne, Elmham, Dunwich elect, London, and Selsey, four priest-abbots, two abbots, one prior, 11 dukes, the King's brother Bynna, 10 priests, three deacons, one foot-man, and 17 without any designation, 65 in all. I am curious to know the exact signification of the designation "pediseucus" which not unfrequently occurs among the names of witnesses to Saxon charters. Both in classical and low Latin it is applied to a personal attendant or servant—in the latter of priests in particular—and yet its position among the signatures of these charters would seem to infer that the persons who figure there under this denomination must have been of a much higher rank and position. In this instrument, for instance, Bola pedisecus signs fourth after the dukes and the King's brother, and before the priests, deacons, and untitled witnesses.

This document, 26 inches in length, is in parts very corrupt and obscure but fairly written. It is printed in the Codex and Diplomatarium from Lambeth and Cott. MSS., and is quoted by Wanley among the latter. Hickes in his Dissertatio Epistolaris prints an Anglo-Saxon charter of Beornwulf, which gives the date of this Synod also in 825, but with a wrong indiction. In the present instrument the indiction, 3rd, is correct. Cod. Dipl. CCXX., Dip. Angl., p. 73. Latin.

No. XVI. A grant by Archbishop Ceolnoth to his monastery in Canterbury of land at Langdon in Kent. This charter is undated, but bears on the dorse, in a thirteenth century hand, the date 831, under which a version of it is printed in the Codex from Reg. C. C. Cantuar. Its witnesses are the Archbishop, seven priests, four archdeacons, three deacons, and 13 without designation. The priests sign before the archdeacons and deacons. This instrument is an amusing example of archiepiscopal sententiousness and clerical errors. Cod. Dipl. MXL. Not in Diplomatarium or Wanley's list. Latin.

No. XVII. A grant by Æthelwulf, King of the West Saxons and the Kentish people, in 843, to his thane Æthelmode, of land at Chart in Kent. Witnessed by the King, his eldest son Æthelstan, King of Surrey and the South Saxons, the ealdormen Æthelwulf and Alahere, victors over the Danes in the sea fight off Sandwich, one abbot, seven without designation, the Archbishop, six priests, two deacons, and a subdeacon. This charter is headed by a chrismon of peculiar form, and the disposition of the attesting names is unusual, the laity and ecclesiastics signing apart in parallel columns; except the abbot, who signs immediately after Duke Alahere. A portion of the boundaries has been carefully obliterated, and the charter has a second list of the witnesses sewn on to it, in which the two first of those without designation are styled "cellarers" and the other five "thanes." It is very fully dated, from Mereworth, a place of considerable importance in the history of Kent, on Monday, May 28, 843, the 6th indiction. It is not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium and does not appear in Wanley's list. Latin.

No. XVIII. A deed of exchange between Werheard and Werenberht, the King's thane and reeve, of lands at Hroces seath, which formerly belonged to the famous town of Greenford. Dated at the City of London, on Sunday the 8th of November 845, and witnessed by Archbishop Ceolnoth, the bishops of Lichfield, Leicester, Lindsey, Worcester, Elmham, Dunwich, London, Selsey, and Rochester, and the two contracting parties, who attest last.

Although there is no mention of the county in this deed, it appears to me that the property "Hroces seath," the "Rook's Wall or Conduit," must be the present Roxeth near Harrow-on-the-Hill and about two miles from Greenford; and, if so, it affords another example, out of very many, of the value of these charters in helping to trace the etymology of modern names of places that appear upon our survey maps.

On the dorse is written in an ancient hand "Latine sed inutile," meaning, perhaps, for some purpose connected with the disposal of the property, for which it had been consulted.

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

Not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium, or mentioned by Wanley. Latin.

No. XIX. This purports to be a joint grant by King Ælfred and Archbishop Æthered in 873 to Liaban, Birgwine's son, of land at Gilding for the sum of 25 golden mancuses. It is a very remarkable document; utterly corrupt and badly written. Although it professes to be by Ælfred and Æthered, it is attested by witnesses the chief among whom were all dead at the time of its stated execution—King Æthelwulf, his sons Æthelstan and Æthelbald, and Archbishop Ceolnoth. And it is endorsed in a very ancient hand as a grant by another son of Æthelwulf, Æthelred, who was also dead, so that one way and another as grantor, witnesses, and endorsee, Æthelwulf and all his sons but one, appear in it. Some of the witnesses' names appear twice; those of the two grantors not at all. The dominical year and indiction do not coincide. There is a kind of postscript written in Anglo-Saxon to the effect that Leafa bought this land from Archbishop Æthered and his convent at Christchurch, together with this charter. It does not appear in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XX. The testament of the Ealdorman Ælfred, devising large estates at Sanderstead, Selsdon, Westerham, Clapham, Lingfield, Horsley, and Nettlehamstead, in Surrey, to his wife Werburh and their common child, Alhdryth, with the live stock, standing crops, and all things thereto pertaining, with a herd of 2,000 swine; and containing bequests of land, money, swine, and corn, to his son—apparently natural son—Æthelwald, and others. This will is undated, and very little seems to be known about the testator. It is witnessed by Æthered, Archbishop, dukes Ælfred and Beorhtwulf, Ælfred's wife Werburh, two abbots, six priests, two deacons, a sub-deacon, and five thanes. The date of Æthered's archiepiscopacy, 870–889, supplies that under which it has been printed in the Codex and Diplomatarium, and by Lye, who prints it in the appendix to the second volume of his Saxon Dictionary. Wanley makes no mention of it, but he quotes a charter of apparently the same Ælfred of Chartham in 871, which appears from the same source, Reg. C. C. Cantuar. in the Codex, CCCI., set out in a jargon in many parts unintelligible. The chrismon + ƿf at the commencement of the will affords an example of the interchangeableness of the Saxon letters F and P, and in the body of the will there occurs a contraction for "ga" something in the form of the Greek gamma Γ which I have not met with before in the Anglo-Saxon charters. The last three words of the will "In eona eonum," are omitted by Lye, and consequently in the Codex and Diplomatarium, who copy from him also. They puzzled myself at first. Could the testator be that Ælfred of unknown history but supposed to have belonged to the Royal family of England, who conspired against Æthelstan, and, swearing to his innocence before Pope John X., followed the fate of Ananias in the School of the Saxons in Rome about the year 924? Up to about this date an Ælfred Dux figures as a witness to Royal Charters and then disappears. Eadward the Elder appears to have had a son Ælfred by his first wife Ecgwin, who, though not generally noticed, is mentioned in the Liber de Hyda, and who predeceased his father. Could he have been the testator? The date of the will would render either possible.

One of the greatest treasures in the Royal Library at Stockholm is a copy of the Gospels called the "Codex Aureus," which has two Anglo-Saxon inscriptions, the first being the customary prayer for the scribes and adorners, “+ Orate pro ceolheard presbyter 7 ealher 7 ealhun 7 pulfhelm aurifex ;” the second, of which I append a translation, is as follows :—

Ælfréd, Werburg, Alhðryð eorung.

In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. I Ælfréd, alderman, and Werburh my help-meet got this book from the heathen host with our clean monecy, which then was with clean gold, and this we two did for God's love and our soul's profit, and because we would not that this holy book should longer abide in heathenism. And now we wish to give it to Christchurch, for the love of God and to His glory and worship and in thankfulness for His Passion, and for the use of the holy fellowship that in Christ's church daily advances God's praise, on the condition that it be read each month for Ælfréd and for Werburh and for Alhthryth, for their souls' leechdom, the while that God has said that baptism may be in this place. So also I Ælfréd duke and Werburh bid and beseech in the name of God Almighty and all His Saints that no man be so daring as to give away or remove this holy book from Christchurch while Baptism may stand.

Ælfréd, Werburg, Alhthryth their child.

The history of this splendid specimen of mediæval work is remarkable. Belsheim, a Norwegian clergyman, in his edition published at Christiania in 1878, attributes it to either English or Irish artists, although there are evidences of Italian origin, and he says that it might have been written in the monastery at Bobbio in about 610; there appear to be annotations dated Milan in 840, mentioning it then as a very ancient book. Shortly after this date, it seems to have fallen into the hands of some vikings, from whom, as we learn from the above inscription, it was either taken or purchased by Earl Ælfréd. The next notice of it relates its purchase by Sparwenfeldt in 1690 from the library of the Marquis de Liche at Madrid, and its presentation by him to the Royal Library at Stockholm. Some think that it is the MS. mentioned by Erasmus as forming part of the library of Margaret of Austria in 1540 at Mechlin. It is written on parchment, mostly in golden characters, on alternate purple and white pages. The prayer given above seems to furnish strong evidence that it was the work of Saxon hands. The meaning I have attached to the strange word “eorung” is hardly more than conjectural from “heora” and “ing”; Belsheim prints it “eorum.” From a tracing kindly furnished me by Mr. Klemming, Chief Librarian of the Royal Library at Stockholm, I can make it neither the one or the other. The termination of the word seems to have been cut off.

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

The "Codex Aureus" is not apparently included by Hickes in his enumeration of MSS. acquired by Sparwenfeldt, "in illustri sua perigrinatione per omnem fere Europam et partem Africæ," nor does it appear among the Codices Scandici MSS. in the library at Stockholm furnished him through the English Envoy "illustris reverendissimusque vir Robinsonius," by Peringskiöld in 1701. A beautiful facsimile of two pages of the "Codex Aureus" appear in Westwood's Miniatures, &c.

The will is neatly written on a piece of parchment 11 inches by 6½. The witnesses' names are on the dorse, and seem to me to be an interpolation. Cod. Dipl. CCCXVII., Dip. Ang., p. 480. Lye. Append., Vol. II. Saxon.

No. XXI. A grant by Æthelulf, King of the West Saxons, to Edred, in 874, of lands at Hortune with permission to Edred to devise a portion thereof to Lulla and Sigethryth and again to Lulla and Sigethryth in like manner in favour of Eaulf and Herewine, Eaulf giving a moiety to Biarnulve and retaining a moiety for himself. Witnessed by the King, Archbishop Ceolnoth, the King's son King Æthelstan, bishop Biarnmod, the King's son Æthelbald, five dukes, eight priests, one monk, seventeen thanes, Archbishop Æthered, and one abbot. The document finishes with a note—in the same hand, and ostensibly a portion of the regular grant—in Anglo-Saxon: "and I Liofric bought the land at Horatune with four and twenty mancuses in perpetual inheritance."

Besides the general unintelligibility of this charter, the strange jumbling up of the signatures, and the circumstance of two successive archbishops of Canterbury signing together, its dates are quite irreconcilable. King Ethelwulf died in 857, Archbishop Ceolnoth in 870, Æthelstan, King of Kent, died before his father, and King Æthelbald in 860. There was no bishop Biarnmod since him of Rochester, who died before 844. Dr. O'Connor considered it a forgery of not later than the twelfth century. I think it earlier, and can hardly reconcile the term forgery being applicable to such a tissue of palpable impossibilities. Not in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXII. The testament of King Ælfred is too well known to need comment here. The MS. represented in this volume is taken from the "Register of Hyde Abbey, Winchester," the greatest part of which is supposed to have been written in the time of Cnut, the will itself being ascribed to 1031. It was first printed by Manning at Oxford in 1788, and has been copied from him in the Codex, CCCXIV., and Diplomatarium, p. 484. Manning's copy is very accurate, the only variations from the MS. being the occasional transposition of the letters "d" and "p." The will is also printed in Edwards' edition of the "Liber Monasterii de Hyda" in the Earl of Macclesfield's collection at Shirburn Castle. A Latin quasi version of it is given, with an asterisk, in the Codex, MLXVII., from Camden's "Angliæ et Hiberniæ Scriptores." The date ascribed to it is between 880 and 885.

No. XXIII. A curious narrative relating that in the year 908 all the title deeds belonging to the Ealdorman Æthelfrith had been destroyed by fire, in consequence of which he had obtained permission from King Eadward the Elder with the sanction of the King's brother-in-law Æthelred the sub-King and his wife Æthelflæd the Lady of the Mercians, for the preparation of fresh deeds, as far as could be done, from memory, and failing that, that the present instrument should be drawn up and sworn to by him in order to protect him from the contentious disputes of either kinsman or stranger, even to the production of any of the original deeds that might by chance have been preserved from the fire or fraudulently abstracted during its outbreak. A separate copy of this charter seems to have been made for each of Earl Æthelfrith's estates. The present is for eastern Hrisanbyrge, probably Monk's Risborough in Buckinghamshire, extended at 30 hides, which had been granted in perpetuity by King Æthelwulf to his daughter Æthelgyth. The boundaries of this estate mention the Ickenild Street, the Heathen Sepulchre, Weland's Stock, and the Roe Hay, the "Haga Capreolorum" of Doomsday Book. Weland's Stock has probably something to do with the ancient sepulchral monument called "Wayland Smith" in the vale of White Horse not very far distant. The witnesses are King Eadward, Æthelred and Æthelflæd, Archbishop Plegmund, the bishops of Lichfield, Worcester, Hereford, and Rochester. The first bishop mentioned, Wilfrith, I cannot identify within the possible dates of this charter 903 and 912. In the Codex, MLXXXIII., is printed a charter of Æthelred Ealdorman of Mercia in 896, in which Werferth appears as the then bishop and the names are quoted of two of his predecessors, Alhhun and Wilferth.

In the Codex, CCCXXXVIII., and in the Diplomatarium, p. 513, are copies of a similar charter for another estate, Wrington, after a Bodley MS. From a note attached to that in the Diplomatarium, the two seem to have been confounded. This last MS. also figures in Wanley's list of the contents of Lord Weymouth's Codex, p. 283. There is a curious discrepancy between these two charters. In that reproduced in this volume the date of the fire is said to have been 903, the 6th indiction, the other 904, the 5th indiction. Codex printing from the Bodley MS. gives 904, 6th indiction; Diplomatarium from the same MS. 903, 6th indiction; the only one of the dates in which the dominical year and indiction agree. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXIV. A grant by Archbishop Plegmund in 920 to Byrhtæde of land at Wæsing marsh, near the river called Romney water, for 385 pence. Witnesses, Plegmund, an abbot, three priests, two deacons, and four thanes. Not in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's Lists. There is one other charter of Plegmund printed in the Codex, MLXXII., and that is of the year 895, twenty-five years before the date of this, in which the Archbishop grants the same property to Christchurch. Latin.

No. XXV. A grant by Eadmund, King of the Angles and surrounding people, in 943 to his thane Ælfstan of five hides at Grave Magna. Witnessed by the King and Queen Mother Eadgifu, Archbishop Oda, the King's brother Eadred, the Bishops of London, Winchester, Worcester, Hereford, Sherborne, Rochester, Crediton, and Wells, five dukes, and fourteen thanes.

The phraseology of this charter, like many of Eadmund's, is pompous in the extreme. "Ubi turbarum collatione jam dudum nomen illatum hoc adesse prefertur æt Miclangrafe," simply to say such was the name of the estate. "Et promptissimum itiner expeditionis exercitatio," a clear and expeditious expression of army service. "Felicitur inter cœlibes celestium turmarum sine fine in æterna doxa voti campus lætatur," the reward of him who shall increase the Royal bounty.

In this charter the Kentish measure of land, the suling or solin, is identified with the hide. This agrees with the Conqueror's grant to Battle Abbey of the manor of Wi in Kent, "cum omnibus appendiciis suis septem swulungarum id est hidarum." According to Somner the "terra," so many, "aratrarum" is equal to so many solins, quoting from a charter to Christchurch, "terram trium aratrorum quam Cantuarii Anglice dicunt three swolinges." Latin and Saxon.

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

No. XXVI. A grant by King Eadmund to his thane Ælfstan in 944 of twelve hides at Ealdingtun. Witnessed by the King, his brother Eadred, the Queen Mother Eadgifu, Archbishops Oda and Wulfstan, the bishops of London, Winchester, Worcester, Hereford, Selsey, Crediton, Rochester, Wells, and Sherborne, seven dukes, and fourteen thanes.

In the boundaries mention is made of "pa ea pantsume," the river Wantsume, the ancient name for that portion of the Stour which separates the Isle of Thanet from the mainland. It is said to have had, as late as the time of Henry VIII., sufficient water to be navigable for ships going from Sandwich to London and so escaping the dangers of the passage round the North Foreland and to have been once four miles across. Beda, however, in his account of the arrival of St. Augustine in England, says: "There is on the eastern shore of Kent a not inconsiderable island, Thanet, of the size that is, according to the computation of the Angles, of six hundred hides which the river Vantsumu"—which is the breadth of about three furlongs and is only passable in "two places—separates from the mainland, each mouth stretching into the sea." The two mouths were, one to the east of Sandwich in Pegwell Bay, the other at Yenlade or Northmouth near Reculver.

The present acreage of the Isle of Thanet is 26179·824 acres, so that if Beda's hidage be approximately correct it would give about 44 acres to the hide, or in exact figures 43a. 2r. 21p. Not in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXVII. A grant by Eadred, King of the Angles and the surrounding people, in 948, to a devout woman, Ælfwynne by name, of six hides at Wickham. Witnessed by the King, Eadgifu the Queen Mother, the Archbishops Odo and Wulfstan, the bishops of London, Winchester, Worcester, Hereford, Crediton, Selsey, and Sherborne, six dukes, and nine thanes.

This Wickham, now Wickham Breaus, from its descent by marriage with a Clifford to John de Braiosa, is in Domesday Book rated among the lands of Odo, Bishop of Bayeux. The boundaries quoted in the charter are mostly to be traced on the Survey maps. St. Mildred's Abbey was founded by Eormenburh or Domneva, daughter of Eormenred, son of Eadbald of Kent by the Frankish Princess Emma, supposed to have been a daughter of the Austrasian King Thundebert the Second, and wife of Merewald or Herewald, son of Penda of Mercia and his wife Cyneswyth, in expiation by Ecgbert of Kent of the murder of his cousins, her two brothers Æthelred and Æthelbert, about the year 670. The monk Goscelin in his history of St. Mildred makes a mistake of two or three generations in her pedigree. The price paid by Ælfwynne for the Wickham estates is stated, in a small paragraph written by itself in capital letters and preceded by the figure of the cross, to have been two pounds of the purest gold. This charter does not appear in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXVIII. The testament of Æthelwyrd whereby he devises the land at Ickham, which he is to hold for his own life by God's leave and Archbishop Oda's, and the convent at Christchurch to Eadric; for a yearly rent of five pounds and one day's provision for the convent, being 40 sesters of ale, 60 loaves of bread, a wether sheep, an ox liver, a fitch of bacon, two cheeses, four hen fowls, and five pence to boot. If Eadric predecease him, then to Æthelgyfu with reversion to the church if he "have to abide the affliction" of surviving both. Witnessed by the Archbishop, one abbot, six mass-priests, five deacons, two priests, one King's thane, thirty one without designation, the three fellowships of inner and outer towns folk, and many of the commonalty. On the dorse of the will is a recital of the covenant that Eadric has with the convent; according to the terms of which he is to retain unopposed possession of the land by the payment to the brotherhood of five pounds "to gerisenum," a phrase as to the meaning of which doubt seems to exist, but which may be the Saxon equivalent of the "pro placabili or" "amabili pretio" of the Latin grants.

This will is undated, but on the dorse, in a thirteenth century hand, is written the year 958. It is printed by Lye in the appendix to his Saxon dictionary from this MS. and from him in the Codex and Diplomatarium, both of which print also a later copy from the Reg. C. C. Cantuar. This later copy is quoted by Wanley, who, however, makes no mention of the original. The testator is by him called Sub-Regulus. Cod. Dipl. CCCCLXXVII. Dip. Angl., p. 509. Saxon.

No. XXIX. A grant by Queen Eadgifu of her land at Cooling to the Convent of Christchurch, which is prefaced by a long account of how the same property had come to her. Her father, Earl Sigelm, had borrowed 30 pounds of Goda on a mortgage of the land, but being summoned to war and unwilling to leave in debt to any one, he paid Goda the 30 pounds and gave the title deeds to Eadgifu. He fell in battle, and Goda repudiated the receipt of the money and by the advice of the witan Eadgifu cleared her father's name of scandal by a second payment before all the people of Aylesford. Still she was for some time kept out of possession, until Goda falling into disgrace with King Eadward, he and all his property were delivered into her hands to do as she liked with. On King Æthelstan's succession Goda obtained restitution by the King's intercession, of all his lands from Eadgifu except those in Osterland and took an oath with eleven others that this should for ever settle the suit. But her sons Æthelstan and Eadred both died, and the property was seized by Goda's two sons Leofstan and Leofric, apparently with the consent of King Eadwig, and Eadgifu was bereft of all. However, when Eadgar came to the throne he and his witan decreed that a wicked robbery had been done and that her property should be restored to her. She then before all the witan took the charters and laid them on the altar of Christchurch, invoking Christ's eternal curse upon him who should avert her gift.

This charter is undated, but a thirteenth century endorsement gives the year 1050.

The grantor of this charter was Eadgifu, the second, or perhaps the third, wife of Eadward the Elder. Besides her two sons, Eadmund and Eadred, she had two daughters, the elder of whom, Eadburh, of whose very early religious proclivities William of Malmesbury gives such an amusing account, became a nun at Winchester, where she died. The younger was named Eadgifu after her mother. She was married to Louis Boson, King of Provence and Arles, otherwise Burgundy Cisjurane, who was crowned Emperor of the West in February 901, and who four years afterwards was taken prisoner in Verona by Bérenger, King of Lombardy, and deprived of sight, from which act of barbarity he acquired the sobriquet of "The Blind." By him she had a son Charles Constantine, who was ousted from his inheritance after his father's death but was reinstated through the help of his cousin King Louis the Fourth of France, whom he received in Vienne in 941. His wife was Teutberge, a lady of unknown lineage, by whom he had two sons, Richard and Hubert and, according to Dunod, a third Patton who succeeded him in his county of Vienne. The date of his death is uncertain, but

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

Du Bouchet places it at least as late as 963, and there is no record of that of the Countess Eadgifu.

The Countess Eadgifu had a half sister, also named Eadgifu, the daughter of King Eadward, by his first or second wife Ælfæd, daughter of the ealdorman Æthelm, and between the fortunes of the two sisters and namesakes and their sons, there runs a curious interlacing of romantic incident. This other Eadgifu was married to Charles the Simple, King of France, about the year 915, or according to the "Monumenta Historica," 919. In 923, Charles was defeated by Hugh, son of his rival Robert, Duke of France, near Soissons, and flying across the river Meuse was captured under conditions of extraordinary perfidy by Herbert, Count of Vermandois, by whom he was first imprisoned at Château Thierry and afterwards at Péronne, where he died a captive in October, 829. Eadgifu his widow, upon his capture had fled for refuge with her son Louis, then only two years old, to the court of her brother Æthelstan, where they remained for 13 years; when Louis was recalled to France upon the death of King Raoul in 936, and made King with the surname "D'Outremer" from his long sojourn in England. We have seen the services which he rendered to his cousin Charles Constantine shortly after his accession to the French throne. In the year 938 his mother, Queen Eadgifu, was sent for by him to Leon, where she was detained to aid him with her advice till 951, when she left Leon, being then more than 45 years old, and not long afterwards she married Herbert, Count of Troyes; the son of the Count of Vermandois who had kept her husband in barbarous and treacherous captivity till his death. Her marriage with Charles the Simple is the first instance of the marriage of an English King's daughter to a King of France. Queen Eadgifu, the grantor of this charter, died on the 25th of August 963. Lappenberg says that Louis l'Aveugle reigned too early to be regarded as the consort of her daughter Eadgifu, and that the Louis of Aquitaine recorded by the chroniclers as her husband must have been some other prince, of whom our ignorance of Guienne has preserved no mention. But Louis was only 10 years old when he came to the throne of Burgundy in 890, and he appears to have been living in 928.

Over the doorway of the library of Christchurch Priory is an ancient panel picture of Eadgifu with this inscription:—

"Edyve the good Queen and noble mother
To Ethelstane, Edmund and Eldred,
Kinges, of England: every each after other:
To Christ's Church, of Canterbury did give indeed,
Monkden and Thorneden, the Monkes there to feede,
Mephan, Cleeve, Cowlinge, Osterlande,
East Farleigh; and Lenham, as we believe,
The yeare Doffio. MLXI. of Christ's Incarnation."

—perpetuating a singular anachronism of a century and apparently somehow confusing the Eadgifu of the grant with the wife of Eadward the Confessor.

Printed by Lye in his Appendix from this MS. and in the Diplomatarium from Cottonian and Lambeth MSS. In the Codex from Lye. The Diplomatarium also prints a Latin version from the same MSS. as the Saxon. No notice of this very interesting document appears in Wanley's lists of the Lambeth and Cottonian MSS. Lye gives the date 960. The Codex, 960-3. Diplomatarium, 961. At any rate it must have been after Eadgar's accession in 959. Cod. Dipl. CCCXCIX. Dip. Angl., p. 231. Saxon.

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

No. XXX. A grant by Eadgar, King of all Britain in 963, to his thane Ingeram of seven hides at Fengge. The witnesses are the King, the Archbishops Dunstan and Oscytel, the bishops of Ramsbury, Wells, Hereford, Worcester, Winchester, Loudon, and Selsey, one abbot, four dukes, and five thanes. On the dorse is a note certified by the sign of the cross that Ingram had given this deed and the land to Dunstan. It does not appear in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXXI. A covenant whereby Eadwold and Æthelfæd agree to sell to Ælfwold a dæne called Hyringdæne for 450 pence. Dated 968 and witnessed by King Eadgar, Archbishop Dunstan, an abbot, two reeves, a portreeve, seven thanes, nine "rustici"—probably identical with the villeins of Domesday Book, Kenneth translates them soc men—the brethren of Christchurch, S. Augustine, and Appledore, the three guilds of inner and outer towns-folk, and many of the commonalty, Ælfsige the Bower-thane or chamberlain, and five others without designations. On the dorse is a note that Ælfwold has given Eadwold and his son 100 pence over and above the sum mentioned by consent of each.

This property seems to be the present Heronden or Hernden near Eastry in Thanet. Ashbridge and Ashburn both occur among the boundaries, the starting point of which is the "Stone Staple," perhaps the origin of the present Staple and Staple Street.

Not in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXXII. Charter by Eadgar, King of the beloved Isle of Albion, to the monastery in Ely. The King states that he grants this at the repeated instance of Bishop Æthelwold and gives a slight account of the place, the miracles wrought at the tomb of the holy maiden Æthelthryth in her coffin of white marble, and its subsequent decadence. From the bishop he had got the monastic land adjacent to Ely in exchange for the vill of Harting of 60 hides, and he had added thereto the three villas of Melbourn, Erningford, and Northwold, and after the monastery had been planted with monks under the rule of Brihtnoth he gave in addition 10,000 eels every year for their food, and all the jurisdictions over the fenland in two hundreds in aid of their clothing; and in the East Angles at Wicklow; and all the jurisdictions over five hundreds; over all the lands; and all jurisdictions to be henceforth acquired; and the fourth penny on the public penalties in Cambridge. Dated at Wulfamere in the year 970, the 13th indiction and the 13th of his reign and witnessed by the King, the Archbishops Dunstan and Oscytel, Queen Ælfthryth; the bishops of Winchester, Rochester, Ramsbury, Lichfield, Sherborn, Crediton, Worcester, Wells, Selsey, Elmham or possibly Hereford, Cornwall, and a twelfth, the fourth in the list, Wulfrie, whom I cannot identify, 11 abbots, nine earls, and 41 thanes.

Beneath the Latin grant is a version in Anglo-Saxon supplied by the King's direction in order to remove any doubts as to its validity from the minds of the vulgar. The two cover a skin of 16 inches square. An endorsement states that this charter was produced as an exhibit in the legatine visitation of Cardinal Wolsey, Archbishop of York, celebrated by Dr. Rowland the Archdeacon of Cornwall, his Commissary-General in Exeter Cathedral on the 15th of April 1529. It is printed in the Codex, with an asterisk, from three British Museum MSS. and in the Diplomatarium from two of these same MSS. as genuine. In addition to these three MSS. another is quoted by Wanley as existing in the Cottonian Library. "literis Saxonis misere per scriptorem Saxonum carum literarum imperitum corruptis."

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

"The holy maiden Æthelthryth" began Ely Monastery in 673 and died in 679. This monastery was the first of those, "which heathen men" before had ruined," given up by Eadgar to bishop Æthelwold of Winchester for restoration. After Æthelthryth, her sister Sexburh wife of Erconberht of Kent and mother of the holy virgin Ercongot, was abbess and after her came Ercongot's sister Ermenhild wife of Wulfere of the Mercians and mother of Werburh virgin. Æthelthryth is said to have been sister of S. German bishop of Auxerre, but as he died in 448 and she in 679 this could not have been the case. Among the attesting ealdormen are Ordgar of Devonshire the King's father-in-law, the monks' great enemy Ælfhere of Mercia, Birhtnolt who fell at Maldon, and Oslac the "Great Earl." There is a word in this charter, "centuriatum," quoted by Ducange for the meaning of "hundreds." Cod. Dipl. DLXIII. Dip. Angl., p. 237. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXXIII. A recital in the time of King Æthelred the Second of the grant of six hides at Lohthereslen to Westminster Abbey by King Eadgar, who states that Archbishop Dunstan had bought it from him for 70 shillings of red gold. This grant was made in 972 at Kingston upon the death of Wulmar in whose demesne it appears to have previously been. On the death of King Eadgar in troublous times it befel that a certain hunter named Brihtferth left his lord and his property of three hides in this place and sought another lord. This was in the second year of the reign of King Eadward the Second, and Dunstan bought the land from the King for 30 pounds and bestowed it upon S. Peter at Westminster in addition to the six hides which he had bought from King Eadgar. This deed of purchase, which is not very intelligible, is dated in 978, the year of Eadward's murder and Æthelred the Second's accession by testimony of the bishops. The boundaries which include the "old tunstall in" Watling street" and lie about Edgware and Hendon are as usual full of interest.

It has not been printed, but there are charters relative to the grant of this property to Westminster in the Codex, DLV. and MCCXXIII., and in the Diplomatarium, pp. 193, 219, and 297, in which latter the story of Brihtferth, there called one of the King's knights, appears. This instrument, without doubt, has been taken from the collection belonging to the Dean and Chapter of Westminster and is apparently quoted by Wanley as belonging to them. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXXIV. A document setting forth that upon the death of King Eadgar after the country of the Angles had undergone many dire calamities his son Æthelred had ascended the throne, who following the example of his Father had bestowed certain land in Hampstead upon S. Peter's Westminster. Dated 986 and witnessed by the King, Archbishop Dunstan, the Bishops of Winchester, Selsey (both afterwards Archbishops of Canterbury), Crediton, London, Ramsbury (also afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury), Hereford, Lichfield, and Dorchester.

The King's and Dunstan's forms of attestation are fine specimens of the inflated language in vogue—the King's especially so, although indeed most of his attestations are couched in the same sort of terms. This document belongs to the same kind as the last. They are neither of them exactly charters but more properly recitals of charters and this, like its predecessor, has been at some time or other taken from the Chapter House at Westminster where it is quoted as having been in his day by Wanley. It is not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium but charters relating to the grant of Hampstead to Westminster appear in both. The boundaries lie about the Watling Street and are very interesting. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXXV. A grant by Æthelred King of the Anglo-Saxons and of all Albion, in 997 to Alfwold, bishop of Crediton, of two hides at Sandford. Witnessed by the King, Archbishops Ælfric and Ealdulf, the bishops of Winchester, London, Crediton, Selsey, Sherborne, and Elmham, nine abbots, four dukes, and sixteen thanes. The boundaries of this estate are nearly all traceable on the Survey maps, and lie about the Credy and Credy Bridge. Not printed in Codex, Diplomatarium, or mentioned by Wanley.

No. XXXVI. A grant by Æthelred, Chief and King of the people of the Angles, in 1003 of certain land lying both within and without the City of Canterbury, to his faithful man Æthelred during his own life time and that of his wife with reversion to Christchurch. Dated from Canterbury on July 11, and witnessed by the King, Archbishop Ælfric, the bishops of Winchester, London, Rochester, Selsey, Sherborne, and Crediton, six abbots, three dukes, eleven thanes and three others. The Dominical year and indiction do not agree. Among points of interest in the boundaries are "se lictun" the sepulchre or cemetery and the "hrypera ceap" the cattle or beeve market.

Not in the Codex, Diplomatarium, or Wanley's lists. Latin and Saxon.

No. XXXVII. The testament of Ælfhelm containing the following bequests. To his lord (the King) one hundred gold mancuses, two swords, four shields, four spears, and four horses two caparisoned and two uncapparisoned. To S. Æthelthryth (the monastery at Ely) land at Wrattin in Cambridge. To S. Peter of Westminster land at Bricken-don in Hertfordshire, with a proviso for the pannage of two hundred hogs for his wife. To his son Ælfgar land at Whipstead in Suffolk and at Walton. To his wife her dower lands at Baddow, Bursted, and Stratford in Essex, and three hides at "Hean healan" (High Hall or Waltham Stow Toni in Essex), and two hides at Wilbraham in Cambridgeshire and Rainham in Essex, Carlton in Cambridgeshire and the "heavod botles" or manor house at Gestingthorpe in Essex, with all appurtenances save certain gifts to his daughter and Godric and to his chaplain. To his wife and daughter the land at Connington either in Cambridgeshire or Huntingdonshire, except four hides to Æthelric and Alfwold and half a hide to his "cniht," Osmær. To Ælfmær and his brother Ælfstan land at Hatley in Cambridgeshire or Bedfordshire and Potton in Bedfordshire. To Godere the land he had bought of Wimund and to Leofsige Littlebury in Essex and Stockton in Bedfordshire or Huntingdonshire for two hundred gold mancuses which are to go to his lord for heriots. To his three brothers land at Troston in Suffolk. To Ælfhelm a hide at Ickleton in Cambridgeshire and a hide at Maworth. To Wulfmær a hide at Burnham in Essex. To Ramsey his soul-shot half to the abbot and half to the monks. To his wife half his stud of horses at Troston and half to his henchman who rides with him. To his wife and daughter each a half of forest rights and to his wife, always, half the property in every vill in whosoever possession the land may be as had been granted to her before. The will concludes, "Now pray I, beloved lord, that my will may stand and that thou will not permit any man with wrong to set it aside. God " is my witness I was as loyal to thy father as I best could be, and " fully true in mood and might and to thyself in full affection faithful " and in full love. Of this is God my witness."

No. 4.—Mr. Sanders' Annual Report for 1883—continued.

This testament is printed in the Codex and Diplomatarium from Lye, who prints it in his appendix from this MS. and in the case of the Diplomatarium also from a Harleian MS. No date is given in either case, but it would seem from its position that Mr. Thorpe considered it to belong to the latter part of the eleventh century. I conjecture that the testator may have been that Ælfhelm the ealdorman who was treacherously murdered in a wood when hunting, by the Shrewsbury butcher Godwine "Porthund"—the "Town Dog"—by order of Eadric Streona in 1006, and who figures as a legatee in the will of his brother Wulfric 1002. This Ælfhelm's name frequently appears as a witness to charters up to 1006. This is another MS. that was formerly in the Chapter House at Westminster.

Cod. Dip. DCCCCLXVII. Dip. Angl., p. 596. Lye's Saxon Dictionary, Vol. II., App. No mention of it by Wanley. Saxon.

No. XXXVIII. The testament of Æthelstan the Ætheling with bequests as follows. To S. Peter, where he is to be buried, the land at Eadburgburgh which he bought of his father for two hundred gold mancuses and five pounds of silver, the land at Marlow which he also bought of his father for two hundred and fifty mancuses and the land at Mordune; the silver-hilted sword with the golden belt and collar that Wulfric wrought and the drinking horn bought by him of the monks in the Old Monastery. To bishop Ælfsige for the Old Monastery the money due to him from Æthelwold's widow. To Christchurch, Canterbury, Hollingburn and Garwaddingtune. To the nunnery of S. Mary's, Rotherfield and a silver cross of five pounds, and to the New Monastery of the Holy Trinity a silver ewer of the same value. To the Holy Rood and S. Edward of Shaftesbury the six pounds about which he has given instructions to his brother Eadmund. To the King his father the land at Chalkton—less the ten hides which he leaves to his knight Ælmær—with that at Northtune and Mollintune, the silver-hilted sword that Ulfcytel formerly owned, the mail shirt that Morkær has, and the two horses that Thurbrand and Leofwine gave him. To his brother Eadmund, King Offa's sword and the sword with the fretted hilt, a brand and a silver-mounted blast-horn with his lands in East Anglia and Peacesdale. To Ely monastery one day's bread every year on S. Æthelthryth's mass-day and a hundred pennies and food for a hundred poor persons as long as Christendom shall stand. To his brother Eadwig a silver-hilted sword. To bishop Ælfsige a golden rood and a black steed. To Ælmær the land at Hameldene, and to Godwine, Wulfnoth's son, that at Cumtune. To his foster-mother Ælfswyth, for her great deserving, the land at Westune that he had bought of his father for two hundred and fifty gold mancuses. To Ælfwyne his mass-priest the land at Heorulfestun a cross hilted sword and a horse with trappings. To Ælmær his Dish-thane, the land at Cateringtune a pie-bald steed, a shield, and a notched sword. To Sifyrth the land at Hogscliff, a sword, a horse, and a shoulder-shield. To Æthelward the Stammerer and to Lyfing the land at Tywinham. To Leofstan, Leofwine's brother, Cwattes. To Leommær the land at Bigrove and to Godwine the Driveller three hides at Ludgarshall. To Eadric, Wynflæd's son, the sword with the mark of a hand upon it. To Æthelwine his knight the sword which he had bought of him; to Ælfnoth his sword-wyht a cross hilted notched sword; and to his stag-huntsman the stud at Colung's ridge. To Ælfric and Godwine Driveller the money due to them as his brother Eadmund shall determine. The will is undated, but the thirteenth century endorsement, that appears on several of this collection, supplies the year 1015. It is remarkable that though the Ætheling speaks with affection of his foster-mother and prays for the soul of his grandmother Ælfthryth, "pe me afedde," who educated him, he makes no mention of any kind of his mother Ælfsæd—if she was his mother.

Printed in the Codex and Diplomatarium from the Codex Wintoniensis and Lye's copy of this MS. Another copy appears in the first or Canterbury volume of the series of fac-similes of Anglo-Saxon charters. In the Codex and Diplomatarium no date is assigned to it. Lye says it must have been written between the years 1006 and 1008, during which period Ælfsige, who is frequently mentioned in the will, held the see of Winchester, and he adds that Æthelstan the Ætheling fell in battle with the Danes in 1011. But in succession to this Ælfsige or Elsius, more commonly known as Cenulf, of Winchester, came, after Æthelwold, the bishop Ælfsige mentioned here, who ruled from 1014 to 1033, and it would seem that Lye has confounded the testator with King Æthelred's son-in-law Æthelstan, the husband of his eldest daughter Æthelgifu, who was slain at Ipswich in 1011. Of Æthelstan the Ætheling little is known beyond that he died young, and there is doubt even as to the identity of his mother. Florence of Worcester calls her Alfgiva daughter of Earl Agilbert; Brompton and Higden Edgiva daughter of Earl Toreth; and Malmesbury alludes to her as some person unknown to fame. Dr. Lappenberg says that she was the daughter of Earl Thored the son of Gunnor, Master of the Royal Household and Commander of the Royal Forces, that her name was Ælfsæd and that King Æthelred married her in his 17th year. This will has been quoted by Hickes to illustrate the necessity of the Royal Assent to the validity of testamentary bequests of property not held by the testator in allodium or as boc-land.

Cod. Dipl. DCCXXII. Dip. Angl., 557. Lye's Saxon Grammar, Vol. II., App. Hickes' D. E., p. 61. Quoted by Wanley, p. 270, from Reg. C.C. Cantuar. Saxon.

No. XXXIX. A grant by Cnut, King of the Angles, at the petition of Queen Ælfgifu, in 1018 to Archbishop Ælfstan of a certain grove called Hæsellersc in the famous wood of Andredsweald. Witnessed by the King, the Archbishop of York, the Queen, the bishops of Rochester, London, Selsey, Winchester, Ramsbury and Wells, three abbots, two dukes, two thanes, one reeve and four others whose only designation is "testis fidelis." The two dukes are Thorkil, the husband of Eadgyth, Earl Ulfoytel's widow, who was outlawed in 1021 and slain in 1039; and Godwine then just rising into fame. The appearance of his name in this charter with the title of "Dux" is worthy of remark, the earliest notice of the exploit in reward of which he obtained that title being placed by Henry of Huntingdon in 1019 and following him by Ralph de Diceto, Brompton, Knighton, and others, while William of Malmesbury places it as late as 1024. This charter and one printed in the second volume, No. IX. Exeter, seem to be the earliest examples of the attestation of "Godwine Dux."

Not printed in the Codex or Diplomatarium or mentioned by Wanley. Latin and Saxon.

No. XL. A grant by Cnut, King of the Angles and other neighbouring islands, in 1023 of the Port of Sandwich to Christchurch, Canterbury, on the altar of which he lays his crown with his very own hands. Witnessed by the King, Archbishops Æthelnoth and Ælfic of York, the bishops of London, Winchester, Cornwall, Dorchester, Sherborn, Rochester, Wells, and Hereford, four abbots, four dukes, and nine thanes. Printed in the Codex from the Canterbury copy and in the Diplomatium from both that copy and the present one. And in the Canterbury Volume of Fac-similes, No. XIX. Quoted by Wanley among the Canterbury MSS. Latin.

No. XLI. A grant by King Cnut to Eadsi his priest, on his becoming a monk, of Folkestone for his life with remainder to Christchurch. This grant, which is set out both in Latin and Anglo-Saxon and of which three copies were made, one for Christchurch, one for S. Augustine and one for the King's Treasury, is witnessed by Cnut, Ælfgyva Imma the Lady, Archbishop Ægelnoth, the bishops of London, Winchester, and Selsey, the abbots Ælmær of S. Augustine, Wulnoth of Westminster, Ælfwine of New Minster, and Wulfsi of Chertsey, the earls Ulf, Eglaf, Lyfwine, Harold and Yric, Thored the Staller, Agamund, Osgod Clapa, Tofig, Ægelwine Ælfhelm's son, Siword at Chilham, Ægelric Bigga, Ælfword the Kentish man, Eadmær at Burham, and all the King's councillors ordained and lay that were there assembled. This document is undated, but a thirteenth century endorsement gives the year 1032. It is printed in the Codex and Diplomatium from a Cottonian MS., New Monasticon, and a Stowe MS. The witnesses are not quite identical in the Latin and Saxon versions. Cod. Dipl. MCCCXXVII. Dip. Angl., p. 324. Latin and Saxon.

No. XLII. A grant by Cnut, King of the Angles, in 1035 to Bishop Eadsi of land at Berwick in East Kent. Witnessed by the King, Archbishop Æthelnoth, the bishops of London, Winchester, Selsey, Ramsbury, and Crediton, Earls Godwine and Leofric, three abbots, and five thanes.

Not printed in the Codex or Diplomatium or mentioned by Wanley. An instrument appears in the Codex in Anglo-Saxon under the ascribed date 1032, by which it would appear that Eadsi had this property from King Cnut before that date. This Eadsi was bishop of St. Martin a suffragan to Canterbury. He became Archbishop in 1038. Latin and Saxon.

No. XLIII. A cyrograph certifying that Archbishop Eadsi has given five acres of land outside Red Gate and a meadow without Wiwer Gate to S. Augustine. Witnessed by the bishops of Rochester and St. Martin, Godric dean, and all the brotherhood of Christchurch, Leofwine the priest, and all the brotherhood of Dover, Ægelric Bigga, Esbearn, Ægelwine Ælfelm's son, Thurgar, Eadric at Æthelham, Eadwine the Archbishop's brother, Ælfwine the Red, Godric at Burn, Ælfred and his brother Gyldewinc, and all the townsfolk of Canterbury and many a good man to boot.

This deed is undated. It must lie between 1038 and 1050. Of the two gates at Canterbury the first I conclude is the present Rading Gate. Not printed in the Codex or Diplomatium or mentioned by Wanley. Saxon.

No. XLIV. A confirmation by King Henry the First to William, archbishop and the monks of Christchurch, Canterbury, of all previous charters granted to them by Kings Eadward the Confessor and William the Conqueror. Undated. William de Corbeuil, Curbellis, Carbois, Curbeville and other aliases Prior of S. Osyth was Archbishop of Canterbury from 1123 to 1136. He is described by the anonymous writer of "Gesta Stephani," as "vir vultu columbinus, habituque vere religiosus; sed pecuniarum adquisitarum possessor avidior quam erogator." Printed by Lye in his appendix to Vol. II. A similar confirmation, in fact one word for word with this, only granted to Archbishop William's predecessor Anselm is printed by Hickes at page xvi of his preface from a Cottonian MS. In both Latin and Saxon.

No. XLV. A confirmation by King Henry the Second to Archbishop Theobald and the monks of Christchurch, Canterbury, of all previous charters granted to them by Kings Eadward the Confessor and William the Conqueror. Undated. Theobald, Abbot of Bec, was Archbishop of Canterbury from 1139 to 1161. The date, therefore, must lie between 1154 when Henry came to the throne and 1161.

A version of this, slightly differing in the wording, is printed by Hickes at page xvi of his preface from the original in Lord Weymouth's library. This is witnessed by Philip, bishop of Bayeux, Arnulph, bishop of Lisieux, Thomas the Chancellor, Reginald Earl of Cornwall, Ranulph Earl of Leicester and Henry of Essex the Constable, at York. Copies of both these last charters are apparently quoted by Hickes from the Registrum Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis. In Latin and Saxon.

One of the MSS. above enumerated, and perhaps the most valuable of the whole, King Alfred's will, is not contained in the volume of Anglo-Saxon charters lately belonging to Lord Ashburnham, but forms part of another volume of the Ashburnham Collection the "Register of Hyde Abbey." His Lordship kindly gave me permission to include it in the present volume, which I felt would be imperfect without it. It fills seven pages and a half of the Register, and is said, as I have already stated, to have been written in 1031. Each page is disfigured by a modern number, and a still more offensive disfigurement exists in the shape of the words "Præfatio" and "Testamentum" written on the parchment in a modern hand.

A requisition has been received for one hundred additional copies of the fac-simile of Magna Charta; making in all twelve hundred copies issued. This large number has almost exhausted the original plate which has been doing duty ever since it was first made in 1864 and has become rather clogged up, so I have had another one prepared from the negatives which were taken of the exact size of the original Lincoln MS. but which were at that time thought unsatisfactory, as they reproduced all the imperfections and creases of the original, and it was then considered advisable to make the photozincograph as clean as possible by the process called "duffing" described in my Report for 1862. This process remained in vogue till 1869, when I succeeded in getting it done away with by degrees.

Another requisition has been also received from the Royal Archæological Society of Sussex for one thousand copies of the portion of Doomsday Book relating to that county, and these, as well as those of Magna Charta, will, if the issue be sanctioned, be printed from new plates, the old ones not having been preserved, from the original negatives but with the "duffing" removed. They will be issued with an overall tint in the same way as the Anglo-Saxon charters have been issued, and will, no doubt, as is to be expected, be an improvement on the first publication, when photozincography was a newly-invented process.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed)

WILLIAM BASEVI SANDERS,

NO. 6.—REPORTS OF MR. W. H. BLISS TO THE MASTER OF THE ROLLS FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 1883.

(6a.) For the half-year ending 30 June 1883.

(6b.) For the half-year ending 31 December 1883.

To the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls.

MY LORD,

Rome, June 25, 1883.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that, during the past six months, nine parcels of transcripts have been sent to the Public Record Office containing 208 copies from the Archivio Vaticano, and from three private libraries; and above 1,000 abstracts of formal documents in the Archivio di Stato.

In addition to the above I have, at the special demand of Mr. Hardy, made at the request of Mr. S. Rawson Gardiner, sent 60 transcripts of letters of the French Nuntio in 1608 and 1604, which are of importance in relation to negotiations between England and Rome in those years. The papers copied are chiefly those of the reigns of Elizabeth and James I.; amongst them are several that relate to Scotch affairs. There are also some letters of Guicciardini in 1526, of Salviati in 1528, of the Bishop of Verona in 1537, and of the French Nuntio in 1552, 1553, and 1554.

The transcripts from the Archivio di Stato are of documents from 1471 to 1489, in continuation of the series sent in the autumn of last year. A parcel of transcripts from the Stockholm State Archives was sent to the Public Record Office on March 10th.

I have recently obtained access to a small private collection of Consistorial documents of the 16th and 17th centuries, some of which have been copied and will be sent to the Public Record Office in the course of next year.

I beg to be permitted to repeat a suggestion that I made in October 1878, relating to a proposed examination of the Farnese papers in the Archives at Naples. In that month, the Vatican not being open until November, I made some researches at Naples, and found many papers that fitted in with the series of Nuntiatures preserved in Rome. Copies of some of these have been sent to England. Should it meet with your Lordship's approval, I shall be ready to continue the examination and copying of papers at Naples in the autumn of next year.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,
(Signed) WILLIAM H. BLISS.

MY LORD,

Rome, December 26, 1883.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that during the past six months I have sent eight parcels from Rome to the Public Record Office containing 197 letters and 840 abstracts; making a total for the past year of 405 letters, and 1,840 abstracts of documents, together amounting to 2,245 items.

The Vatican Archives were re-opened on November 5th, having been closed to the public for four months; during which time, however, the work of copying documents already selected was going on; and I was able to do work myself in other libraries.

Besides the letters of George Con in 1636, and of Rossetti in the years 1640 to 1644, there are letters of Queen Henrietta Maria during the years 1645 to 1653; and selections from the volumes of the French Nuntiature in 1644, 1645, and 1646.

No. 6.—Reports of Mr. Bliss to Master of the Rolls for year 1883—cont.

Some letters of Gambarà and of Salviati in 1526, 1527, and correspondence from the volumes of the German Nuntiature in 1514, 1515, 1531, 1532, 1539, 1560, and 1562, are amongst the papers sent since last June.

The series of extracts from the Regesta of the Pontificate of John XXII. has been continued.

An important series of letters written by the well-known Franciscan Father Luke Wadding has been copied, and will shortly be sent to England.

I am now occupied in searching the volumes of the German Nuntiature between 1530 and 1570, in which, although there is a great deal relating to the Protestant Reformation in Continental Europe, I have as yet not found much that relates to either the political or ecclesiastical history of England.

Parcels of copies of papers from the Royal State Archives at Stockholm were sent to the Public Record Office on July 21st, August 4th, and September 29th, and a report has been presented.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,

(Signed) WILLIAM H. BLISS.

The Right Honourable
The Master of the Rolls.

No. 7.—SUMMARY REPORT ON RECORDS OF SWEDEN BY MR. W. H. BLISS.

SUMMARY REPORT to the MASTER OF THE ROLLS, on Papers relating to the HISTORY OF ENGLAND, contained in the STATE ARCHIVES, STOCKHOLM, examined in the years 1882 and 1883 by WILLIAM HENRY BLISS, M.A., B.C.L.

MY LORD,

HAVING already sent to your Lordship two full reports of the result of my examination of papers in the State Archives in Stockholm, made in 1881, 1882, and 1883, I add the following summary for the years 1882 and 1883.

Envoy Leyoncrona's letters are continued until the middle of March 1710. Leyoncrona was succeeded by Gyllenberg, whose letters begin in March 1710, and end in February 1717. This large and important series of papers is supplemented by Gyllenberg's private correspondence with Goertz, Mullern, Preis, Meyerfeldt, Lilienstedt, Petkun, Wellingk, Sparre, Mandell, and others, whose letters, together with Goertz' correspondence with Preis, de la Marck, Wellingk, and Mullern, are of great value in throwing light on the well-known political intrigues of the time, ending in 1719.

The series of letters of Kings of England, and of royal personages, in the Appendix to the Forty-third Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records, is continued from 27 September 1714 to 30 September 1813.

Plenipotentiary Baron Carl Sparre's, and Secretary Skutenhielm's letters, from 16 October 1719 to August 1736, and a collection of papers relating to negotiations between England and other Powers in 1719, 1720, and 1721, carry on the series of diplomatic correspondence between the two countries.

Envoy Wasenberg's letters from August 1731 to August 1743 are full of interesting details relating both to home and foreign affairs, those of 1739 to 1743 being of special importance, and contain reports of the minister's conversations with Carteret and other English statesmen. In connexion with these is a series of letters to Wasenberg from his correspondents in Sweden and other Courts of Europe.

Wasenberg was succeeded by Wiblornsen; and from 1744 to 1748 Ringwicht was the Swedish Minister at the Court of St. James. During these years several letters passed between Carteret and Ringwicht relating to maritime rights and English privateers. There are detailed accounts of the battle of Culloden, and the trial of the rebels.

From 1748 to 1758 Wynantz represented his country at London, and Guy Dickens continued to represent England at Stockholm. Affairs of Russia and Central Europe occupy much of the correspondence. The letters to Wynantz are from 1747 to 1759; but the breach in diplomatic relations lasted for six years; and in 1764 begins a new series of despatches.

Baron Nolcken's correspondence extends over a period of 29 years, and his weekly letters contain a detailed account of current events, and of the frequent conversations held by him with Lord Rochford, and other ministers of the Crown. Transcripts of a few of these despatches have been made; and the perusal of the whole series would be of service to the historian of the foreign policy of England during this period.

Nolcken's correspondence with other Swedish Ministers at foreign courts from 1764 to 1789 is of hardly less importance.

In 1792 Bergstedt, then Secretary, began a series of despatches, and continued as Chargé d'affaires until 1794, when he was succeeded by von Engestrom, and in 1795 by Baron Silfverhielm, and von Asp. During these and the following years the letters of the Envoys are full of interest; and in the detailed report, already presented to your Lordship, indication has been given of their contents.

From 1805 to 1813 Rehausen's and Adlerberg's despatches continue to give full particulars of current events, and of conferences held by them with English Ministers of the Crown. Transcripts of a few of these letters have been sent to the Public Record Office.

In the series of Papers entitled "Hollandica" from 1592 to 1638 are many letters from John Skytte, Jean Bignon, Gio. Calandrini, Johan de Fremdt, Rutgersius, Rustorf, Robert Stewart, and others, that are not without interest; and the letters of Camerarius, of which mention was made in my former report, are of the greatest importance and value. I have examined these, and selected those which should be copied. Transcripts of some will be sent to the Public Record Office in the course of next year: but in the years 1626, 1627, and 1628 there are few of the very numerous letters which do not contain passages relating to English affairs.

Of the general contents of the De la Gardie collection of Papers, and of some additional MSS. recently transferred to the Archives from the Swedish Foreign Office, I have given an account in my detailed report.

I have, &c.,

APPENDIX II.

No. 1.—REPORT ON THE ROYAL ARCHIVES OF DENMARK, AND FURTHER REPORT ON LIBRARIES IN SWEDEN—By the Rev. WILLIAM DUNN MACRAY, M.A., Rector of Ducklington, Oxfordshire.

To the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls.

MY LORD,

September 25, 1883.

IN pursuance of the Instructions with which I was honoured, I beg to lay before you a report on the investigations which I have made among the Royal Archives of Denmark for documents relating to the history of our country, so far as those investigations have at present reached.

During the months of July and August, 30 days were spent by me at Copenhagen, in which time I was enabled to draw up the following Calendar of all the State Papers there found which bear on my subject from the time of Edward III. to the close of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Among these I proceed to point out some of those which are specially noteworthy.

In 1465 and 1466 we find treaties made with England for the regulation of trade with Iceland, Heligoland, and Finmark, of which, in 1577, Queen Elizabeth writes that no copy can be found in the English Archives, where diligent search had been made, and of which the existence, therefore, was impugned.

Among the papers relating to the earlier part of the reign of Henry VIII. are some which illustrate the strenuous efforts made by Francis I. of France in 1522 to set up Richard de la Pole, claiming to be Duke of Suffolk, as a rival to Henry VIII. for the Crown of England, in right of his mother, the sister of Edward IV. Of this Richard (who was killed at the battle of Pavia, bravely fighting for his patron) we have one original letter relative to an agent employed in negotiations on his behalf. Two diaries kept by a Danish ambassador, Peter Suavenius, when sent on two several missions to England, France, and Scotland in the years 1531 and 1535, have been already, with a just appreciation of the interest of their contents, printed in Appendices to Reports of the Danish State Paper Office; but the former deserves, I think, to be again printed in this Report, and I have, therefore, transcribed it at length, and of the latter (which contains some curious Scottish anecdotes and legends) I have given an abstract. The notes of conversations held by Suavenius with King Henry on matters theological and political (in which the confidential intimacy maintained with Francis I. contrasts strongly with the hostility of nine years' earlier date), and with Francis himself, are alike curious and interesting, and are evidently the hasty memoranda jotted down as soon as the Royal presences had been quitted. It is amusing to note how discreetly the Lord Treasurer (the Duke of Norfolk) interrupted a conversation with the Earl of Wiltshire on the power of the Pope in matrimonial causes, which might soon have threatened to become dangerous. Among the other papers relating to this reign are found letters of Wolsey and Bonner, and a strongly-worded representation made to King Christian III. by Barnes and St. Leger, the English ambassadors, in 1539, as to the support and favour accorded by the Emperor of Germany to Cardinal Pole, "publicus hostis regni et regis."

Upon these follow a series of 12 letters and papers by Edward VI.

In the reign of Queen Mary I. one letter is of considerable interest as being the Queen's first reply to the intercessions of Christian III. on behalf of Coverdale, in which she states that the latter is not in prison (much less in any danger of life) for any question of religion, but only on account of non-payment of a sum of money due to the Treasury, with which (—presumably the first-fruits on his appointment to the see of Exeter—) he was charged in the time of King Edward. The King's original letter of 25 Apr. and two other letters from the Queen of 24 Sept. 1554 and 18 Feb. 1555 are printed in Foxe's Acts and Monuments, book xi., under the year 1555. But Foxe does not give this letter of 1 June 1554, although, since he mentions it as "using a colourable excuse for shifting off the matter," he was evidently aware of its contents.

Of Queen Elizabeth's letters and papers there is a series of no fewer than 112. Amongst these is a letter to Frederick II. of Denmark upon the execution of Mary Queen of Scots, which has been twice already printed, but very incorrectly, and in books but little known. A singular mistake of the secretary who writes the body of the letter, by which he spoke at first of the execution as being the occurrence "expectati facti" instead of "inexpectati," is noticed below.

The war in the Netherlands is much illustrated both by an original narrative by the Earl of Leicester of what he did during his Government there, which helps to show the more clearly on his own testimony how little that was, and also by letters from Peregrine Bertie, Lord Willoughby, of which I have given copies or full abstracts.

Some intercepted papers occur of Nic. Gyldenstern, the Swedish ambassador, relative to his negotiations for the marriage of the Queen to Eric of Sweden, and to the debts which he contracted in England, in which malicious reports current about the Queen are mentioned. Other intercepted papers refer to a project of one John Keyl, for salt works in Sweden, in which the Princess Cecily, sister to King Eric, who resided for some time in England, is found engaged, and at the same time too poor to fulfil her engagements.

A series of miscellaneous papers follows, down to the year 1603, relating to negotiations and various mercantile disputes, some of which are well deserving of notice, and ending with the mention of a portrait of Queen Elizabeth, which was sent to Denmark in this the year of her death. Another portrait "auricomi solis" was sent by Lord Willoughby in 1583.

Among the papers of the reign of James I. (none of which have as yet been examined) there appear letters of Archbishop Abbot, Bacon, Raleigh, &c.

The Scottish papers, which commence in the 15th century, appear to be numerous, and to possess much interest.

SKOKLOSTER.

Through communication with Her Majesty's Envoy at Stockholm, Sir Horace Rumbold, Bart. (to whom I desire to tender my personal thanks for his kind offices), I was enabled in the middle of August to re-visit the Castle of Skokloster for the purpose of completing, as desired by your Lordship, the examination of the State Papers left unfinished in 1881, permission being given by Count Brahe. The same conditions being, however, attached as on my former visit, I was accompanied by Dr. Théel, one of the officers of the Royal Archives at Stockholm, to whom, for thus facilitating my work, my acknowledgments are due. But I found that although a large mass of papers remained to be examined, there was but little among them that bore any reference to England, and that I had been successful on the previous occasion in detecting the volumes most likely to reward inspection. A list is appended to this Report of the additional papers which I noted. The bulk of the volumes and parcels now seen consisted of the private accounts of the Marshals Wrangel, and correspondence and papers connected with the government of the province of Pomerania, with some nine or ten bundles relating to Polish affairs, chiefly in the Polish language, but including also many letters of Italian cardinals on ecclesiastical matters, chiefly between the years 1620–1640.

UPSALA.

From Skokloster I went to Upsala, and was enabled by the great kindness of the new Librarian, Mr. Annerstedt, to examine on a day when the Library was closed to general readers those volumes of Travels in England which I did not see in 1881, as well as a few other volumes, including one by O'Sullivan, the Irish historian. Of these I append my notes.

I add also notes of a few MSS. in the University Library at Copenhagen, on my visits to which I was greatly assisted by the kindness of Dr. Fridericia, one of the Assistant Librarians. An interesting narrative of a visit to England in 1652 contains a bitter and curiously false notice of Milton's blindness. The Royal Library at Copenhagen contains a large number of MSS. bearing on English history, many being of much interest. About half of these I have been enabled, by the kindness with which I have been met in all my inquiries, to examine; but in the hope that I may be able at a future time to complete what I have begun, I defer submitting my unfinished notices to your Lordship.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

I cannot conclude without the expression of my respectful acknowledgments to the Ministers for Foreign Affairs and Public Instruction at Copenhagen for the readiness and courtesy with which full permission was granted for my search, and to Her Majesty's Minister, Mr. Vivian. To the Keeper of the Archives, Mr. Jorgensson, and to the Assistant Keeper, Mr. Krarup, I am indebted for facilities which left nothing to be desired.

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your obedient humble servant,
(Signed) WILLIAM DUNN MACRAY.

II.—ARCHIVES OF DENMARK.

[Date lost.] 3 May. At Westm. Safe conduct from Hen. VI. for Peter Lakke, Archdeacon of Roskild, Ambassador from Queen of Denmark. [1 a.]

1432. 24 Dec. Copenhagen. Articles of a treaty agreed upon by John, Bp. of Roskild, Thomas, Bp. of Strengnas, Arnold, Bp. elect of Bergen, Absolon Peterson ["Petri"], Eric Nicolson ["Nicolai"], Benedict Stenson ["Stenonis"], Amind Sture, and Esagar Brock, Knts., on the part of the King of Denmark, and Rob. Shottesbrok, Knt., and Master Will. Spenser, LL.D., on the part of the King of England.

With Shottesbroke's seal of arms: "S. domini Roberti Shotesbroke." [1 b.]

1439, an. 17. 6 Feb. Westm. Commendatory letter from Hen. VI. to Eric King of Denmark, on behalf of Robert Chapman, merchant of York, who is desirous to buy rye and wheat of which they hear there is abundance in Denmark, the harvest in England having failed through the prevalence of floods. Similar license shall be given to Denmark to export from England should they at any future time be in like need. [1 bb.]

This document, strange to say, bears an endorsement by W. Astle. It would seem, therefore, that it must have found its way back to England at some time and have returned to Denmark within the last century.

1450. 9 Apr. Westm. Inspecimus and ratification by Hen. VI. of the preceding treaty. Great seal perfect. [3.]
1465. 11 June. Westm. Commission from Edw. IV. to Thos. Goldwell, dean of Salisbury, John Cheyne, Knt., Hen. Sharp, LL.D., and Walter Cony and Hen. Bermycham, merchants of Bishop's Lenne, to treat with the ambassadors of the King of Denmark. Great seal nearly perfect. [4 b.]
1465. 19 Sept. The Castle of Segeberghe. Credentials from King Christiern for Kanut, bishop of Wiberg, Eric Ottoson [Ottonis], Knt., Eggard Frille, Knt., John Tidericson (Tiderici), M. A. and B. D. and Iwar Wiking, Chancellor of Norway, to treat with England. [4 a.]
1465. 3 Oct. Hamburg. Treaty made by the above-named ambassadors. No English subjects to go to Iceland without special leave of the King of Norway under penalty of loss of life and goods; nor to Heligoland or Finmark unless driven by stress of weather and peril of life, and not in that case to engage in any merchandise. [5.]
- 1466, an. 5. 1 March. Westm. Confirmation by Edw. IV. of the preceding treaty. Great seal broken. [6.]
- 1466, an. 6. 20 Nov. Westm. Second confirmation of the same treaty. Great seal broken. [7.]
- 1473, an. 13. 1 May. Westm. Agreement by Edw. IV., after interruption of peace, for a truce for two years, within which time the mutual disputes shall be referred for arbitration to the King of Scotland, the Duke of Burgundy, or other princes to be chosen by the Kings of England and Denmark. Meanwhile their subjects shall mutually have freedom of trade, except that the English shall not go to Iceland without special leave. Signed by the King's own hand, "Edwardus R." Great seal nearly perfect. [8.]
- 1476, an. 16. 16 March. Bukdene. Renewal of the truce in nearly the same terms for a further period of two years from 1 June next, within which time ambassadors shall meet for the termination of disputes, referring, in case of disagreement, for decision to the King of Scotland, the Duke of Burgundy, or other princes. Great seal broken. [9.]
- 1479, an. 18. 12 Feb. Official transcript, made in England, of a third renewal of the truce for two years.
Together with this are like transcripts of the preceding truces. [I. a.]
1490. 20 Jan., f. of SS. Fabian and Sebastian. Copenhagen. Treaty of peace made by James Hutton, LL.D., Tomas [Holme] Clarencieux, King-of-Arms, Thos. Cartar and John Belys, merchants of Lynne, as Commissioners of the King of England, with the King of Denmark; providing for mutual freedom of navigation and commerce, and also that the English shall have liberty freely to trade with Iceland on obtaining every seven years a fresh license from the King of Denmark. Proper officers, Danes or Norwegians by birth, to be appointed at Bergen and in Iceland for collection of tolls and customs. Letters from the King of England confirmatory of this treaty to be delivered to the customs' officer at Helsingor before Michaelmas next. [10.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

1490. 2 May. Westm. Confirmation by Hen. VII. of the preceding treaty.
- [1492?] Statutes of the Order of the Garter, in French, sent to King John of Denmark. With illuminated border, arms of England, &c., and the seal of the Order. [12.]
- 1498 an. 13. 15 Feb. Westm. Exemplification by Hen. VII. of the translation of a French petition from the merchants of Lenne, setting forth the manifold injuries sustained by them, in contravention of their rights, at the hands of the Hanse merchants at Berne in Norway, including the burning of their houses, destruction of property, continual peril of life, the deliberate drowning of many fishermen from Crowmere and Blakney in Norfolk, &c.; and of a letter in consequence, dated 26 June an. 12 [1497] from the King to the Aldermen at Norderberne of the merchants of Lenne and of the Hanse, ordering them to make diligent enquiry into the particulars. [13.]
- 1508–12. “Kong Hans’s Brév-bog.” Copy-book by Ove Bilde, the Chancellor, of the letters of King John between 1506 and 1512. A paper book, in small quarto, in a very decayed and tender state from damp. The whole is printed in the Appendix to Vol. I. of Aarsberetninger fra det Kongelige Geheime Archiv, udgivne af C. F. Wegener (Annual Reports of the State Paper Office) 1852–5, pp. 1–50. The letters relating to England are the following:—
1508. 10 Jan. Helsingborgh. To King Hen. VII., complaining of wrongs committed by the English at Iceland; the bearer, John Gotskalck, will also name an English merchant who has not paid a debt due to the King.
Printed as above, p. 17.
- [1509. 31 Dec.] To Hen. VIII., complaining of the war carried on against him by the people of Lubeck. Begs Henry to arrest all Lubeckers found in his kingdom, and to confiscate their property; and to give a passport for the bearer, John Gotskalck, to go to Scotland. If any persons in England will fit out vessels against Lubeck, they shall have whatever spoil they can capture. [1.]
Ib., p. 34.
- [1510] an. 10.* 23 Nov. Copenh. To the same, requesting that he will urge the Duke of York to pay a debt due to Paul Sasteleven of Amstelredam.
Ib., p. 42.
- [1510.] To Richard, Duke of York, about the aforesaid debt.
Ib.
- [1510.] To Henry VIII., about the war with Lubeck. Begs him to do the Lubeckers all the harm he can.
Ib., p. 46.
- [1511] an. 11. Krenckerop. To the same. The robbing of some English ships has been committed by people of the Hanse towns, not by any of his subjects.
Ib., p. 47.
1512. 12 Feb. Kalundborgh. To the same. One Andrew Bartwn, who had been sent to him by the King of Scotland, has left him without license, and has carried away with him a ship which had been sent to the King from the King of Scotland as a gift, and which he understands has come to Henry’s hands; begs it may be restored.
Ib., p. 48.
- 1509[–10] an. 1. 28 Feb. Westm. Hen. VIII. to King John of Denmark, in reply to his letter of 31 Dec. (as above). Is grieved to hear of the injuries inflicted by the people of Lubeck; would willingly assist him, but is prevented by his relations to the Hanseatic League; will urge a peaceful settlement of disputes on Lubeck. The safe-conduct for Scotland shall be given to his envoy. [I. b (b).]
Printed ib., p. 62.
- [Not dated.] Abstract (in Danish) of the articles of a treaty between England and Denmark concerning navigation and commerce. [I. b (c).] Draft of some articles of a treaty (18).
- 1518[–4] an. 5. 14 March. Greenwich. Hen. VIII. to King Christian. Will redress the injuries to some of his subjects complained of by his envoy John Holm; sends back with the latter John Backer as his own envoy. [I. b (d).]

* i.e., not of the reign, but of the century.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

- 1518[—4] an. 5. 17 March. The same to the Chancellor "Avobyll" [Ove Bylde], accrediting Backer, and thanking him for the kindness shown last year to his Herald-at-arms when sent on a mission then. [I. b (e).]

Copy of an obligation from Hen. VIII. to restore the island of Iceland, pledged to him for a loan, whenever the loan shall be repaid. [Ib.]

Danish translation of the instructions given to Backer. [I. b (f).]

1514. 26 Aug. Copenh. Cancelled re-credentials of Backer from Christian; he is charged with representations respecting Lubeck, and with a petition that Danish merchants may be admitted to trade in London, especially with cloth, as freely and fully as the Germans.

1518. 4 March. Copenh. Letters patent of King Christian confirming the treaty between King John and Hen. VII. [I. b (h).]

Same date. Credentials given to John Holm as ambassador to England, with the preceding letters patent. [I. b (f).]

1518. 8 March. Instructions to him; endorsed, "Non sortiebantur effectum." [Ib.]

— in German; cancelled. [18 c.]

1518. 6 Nov. Greenwich. Re-credentials from Hen. VIII. for Holm, who will give replies partly in writing, partly verbally. [I. b (g).]

1518. 2 Oct. Lond. Copy, in a paper book, of the treaty made between Hen. VIII. and Francis I. of France. [18 d.]

- [1522.] 2 Nov. At St. Germain-en-Laye. Francis I. of France to Frederick, "heredi regni Norvegiæ, duci Sleswicensis Holsatiæ."

"Illustrissime ac potentissime princeps, Reddiderunt nobis literas vestras nobilis vir Theodericus de Raid, quem ad vos miseramus, et Henricus Scultem, canonicus Utinensis, secretarius vester Quantum autem attinet ad negotium cuius gratia ipsum Theodericum ad vos destinaveramus, decrevimus, auctore Deo optimo maximo, proxima æstate ipsum exequi et Anglorum Regi grave bellum inferre. Quare vos obsecramus ut ad implendum quod mandatis animum vestrum quam primum intendatis, curetisque ut omnia ad bellum gerendum necessaria mature instruantur. Nam duces Sufforti, carissimum ac dilectissimum consanguineum nostrum, missuri sumus æstivo tempore cum pecunia ad impensam belli, stipendia militum, et alia necessaria. Eodem quoque tempore Rex Scotiæ et nos magnis viribus ipsum Regem Angliæ regnumque ejus diversis locis invadimus, nec dubium est quin, Deo optimo maximo ita permittente, violatæ fidei et spretæ religionis pœnas nobis pendere cogatur, et vos miserabilem Regis Scotiæ nepotis vestri casum vindicabitis, et duces Sufforti in aviti regni possessionem restituatis. Cui poterit una filiarum vestrarum honestissimis suis conditionibus jure matrimonii copulari, unde vobis et utrique vestrum magna fiet virium accessio. Ea quoque via regnum Scotiæ securitatem, ocium et quietem obtinebit. Quæ omnia, ut sunt maximi momenti, ita desiderium illud vestrum ad belli suscipiendi rationem non mediocriter debent accendere. Quantum vero ad pensionem vestram, de qua ipsi Theodericus et Henricus nobiscum loquuti sunt, mittimus ad vos unius anni pensionem, prope diem daturi alterius reliquam. Præterea volumus ut Hans Ramsom, marescallus vester, in vestram gratiam quotannis habeat eam pensionem quam Paulo Ramsom defuncto, marescallo vestro, olim promiseramus. Ut vero civitates Hansæ Theutonicæ nobiscum fedus ineant, rogamus vos entæ ut ad id vestrum studium industriamque ita velit impendere ut tandem ad verum effectum (sic) perducatur, et nobis ad ipsum bellum suas vires armaque adcommodent. Nam dux ipse Sufforti (si res et fortuna ad votum illi respondeant) non modo antiqua illis privilegia quæ habent in Anglia confirmabit, sed etiam libenter pro meritorum magnitudine nova illis superaddet; et nos quoque illis in portus et stationes regni nostri aditum redditumque permittemus, et si opus est, honestis etiam et commodis quibusdam privilegiis eos cumulabimus. Ea autem liga et confederatio poterit fieri inter nos, ipsas civitates Hansæ Theutonicæ, Reges Daciæ et Scotiæ, vos et ipsum duces Sufforti, defensiva quidem et offensiva, pro securitate statuum, regnorum, terrarum et patriarum nostrarum, et pro reparatione injuriarum universis et singulis nostrum factorum. Ipsius quoque ligæ et confederationis prætextu, Anglico bello finito, Rex Daciæ facile poterit subditorum suorum ferociam et rebellionem contundere, si eatenus obstinati contumacesque perduraverint, neque ad officium devotionemque armis their dead bodies were exposed for three days to dogs and birds, and then burned. Suavenius is also to oppose the alleged project of the Emperor to endeavour the engaging the Kings of France, England, and Scotland in a common war against the Evangelical princes and peoples; the latter are ready to refer all questions to a General Council for settlement. “ANGLICI REGIS RESPONSA.”

“Habetis hostes.

“Fuit hic apud me Cristiernus tunc cum primum esset regno expulsus. Contuli cum eo de sua causa. Rogavit ut se juvarem, et ut commendatitias illi litteras darem ad Cæsarem. Ego neutrum volui facere.

“Marchio non favet nobis. Est intimus Cæsari.

“Ego non possum vobis auxilio esse, quia sum in confederatione cum omnibus Principibus mundi, nec habeo causam quare bellum geram. Cæterum si quis me vellet invadere, oporteret circumspicere me quonam pacto me possim defendere.

“Scio quod Cæsar non bene vult vobis. Audivisti istam antiquam mulierem esse captam? Capta est, et sumetur de ea supplicium. Id quo consilio fiat tu cogitabis.

“Cæsar colligit milites; hoc certum est.

“Ego de convivio Sueciaco per mercatores certior sum factus.

“Bene novi quam crudeliter imperaverit Cristiernus.

“Habes tu commissionem de contrahendo mecum fœdere? Dic qualiter velit inire mecum amicitiam Rex tuus. Mittat huc suos legatos cum plenaria potestate. Ego cum omnibus mundi Principibus habere pacem et concordiam exopto.

“Habes aliquid dicendum mihi quod pertinet ad Evangelicos principes. Veni mecum; nos inter inambulandum ea de re colloquemur.

“Valde esset optandum ut Principes inter se convenirent de fide, et corpusculum hoc parvum ecclesiæ in unitatem quandam redigeretur. Satis est infidelium alioqui per orbem. Audivi Cæsarem in tribus tantum articulis aut quattuor non potuisse cum Evangelicis concordare. Non fecit prudenter quod non omnino dissensionem istam sustulit, etiamsi debuisset de jure aliquid remittere. Si mihi præterea et Gallo commisissent illius causam arbitrium Evangelici, nos tollerabilibus mediis contentionem istam sedassemus. Cæsar simplex est, et Latine nescit, sicuti et Gallus. Quod pertinaciter adeo resistit Evangelicis, hoc suasu fecit Cardinalis Campel, qui noluit ut suo ordini quicquam decederet. Ego non probo omnia dogmata Pontificis. Vicissim laudare non possum in omnibus Evangelicorum Principum institutum. Ipsi inter se non consentiunt. Partim sentiunt pro sacramento, et partim contra sacramentum.

“Quamdiu vivit ille Pontifex, non conscribetur unquam Generale Concilium. Totus mundus novit quam dissolute Cardinales et Episcopi passim degant. Non volunt illi nec libertati suæ nec potentis quicquam decedere. Deinde, ut maxime permitteret Pontifex Generalis Concilii conventum, tamen est tanta hodie sententiarum diversitas ut ne sic quidem ad unitatem fidei redintegrandam pateat aditus. Quisque in suo volet sensu abundare. Et ubinam locorum conveniemus? In Germaniam non est tutum Pontifici concedere. Italici non dabunt hanc fidem Germani ut in illorum ditione de causa Evangelica censuram accipiant. Quod si in me et Gallum rejiceretur arbitrium, nos convocaremus eruditissimos quosque; illos principio committeremus inter se ut amice et positis affectibus de fidei negotio disceptarent. Tum facile posset conveniri de loco Concilii, et brevi tempore negotium omne bonis conditionibus terminari. Ego et Gallus hoc sumus animo quod vitam etiam pro incolumitate fidei ponere non gravamur. Expetere arbitrium causæ Evangelicæ non possumus ne parti adversæ suspectos faciamus nos, quasi cum hæreticis et scismaticis sentiamus. Oblatum vero non dedignamur assumere, propterea quod nihil est pace et concordia in Republica Christiana hodie magis necessarium.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

"Scripserunt adhuc proxime ad me Evangelici. Respondi illis ego quod hoc easem animo ut nihil viderem libentius quam in Ecclesia concordiam et unitatem.

"De Cæsare: Si quisque hominum multum debet homini, plurimum debet ille mihi.

"Nemo habet jus eligendi Regis Romani nisi Principes Electores. Et quid tum si noluit Saxonis Princeps consentire? Sufficit etiam ad justam electionem quod major pars consensit in Ferdinandum. Cæsar Maximilianus libenter designasset me Regem Romanum. Tria habui vota pro me: Carolus uno calculo superior fuit. Marchio Gallus magnificis promissis decepit.

"Non potest Gallus aperte refragari electioni propter fœdus Cameracense, sicuti nec ego possum. Cæterum clam possemus suppetias ferre.

"Convenerunt in Hestia Principes cum civitatibus ut rationem inirent inter se per quam doctrinam suam defenderent. Non esse actum istic de electione.

"Quomodo possint refragari electioni Principes reliqui cum in electorum Principum numero non sint, et Cæsari sint subjecti?

"Gloriatum Cæsarem quod Danorum Regem haberet sibi subjectum.

"An firma et constans amicitia nobis intercedat cum civitatibus?

"Suasit ut civitatum amicitiam coleremus.

"Quare non cogitarunt Principes de alio quodam Romano Rege designando.

"Principem Bavarie idoneum esse ad ejusmodi functionem.

"Corruptos esse Principes Electores pecunia et largitionibus ante electionem." Hoc dixit liquido sibi constare.

"Cæsar arbitrium suscepit dissensionis ejus quæ tenuit aliquamdiu inter Pontificem et ducem Norbinensem. Dux servat sibi provinciam; Pontifici dat pecunias. Sed non placet ea sententia Pontifici."

Cum ego de Galli magnificis promissis attigissem, responsum; "Gallus nihil facit me inconsulto. Ita juncti sumus inter nos ut alter nostrum sine alterius consensu nihil sit aggressurus. Si esset fœdere junctus nobis Rex tuus, plus haberemus excusationis ad illum defendendum.

GALLORUM REGIS RESPONSÆ.

"Præmisit Gallus se nulla in re detractaturum amici et fratris officium. Nec locum nec abitum qui tum instabat permittere ut singulatum ad omnia responderetur. Opus esse deliberatione per tempus aliquod. Ea de causa jussit ut Parrhisios adirem, fore pollicitus ut post paucos dies responsum obtineam.

"Quo advenerim itinere?

"Annon convenissem in itinere Palatinum Rheni?

"Quam præfecturam accepisset donatione Cæsaris Palatinus?

"Cæsarem expetisse suppetias contra Turcam; an Germania in eum usum sit suppeditatura copias aliquas? An sit pecunias data?

"An Evangelici ferre velint suppetias contra Turcam? Si vellet invadere Evangelicos Cæsar, an habeant in animo vim vi repellere? An in usum ejus belli pecunias contulerint?

"Postea concessum Lutetiam in hospitium a la Cornemusa a la rue de Pronelles apud Sanctum Eustachium. Postridie ab adventu in hospitium scripsi primam epistolam episcopo Baionensi.

"Die tertio adhibuit me in colloquium in horto fratris sui domini Dubellay in ædibus prope Augustinenses. Actum de Cæsaris successibus, quos ille maluit ad divinam referre providentiam quam fortunæ casibus subicere.

"Cæsar nunquam habuit animi tantum ut armatum hostem aspicere ausus fuerit nedum expectare.

"Post Vangionum comitia irruit prædabundus in Gallias, prius etiam quam hostem se professus esset. Rex cum Helvetiis et suorum tumultuaria manu obviam hosti processit. Nubes fugientibus auxilio fuit, et ut cum hoste non statim haberent necesse configere, et ut Valensyn oppidum intrarent; mediæ noctis tempore Cæsar urbem exivit suorum desertor, et in Flandriam se recepit. Gallus oppidum summa vi parabat oppugnare adeoque per amicos quos intus habebat certior factus erat fore ut statim dederetur. Tum supervenerunt Anglorum legati qui precibus obtinuerunt a Gallo ut ab oppugnatione desisteret.

"In Hispaniis maximos motus fuisse: Cæsarem nullas pecunias habuisse. Plerosque ex primoribus Gallum expetisse ut regnis præesset, sicut etiam hereditario jure ad Gallos pertinent Hispaniæ.

"Cæsarem Anglo supplicem factum ab eo accepisse mutuo quadragies centena milia aureorum. Deinde in Hispanias profectum, turbas ac motus omnes compescuisse navibus et pecunia ab Anglo sumptis.

"Ingruissse bellum Italicum; Cæsaris exercitum a se invicem dissensisse. Aliquot mensium stipendia non soluta, præterea annonæ et vestium inopia, eo desperationis induxisse milites ut pugnam capessere detrectarint; Anglum missis navibus inopiæ succurrisse; Gallum captum ad Paviam, Deinde motum misericordia Anglum per suos intercessisse pro Gallo apud Cæsarem; legatos re infecta discessisse. Mandatum Anglo præterea ut Ferdinando ad subigendam Hungariam suppetias ferat. Ea re Anglus offensus adjunxit se Gallo. Postea communibus impensis in regno Neapolitano, in Italia et Burgundia bellatum est.

"De repudianda Regina Meleda [sc. Mylady] Anna. Quatuor universitatum calculi, non licet tibi habere uxorem fratris.

"Absentia Cancellarii. Absentia Magni Magistri (in marg.).

"Fore promisit Episcopus ubi Rex Parrhisios adire jussit ut cum consiliariis de negotio meo deliberaret. Epistola secunda Episcopo missa.

"Dominica die ad vesperam intravit Rex et una Cardinalis Parrhisios.

"Rogavi Episcopum, rogavi et Cancellarium ut causæ meæ meminissent.

"Die lunæ dedit Rex instructionem meam Cancellario, et ad vesperam abiit rursus Rex.

"Cancellarius negavit se commissionem de dando mihi responso habere.

"Episcopus cum a me toties appellaretur renunciavit per Cancellarium si non vellem sibi concedere causas meæ patrocinium ut alium quererem patronum.

"Epistola tertia Episcopo missa. Et proficiscebar ipse ad Saint Klu.

"Die Jovis itum ad Saint Klu, ad vesperam reditum.

"Die Veneris exitum rursus, ibique mansum per triduum.

"Rex die Veneris ad Sanctum Germanum abiit venatum; mansit per triduum.

"Die lunæ exivi cum Nicolao Gerlestorp ad Sanctum Germanum. Responsum Regem reditum ad Saint Klu.

"Ostendi Episcopo supplicationem ad Regem destinatam de Hollandiis, de electione.

"Die Martis et Mercurii consultatum; mihi dictum ad vesperam ab Episcopo et Cancellario ut redirem Parrhisios, triduo habiturum responsum.

"Triduum illud prorogabatur in octiduum. Ego pedes ter ad Vannis excessi aut quater etiam.

"Die Jovis ad vesperam dixit Cancellarius negotium confectum ad Regem mittendum esse ut subscriberetur, deinde signatas literas auferrem.

"Basium datum puellæ! Forestanus dixit non licere ut sententiam literarum mihi revelaret. Idem fecit Episcopus Baionensis.

"Die Veneris dixit Cancellarius Forestanum non rediisse.

"De quinquaginta milibus aureorum quæ debet Marchio in nos transferendis.

"Cum redisset Forestanus jubebar ad Sanctum Germanum adire, literasque a Vilandrio expetere.

"Vilandrius literas subscriptas negabat nec posse subscribi biduo; aiebat ut redirem Parrhisios, velle se literas in hospitium meum mittere. De debito Marchionis in nos transferendo Episcopum admonui ut Regem certiore redderet ut exemplar literarum creditoriarum communicaret.

"Die Pentecostes adfuit Rex Parrhisii. Vilandrius in festum rejecit excusationem. Esse in literis immutanda nonnulla. Episcopus fratrem Marchionis Mantuani aiebat adesse, cum eo de rebus Italicis colloquaturum Regem.

"Die lunæ abiit Rex. Episcopus dixit necessario sibi eundem ad Magnum Magistrum, cujus pater extinctus terræ demandandus erat. Questus de Cancellarii perversitate quod in literis suam potius quam Regis explicasset sententiam, quod pleraque jejuniis quam vellet Rex et brevius etiam, exequutus ut die Martis ad vesperam in aula essem, tum habiturum absque dilatione longiori responsum.

"Die Martis renunciavit Episcopus expeditionem meam apud Regem sitam esse, qui vellet loqui mihi priusquam abirem. Expectavi per triduum. Non dabatur copia conveniendi Regem.

"Die Veneris dedi supplicationem Regi in manum. Post prandium agitantur choreæ.

"Die Saturni vocabar ad Regem hora pomeridiana. Excusavit se Rex de mutuo, idque per longinqua bella quæ gessit, deinde per eam pecuniarum summam quam pro redimendis liberis expendit. Et quanquam in eo statu esset ut haberet magis opus amicorum auxilio quam ut ipse posset juvare quemque, tamen promisit se Regem meum non derelicturum quocunque etiam modo posset eum juvare. Regi meo gratificare. Propter novum fœdus non esse deserendos veteres amicos. Eam ob rem non est cur timeant Evangelici.

“ Expetij ut ad omnia capita legationis meæ scripto respondeatur eo ordine quo ipse negotia mea proposui.

“ Responsum in literas relatum esse, idque dandum non multo post mihi.

“ Quo in statu res Cæsaris fuit nescio. Capitaneos exercitus Cristierno a multis annis fuisse satis novi.

“ Non defutura nobis amica auxilia.

“ Mittendum aliquem qui officii causa Regem salutet, et ex nostratibus animalibus aliqua exportet.

“ An habeamus uros an peculiare quoddam cervorum genus ?

“ An renes, an hierofalcones ?

“ An sit Rex fœdere junctus Evangelicis ?

“ Dixit privatim Episcopus de conducendis decem milibus peditum. Fore ut in sex mensium spatio mirabilia audirem.

“ Studium impediendæ electionis adeo probari ut ea de causa Doctor Gervasius ablegandus sit.

“ De fœdere Cameracensi loquutus sum cum Domino legato. Dixit se memorem nostri fuisse in tractando. Non potuisse obtineri ut Regem meum in fœdere comprehensum vellent Cæsariani. E diverso non potuit impetrare Cæsar ut Galli contra nos facerent. Qua de re actum est per integrum diem. Cumque non valeret obtinere Rex quod voluit, et liberorum recuperandorum nulla alia extaret ratio quam ut pacem acceptaret, id cavit tamen ut ille suis conditionibus amicæ compositionis non solum non noceret nobis, sed facultatem præterea servaret quibuscumque rebus posset cum opus est succurrere nobis.

“ Episcopus in horto ; Habebamus Regem valetudinarium, liberi erant in Hispaniis ; magna annonæ caritate per multos annos continuos laboravimus. Ærarium nostrum exhausimus. Populum per exactiones frequentes et magnas involuntarium reddidimus. Quocunque modo oportuit ut paci studeremus ne nostris hominibus deficiendi a nobis daretur occasio.

“ Constitit ea compositio pluris nobis quam ut quadragies centena milia possint illam jacturam compensare.

“ Quod ad libertates et jura attinet non est auri tantum in mundo quo possit sarciri id quod perit nobis.

“ Ut redirem ad Martis diem ; fore ut ad mandata mea obtineam responsum.

“ Die Martis interrogarunt me Dux de Norfock et Comes de Wylschier an haberem literas a Gallo et earum earum (sic).

“ Nomen oratoris Ioannes Ioakynus, Genuensis.

“ Cujusmodi mandata ad Regem Christianissimum pertulerim ?

“ De Evangelicis Principibus, de electione Regis R., de præstandis auxiliis.

“ Quid ad ea responderit Gallus ?

“ Principes Evangelicos non debere fidei gratia oppugnari. Quod ad electionem attinet missum in Germaniam Gervasium. Regem meum nunquam deserendum fore quacunque necessitate premeretur.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

"A prandio supervenit e Roma nuntius. Expectatum diu est. Renunctiatum tandem per Stephanum fore ut postero die in Westmonsterio esset Dux de Norfok ut illi literarum exemplar ostenderem.

"Die Mercurii itum ad Westmonsterium, pransum apud Gallum, lectæ literæ et missæ ad Regem. Post triduum injunctum mihi ut redirem ad Hamptoncourt ad accipiendum responsum.

(In marg.) "Reditum die Jovis et pransum cum duce Norf.

"Redii die conducto. Indicatum Regi me adesse. Renunctiatum an haberem Gallicæ legationis exemplar. Ut redirem postridie.

"Missus in adjacentem pagum qui hospitium procuraret.

"Die Dominico sacris opera data. A prandio conveni Regem.

"Intellectam esse legationem nostram. Responsum in literis. Ego ad tria respondendum esse contendi, ad negotium Evangelicorum, ad non juvandum Cristiernum, ad nos juvandos si sit opus.

"De Evangelicis esse proditum in literis. Cristiernum nullas impetratarum suppetias. Nondum scire quo possit nos juvare Rex, aut quæ auxilia vicissim a nobis debeat expectare. Ut mittantur legati cum plenaria potestate santiendi fœderis. Cæsarem intra menstruum spatium abiturum in Germaniam ut dissensionem Principum componat. Fore summam Cæsaris ignominiam si contempto illius arbitrio Evangelici causam suam cognitioni trium Regum submiserint.

"Consiliarii multis exposuerunt post illa, cum a Rege discessissem, quam esset honestum, utile, et necessarium, ut discordia de negotio pietatis nata componeretur. Et quot inde commoditates sequerentur. Deinde datum poculum.

"Literis redditus et perspecto exemplari alloquebar Stephanum, quædam deesse causatus. Et quod promisit Rex nolle se juvare Cristiernum. Et quod expeteret ad contrahendum fœdus mitti legatos. Responsum mihi non dubiam esse fidem apud meos; noluisse Regem omnia scribi quæ dixisset.

"A Duce Norfok quem eadem de causa conveni similiter responsum.

"Ante prandium die Dominico incidi in colloquium cum Domino Wylschier de potestate Pontificis de casibus matrimonialibus, quod interventu suo Merlordt Kofferer* diremit.

"Turcam suppeditaturum Cæsari negotiorum satis ut non possit nobis nocere: Dux Norfok." [Added on another leaf.]

"In Newhalle intercessi promercatoribus ad exportandum hordeum. Exposui commissi responsi capita: non invadendos Evangelicos, non subveniendum Cristierno, mittendos legatos. Responsum a Rege, sic esse ut dixeram.

"Cæsarem abiturum in Germaniam; si discordiam sedare poterit, futurum in magna omnium veneratione; si non poterit, fore contemptibilem maxime. Illud instare tempus jam in quo necessario aut inclarescet Dux Saxonis jam aut Cæsar.

"An ne præterea rerum novarum adferret aliquid navis Hamburgiana?

"Pedites quosdam colligi, sed non admodum a nobis timeri, propterea quod equitatum non contemnuendum habeamus.

"Annon audiretur quicquam de equitum congregatione? Responsum, non.

"Fieri potest ut Cæsar furtim se subducat cum istis satellitibus in Hispanias, nam terræ non audet se concedere.

"Si veniet in Germaniam Cæsar, admonendus est Saxonis Dux ne magnificis illius promissis fidem adhibeat; ipse decipiet eum, sicut decepit Pontificem.

"Domine, quod dixi de Cæsare, hoc non oportet sub nomine meo ad Saxonis Ducem referri, nam ego sum Cæsari fœdere conjunctus: dicendum potius sub nomine Regis tui, quod addivinet hoc sic futurum."

[At p. 184 of the same volume a letter is printed as being from Suavenius to Hen. VIII., dated at Lyons, 28 June 1531, which was evidently written to the King of France. He requests that leave may be given for the exportation of barley hence ("hinc") to Hamburgh, mention also being made "hujus regni" as the country to which the application refers.]

1535. 15 March. Proposals submitted by Suavenius to Cromwell relative to assistance in men, money, and ships desired by the King of Denmark against Lubeck. The island of Bornholm might be given in pledge; or the Orkneys, if the King of England will pay to the King of Scotland the dowry due with the sister of King Frederick, for which they have been mortgaged to Scotland; or Iceland might be pledged. The King of Denmark could easily raise forces in Germany for the service of England, if ever needed. John, Duke of Holstein, son of King Frederick, now 14 years old, might be betrothed to the King of England's daughter. [19 a.]

1535. Feb.—June. Diary of Peter Suavenius during his mission in England and Scotland, from the beginning of Feb. to 28 June, on which day he left "Dondy" (Dundee), reaching "Veriam" on 14 July.

Conversations with Hen. VIII., Cromwell, and Dr. Bedell; the English are more inclined to side with Christiern and the Lubeckers, but will probably remain neutral. He has a somewhat angry parting interview with Cromwell; a money-present is made to him, but the King will not grant a farewell audience; the "Articles" which he drew up are retained by Cromwell, who will not even let him copy them. Sails from "Grevesen" for Norway on 17 Apr., and leaving "Veria" on 27 Apr. reaches "Dondy" on 4 May. Meets John Campbell ("Camwel") at Jedwart, to whom he communicates the objects of his mission; sees there a hermit, John Scott, who has left a beautiful wife and children to live alone on bread and water, who sometimes, by the help of the B. Virgin, as he says, fasts for 40 days together; he refuses to return to his wife. Suavenius asks if it is true that there are trees in Scotland from which birds are produced; he is told it is undoubtedly true; those birds which fall from the trees into water become animated, but those which fall on the ground do not; the figures of birds are found in the heart of the wood of the trees, and on the root; the birds themselves (which are very delicate eating) do not generate. Scotland produces also a certain "delon natitilem" which goes from shore to shore with the ebb and flow of the sea. There is a place with a circuit of 8 miles in which cocks never crow. The bird called "gandt" only lays one egg at a time, which it nourishes under its foot. The Scots who inhabit the woods live like Scythians; they have no bread and live on raw venison. Near Edinburgh there is a volcanic mountain like Etna, which Suavenius saw; and in a neighbouring monastery is a place whence oil flows out. In Irish Scotland there is a place where the sun in summer is seen day and night. Near Dondy is an abbey within whose precincts for some six miles there is a countless number of entirely harmless serpents. Camwel tells him that in the Abbey of Jemoers (sic) (which is said to have an annual income of 15,000 crowns) a few days before the death of any monk a bell is heard to ring; then all go to confession, not knowing who it may be that is summoned. In this abbey there are columns of Scottish jasper, exceeding Suavenius' height and in thickness more than a cubit. Camwel tells him also that in England there is a noble family named Constable, who formerly received their fee from the King of the Danes; now annually at Christmas the oldest member of the family goes to the sea-side northwards, and cries out three times that if there is anyone who will receive the rent for the King of the Danes, he is ready to pay it; at last, tying a coin to an arrow he shoots it as far as possible into the sea. Camwel said that being once at Christmas-time at the house of Marmaduke Constable he saw this done, and that Marmaduke showed him the letters of grant of the fee which prescribed this ceremony, by non-observance of which the fee might be lost. Suavenius was himself told the same four years ago by Dr. Marmaduke Constable, who, however, said that it was a rose that was thrown into the sea, and that it was done on the feast of St. John Bapt. From every house in England that emits smoke money is paid which the English call "rycks pennyuck."

The Scottish messenger who had left Denmark with letters at least 14 days before Suavenius' departure did not arrive at Leith until the f. of Corpus Christi (27 May).

Conversations at Jedward and Edinburgh with the King of Scotland (James V.), the Chancellor, (the Archbishop of St. Andrew's)* and the Secretary, respecting the war between Denmark and Lubeck, and the hopes which are held out by the people of Lubeck to Hen. VIII. of his obtaining possession of Denmark for England. Suavenius asks, first, that Scottish mercenaries may be allowed to assist his King with ships, who will be paid wages, and will be allowed to appropriate as booty whatever they can get; secondly, that the King of Scotland will himself give naval assistance. But the only answers he can get are that one embassy shall be sent to the King of England to induce him to desist from his designs upon Denmark, and another to the Lubeckers to enquire their reasons, and if these are not satisfactory, then to require them to desist from injuring Denmark at the peril of war. No direct help can be given, or can be allowed to be given, while Christiern lives, unless the King of England should write word that he seeks to obtain Denmark because Lubeck offers it to him. Suavenius leaves Scotland greatly saddened and disappointed.

[1535.] Letter from Edmund Bonner to Suavenius.

"Candidissime mi Petre, salve plurimum. Gaudeo profecto quod in Angliam trajecturus es. Scribam literas quemadmodum hodie tibi eram pollicitus. Sed quo gratior sit tunc ad regem nostrum adventus, illud mihi admonendus es ut nobis tu ex consiliariorum principis tui sententiar espondeas quid faciendum decreverint circa restitutionem navium et bonorum que contra bonum et equum intercepta fuerunt. De qua re olim tecum tractavi. Omnino in articulo isto nobis est satisfaciendum. Nam alloqui princeps noster putabit vel nos delegatum nobis muus parum diligenter obiisse, aut principem vestrum honestam et equam

* The Chancellor asks Suavenius if he knows Alexander Moir; he answers yes, and that Moir is employed by his prince in his navy, which pleases the Chancellor, who commends Moir, and says that he is of a good family, and that he has constantly advocated the cause of King Frederick, and has been the means of preventing Christiern from obtaining help in Scotland.

Ut autem rem certius intelligas mitto ad te articulos per collegam meum,* ut ipse dicit, consiliariis principis tui propositos, quos velim mihi remitti cum ipsorum aliud non sit exemplar. Præterea hoc quoque peto ut, re cum domino Cancellario et aliis a consilio principi tuo communicata, rescribere non graveris quid in utroque articulo faciendum esse putaveritis. Mitto etiam nunc ad te capita eorum que collega meus in suo reditu mihi renunciavit ut tu illa consideres. Vale feliciter. Ex animo tuus Edmundus."

Addressed, "Charissimo amico domino Petro Suavenio. Cura ne res frivola seria et magna impediunt. Saluta dominum Cancellarium." [14 h.]

[1585.] The paper of "Capita" of Cavendish's observations, which was enclosed in the preceding letter, apostilled with marginal notes by Bonner.

- "Non debuit offendi quia non est factum. Collega meus mihi olim dixit quod princeps tuus offendebar in eo quod persuadebat sibi principem nostrum auxilium præbuisse inimicis suis.
- "Non violavit unquam. Item dixit principem tuum dixisse principem nostrum violasse fœdus ictum cum felicis recordationis Federico principe.
- "Ex quam nihili re suscitatur tragedia! Et olim tibi dixi quam inique et principi nostro et nobis impingitur crimen. Item quod postquam idem collega meus ostendisset principi tuo et commissionem et articulos una cum literis credentie, in initio recusabat legere, allegando per consiliarium suum dominum Wolf Powis quod predicta ad eum non pertinebant sed ad alios, propterea quod in eisdem non nominabatur Rex Daniæ, ac quod ex ea re graviter excanduit princeps tuus quasi princeps noster voluisset ei auferre titulum et jus suum, adeoque hoc indigne talit quod in initio tractandum de re alia non putavit quam de restitutione navium.
- "Quo pacto hoc possit fieri navibus et bonis non restitutis præsertim cum cessent servitia? Item quod quantum ad restitutionem navium voluit sic respondere nobis quod deberemus esse omni modo contenti.
- "Non numerata est pecunia; non exercebantur in usum belli; aliorum omnium navigia erant libera. Item quod pro defensione captionis ac retentionis navium allegabatur quedam consuetudo in Dania, quod princeps pro stipendio et pecunia sua potest capere et retinere naves quorumcunque tempore belli.
- "Profecto male nobiscum agitur si omnia in deteriorem partem interpretantur. Item dum tractabatur de pace inter principem tuum et Lubecenses, ob quam causam venimus et omnem nostram operam (quod utinam non fecissemus) obtulimus in ea parte obtulimus (sic), princeps tuus dicebat quod hoc potius petebatur in utilitatem inimicorum suorum quam in suum commodum.
- "Quomodo hoc constat, et in quem usum si esset factum, etc.? Item quod princeps tuus loquendo de Lubecensibus dicebat quod princeps noster mutuo illis dedisset centum milia angelorum.
- "Bene nobiscum convenit cum imperatore, etc. Item quod idem princeps loquendo de illis dicebat quod volebant inducere quendam lupum in Germaniam qui negotio hoc composito tam libenter vellet comedere Anglicanam ovem sicut bovem Danicum, exprimendo de Imperatore.
- "Nos nescimus quid fecerunt. Item quod dominus Cancellarius et dominus Wolf Powys loquentes de Lubecensibus dixerunt quod Albertus dux Meclenburgensis et comes de Oldenburge fecerunt fœdus cum domo Burgundie super traditione Copmanhaven et Elbowe, et quod sexaginta milia Joachinorum erant apud Bremam mittenda ad Copmanhaven cum Ambrosio Bokebynder.

"De plus petitionibus, penitere ego tanti non emam. Item quod princeps tuus loquendo de eisdem suppetiis et auxiliis att. . . te quod diucius implicitus esset istis bellis, poscebat tercentum milia angelotorum, pollicitus amicitiam et benevolentiam, una cum dictis insulis.

"Nihil timendus cum Imperator ambiat Regis nostri amicitiam, deinde stabilis et firmus est omnium in Anglia animus in hoc negotio et omnibus cum Rege nostro. Item quod princeps tuus videbatur nonnihil metuere principi nostro non solum ob Imperatorem sed etiam alios, presertim propter nuptias.

1536. 21 Jan. Gottorp. Long letter from Christian III. to Hen. VIII., signed and sealed, about the meeting of his envoy with Bishop Fox (of Hereford) at Smalcald, the grounds of the war with Lubeck, and the negotiations with the Emperor relative to the Danish succession. If the King of England will help him now, he will in a General Council help him in return against the Bishop of Rome, and will also secure the votes of the King of Sweden and the Dukes of Holstein. [16 a, b.]
Followed by a copy.

Same date. Six sets of credentials, signed by "Cristian" and sealed, for Peter Suavenius, addressed to King Henry, Cromwell, the Duke of Norfolk, the Earl of Wiltshire and Ormond, Bishop Gardiner of Winchester, and Bishop "Fachs" of Hereford. [16 c.]

[1536.] Articles of questions proposed by the English envoys at the first meeting at Smalcald to Mich. Rantzow, in German; with a copy (in the same hand of one of the envoys as some papers above) of his replies, in Latin, delivered to Bishop "Fachs." [14, g, r.]

1536. 1 March. Gottorp. Copy of a letter from Christian III. to Hen. VIII., respecting the detention of English ships; they have only been impressed, in accordance with old custom, to serve in the present war against Lubeck, and full compensation will be made for them when the war is over. [14 s.]

1536[-7]. 14 Feb. Greenwich. Hen. VIII. to Christ. III. The omission of the title of King in a former letter was accidental, and was not made with any idea of derogating from Christian's just right.

1537. 2 May. Greenwich. The same to the same, on behalf of Adam Sampson and Rob. Legge, who have been robbed of a ship called the Ann of Orowel. [18 a.]

1537. 20 June. Copenh. Christ. III. to Hen. VIII. The ship of Adam Sampson and Rob. Legge, about which Henry's envoy, Rich. Candish, made application, has at length been restored. He accepts the explanation of the mistake as to the style of address. [20 d.]

1537. 26 Aug. Copenh. Instructions prepared for a proposed second mission of Peter Suavenius to England and France after the surrender of Copenhagen and the termination of the war with Lubeck. Endorsed, "Redditæ non sunt." [17 a.]

Same date. Credentials addressed to King Henry, "Crumwell," and the Duke of "Norfock." Endorsed, "Redditæ non sunt." [17 b.]

1538. 5 May. "Amptoncorte." The same to the same, on behalf of Laurence Foulbery, with regard to a ship (the Matthew of Newcastle) seized at Copmanhavyn three years ago. [1b.]
1538. 6 May. Hamburg. Draft of a letter from Christ. to Henry, with respect to an alliance with the Evangelical Confederates. [20 c.]
1588. 30 Dec. Greenwich. Hen. VIII. to Christ. III., thanking him for recovering a ship of some London merchants, called the George Mowdy, from pirates. [18 a.]
- 1538[-9]. 25 Feb. Lond. Hen. VIII. to Christian III. Has received his letter of 10 Dec. with complaints on the part of some Icelanders of injuries sustained from some English subject, but couched in general terms, mentioning no particular persons, and consequently no answer can at present be given. Suspects the charges are fictitious; the right of the English to fish at Iceland is established by old custom; protests against the threat of reprisals. [18 a.]
- 1538[-9]. 5 March. Lond. Credentials from Hen. VIII., "reddita per doctorem Anthonium." [19 b.]
1539. 12 May. Othonia. Christian III. to Hen. VIII., acknowledging the letters delivered by the envoys [Dr. Rob. Barns and George St. Leger], and earnestly urging continued opposition to "falsam illam et fucosam ecclesiam" imposed on them by the Bishop of Rome. [19 d.]
- [1539.] Address to Christ. III., at an audience, by the English Ambassadors, Dr. Rob. Barns and George St. Leger, respecting the Emperor and Card. Pole.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

Regis Anglie domini nostri clementissimi, qui eo tempore in Hispaniis fuit, adiit Cesarem, rogavitque eum per amicitiam ac fidem que illi a multis retro seculis semper inviolata fuit cum Anglie Rege domino nostro, ne dignaretur audire illum proditorem Cardinalem et publicum hostem sui Regis. Cesar (ut videbatur) plus favere pontificiis improbis studiis quam Regis Anglie domini nostri clem. innocentie [dispositus?], legato Anglico ita respondit, se non posse denegare petitum colloquium legato sanctissimi domini sui Papæ, etiam si sciret legatum ipsum sue Majest. esse proditorem. Reginus legatus, certo sciens Papam cum suo Cardinale aliquid moliri contra Regiam Majestatem Anglie, perurgebat apud Cesarem, etiam ad[d]itis justis et legitimis rationibus, ne audiretur proditor et publicus hostis Regis. Cesar ipse commotus iratior respondit, se longe justius posse audire sanctissimi domini Pape legatum quam Rex Anglie audire oratores Regis Danie. pretensi, qui non tantum male de religione sentiret, sed etiam regnum sui fratris vi et armis occuparet, atque ipsum legitimum Regem in vinculis captivum detineret. Ex quibus verbis serenissimus Rex Anglie dominus noster clementissimus judicavit animum Cesaris nonnihil exulceratum atque commotum contra Regiam Majest. vestram. Duxit igitur non alienum esse ab officio amici si admoneret v. regiam M. hujus Cesariani odii. Neque dubitat dominus noster quam regia M. vestra pro sua magna prudentia videat quorsum ista dicta Cesaris evadant. Preterea Rex Anglie dominus noster clementissimus jussit nobis ut significaremus v. regie M. se non abhorre ab amicitia v. neque recusat se conjungere regie M. v. contra omnes papistas in omnem eventum ad conservationem Cristiane nostre religionis et defensionem publice pacis, si regia M. v. per suos oratores obtulerit S[erenissimo] domino nostro Regi Anglie justas et equabiles condiciones federis. Rex enim se offert et secundarum et adversarum quarumcunque rerum constantissimum affore sotium. Obtestatur itaque maxime ut regia M. v. ei significare velit per oratores vestros que sibi potissimum videntur agenda, et que maxime ad communia negotia conducant. Hec sunt mandata que nobis S. rex Anglie dominus noster clementissimus commisit exponenda. Nolumus longa oratione detinere regiam M. v. presertim cum non dubitemus regiam M. v. pro sua maxima sapientia consideraturam esse quantum ad communem tranquillitatem et ad propagationem purioris doctrine profutura sit amicitia et auctoritas serenissimi regis Anglie domini nostri clementissimi."

1539. 18 May. Hadersleben. Copy of the reply of the King of Denmark to the preceding representation. The Elector of Saxony and the Landgrave of Hesse, who are at the head of the Evangelical Confederates, must be consulted. P.S. "Prætermisimus in tractatu responsi quod vel maxime annotatum oportuit;" earnestly begs the King of England to consider that if he will unite himself to the Evangelical Princes the work of throwing off the yoke of the Roman Pontiff will be happily accomplished. Same date. Recredentials of the English envoys. [1b.]

1539. 25 June. Westm. Hen. VIII. to Christ. III. Has received two letters from him. Will gladly receive ambassadors, trusting that they will come fully instructed as to the conditions of a treaty. [20 b.]

[Not dated.] "Articuli tractandi in Anglia." The King of Denmark desires the loan of "quingenta milia angelotorum" to resist expected invasion, which shall be repaid in six years; will ask, if necessary, the Elector of Saxony and Landgrave of Hesse to become securities. Offers his services to remove the misunderstandings between England and France. [19 d.]

Landgrave of Hesse; knows not why he has not as yet returned; as soon as he does will send a reply to Barns at Hamburg, or, if he has left that city, will then forward it direct to England. [19 d.]

The same in German.

1539. 17 Aug. Draft of a letter from the same to Henry VIII. His secretary returned two days ago from the Elector of Saxony and Landgrave of Hesse. They will gladly send envoys to treat of a league with Denmark and England, if the place of meeting be either Bremen or Hamburg; if the King of England cannot agree to this the King of Denmark will then send envoys to England. [20 a.]
1539. 10 Oct. Amptoncorte. Hen. VIII. to Christ. III. in reply to the preceding. Cannot send to Bremen or Hamburg; will willingly treat in England if envoys are sent. [20 bb.]
With a German translation.
- 1539[–40]. 20 March. Amptoncorte. Second letter from Hen. VIII. to Christ. III. in behalf of Laurence Foulbery. [18 c.]
- [Not dated.] Draft of a reply from Christ. III. to the preceding. There is no proof that anything was taken by any of his subjects. The armament of the ship was seized by the Count of Oldenburgh, was used in battle against the King of Denmark, and was captured as a prize. [18 a.]
- [1540?] Draft of a letter from the same, recommending Capt. James de Norenbergk for military service under the King of England. [18 b.]
1544. 20 Aug. Boulogne. Letters patent of Hen. VIII., ratifying an article for comprehension of England in the treaty between the Emperor Charles and Christiern, King elect of Denmark, of 23 May, for defensive alliance against Scotland. [21 a.]
1544. 29 Aug. Boulogne. Hen. VIII. to King Christiern. Sends Will. Harvy with the ratification of the article of comprehension. [21 b.]
1546. 31 Dec. Greenwich. The same to the same. Sends, at the request of the Count Palatine Frederick, Richard Morisin as his delegate to the conference to be held in the city of Holstein ("Holsaciæ"), in order to compose the differences between the Count and King Christian. [21 c.]
1548. 22 July. Amptoncorte. Edw. VI. to Christ. III., acknowledging two letters of 7 Dec. and 30 March; has ordered inquiry to be made respecting the complaints of the Icelanders made through Andrew Bilde, the consul at Hel-signor. [1 c.]
1548. 13 Oct. Oteland. The same to the same, acknowledging two letters of 21 and 26 Aug. The complaints of injuries are too general, affording no particulars and no proofs; the injuries are probably due to Scotch and French pirates, especially the former, who infest the northern seas. [Ib.]

1549. 10 Sept. Westm. The same to the same, acknowledging letters of 8 June and 10 and 16 July; has ordered strict inquiry to be made into the matters complained of, although the complaints are made with more vehemency than is consistent with friendship; will shortly send an ambassador, since letters have been misunderstood. [Ib.]
1549. 2 Oct. Hampton Corut (sic). The same to the same. Inquiry has been made into the two complaints preferred by Christian's messenger, Thomas Hamelthon; Walter Jobson has given satisfaction for the goods of Alex. Lyell, which came to his hands out of the ship called de Oule; Will. Jonson, complained against by Paul Romer, has lately been taken at sea by the Flemings, and is now a prisoner at Camphieres. No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

A long Series of Letters from Queen Elizabeth:—

1. 1559. 9 Oct. Westm. To Fred. II., acknowledging a complimentary letter of 27 Aug. [2 a.]
2. 1560. 20 Jan. Westm. To the same, replying to a letter of 27 Dec., complaining of the English customs duties; they are the same as those imposed by Queen Mary. [Id.]
3. 1562. 28 March. To the same, asking for safe passage to Dantzic for Tho. Alan, who is sent to procure materials for the English navy. [2 d.]
4. 1563. 9 Nov. Windsor. To the same, replying to two letters of 20 Sept. Much grieved at the account of the rash audacity of a certain young Englishman; if she had him here, she would show how she values the King's friendship. Much grieved also at the variance between Denmark and Sweden. The cause of Henry Billingshusen, who is accused of having carried away from Norway a ship of Amsterdam, will be fully tried. Copy. [2 a.]
5. 1563 [an. vi.]. 15 Dec. Windsor. To the same, on behalf of a ship belonging to Will. Peterson, Franc. and Geo. Chatfeilde, and Tho. Leuesham, merchants of London, captured by a Swedish vessel. [Id.]
6. 1564. 6 Apr. Windsor. To the same. Has received the two letters addressed to her by the King of Sweden, which had been intercepted by the King of Denmark's captains; it is very plain from them what the King of Sweden desires, but would not have cared if the letters had reached her safely and her answer had been intercepted. Has no idea of helping either side in their private quarrel. With regard to the marriage which the King of Sweden has long urged, it is very evident how averse she is to it; nevertheless she owns she is bound in gratitude and friendship to him for the honourable proposals he made, but regrets that his counsellors have not more carefully negotiated his marriage with the daughter of the Landgrave of Hesse. Has written to the judge who is to hear the case of the Danish captain Henry Billingshaven, to report how it may be best settled. [Id.]
7. 1564. 5 May. Richmond. To the same, respecting a complaint that English ships under pretence of trading to Dantzic carry supplies to Sweden. [Id.]
8. 1564. 24 Sept. St. James's. To the same, complaining that one Thomas Valentine, going to Sweden to endeavour to recover a debt due to merchants in London for money borrowed by Dion. Borrhæus and Nic. Guildenstern, has been detained at Copenhagen, although going by her authority and provided with her letters. [Id.]
9. 1565. 5 May. Westm. To the same. Asks safe passage to Dantzic for four ships laden with English cloth and rabbit-skins, which she is sending with Tho. Alen, merchant, to obtain materials for the navy. [2 d.]
10. 1565. 7 May. Westm. To the same. Complains of the excessive charges (four thalers) levied on each piece of English cloth; his late ambassador, Albert Knopper, knows how unjustly the merchants are dealt with. [Id.]
11. 1565. 26 Dec. Westm. To the same. Billingshusen has absconded before the termination of his lawsuit, having first sold two-thirds of the goods in dispute; nullity of the arguments claiming, from certain articles in the treaties, that his case should be tried in Denmark. Complains of the continued injustice shown to Will. Peterson, a London merchant, and others. [Id.]
12. 1565[–6]. 17 Jan. Westm. To the same. Has received his letter by Albert Knopper. Opposes his proposal to close the Baltic in order that the King of Sweden may not receive supplies. [Id.]
13. 1565[–6] an. 8. 16 March. Greenwich. To the same. Asks for safe-passage, in this time of war, for nine merchant-ships (of which a list is added) going to the Hanse Towns and elsewhere. Sends this letter by Christopher Hodesdon, merchant of London, being a duplicate of one written 4 Dec. which may not yet have reached him “continua hac cœli et ventorum sævitia.” [Id.]

[1565–6. Two letters to King Eric of Sweden; see post, p. 47.]

24 APPENDIX II. TO THE FORTY-FIFTH REPORT OF THE

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

14. 1566. 22 Apr. Greenwich. To Fred. II. Has received from his ambassador, Alb. Knopper, LL.D., his letter of 26 Jan. Cannot any longer delay the having satisfaction for the injuries inflicted on English merchants; desires that it may be fully given within four months from this time; whoever wrote the King's unprecedented letter of 14 Oct. last audaciously falsified the words of the treaties which he quoted. [Ib.]
15. 1566. 5 May. Greenwich. To the same. A similar letter to that of 5 May 1565, on behalf of Tho. Alan. [Ib.]
16. 1566[–7]. 20 March. To the same. A similar letter to the preceding. [Ib.]
17. 1567[–8]. 2 Feb. To the same, to the same effect. [Ib.]
18. 1568.* 30 Apr. Westm. To the same, complaining of the heavy duties levied at the Sound. [Ib.]
19. 1568. 14 May. Greenwich. To the same, in answer to a letter of 19 March, complaining that two of her subjects, named Sigfrid and Preston, are preparing in England a fleet of 13 vessels to help Sweden, and that she has given them leave. There is no such person as Sigfrid in England; Preston (who has served the King of Sweden from his boyhood) was here some months ago, but nothing is known of his business; if he, or anyone else, be found attempting what is said, exemplary punishment shall be inflicted. [Ib.]
(Up to this date the letters are in the handwriting of Ascham.)
20. 1571 [an. 13]. 15 March. Greenwich. To the same, complaining of the "Lastgelt" exacted at the Sound. [12 c.]
21. 1571[–2, an. 14]. 14 March. Westm. To the same. Asks for restoration of a ship of Tho. Boldnes, a London merchant, which has been recovered from a pirate named David Thomas by the Danish fleet.† [2 d.]
22. 1576. 27 June. To the same, in reply to a letter from him of 5 March (erroneously described as being dated 5 May) respecting unlicensed trading and fishing on the part of the English. [3 c.]
With this are copies of the King's letter of 5 March, and of a rejoinder from him dated 4 Nov.
23. 1577 [an. 19]. 11 Jan. Hampton. To the same, in reply to his letter of 4 Nov. Cannot, after the most diligent search in all the archives, find a trace of that treaty with Edw. IV. which he quoted as forbidding trading to Iceland, Heligoland, and Finmark.‡ Will send commissioners to Embden, as proposed, on 15 May next. [Ib.]
24. 1577. 11 Apr. Westm. To the same, thanking him for giving leave for trading with Russia during the summer of that year, pending the negotiations. [3 a, b.]
25. 1577. 29 Oct. Windsor. German translation of a letter to the same, about the King of Navarre and the affairs of religion in France. [France, 33.]
With a Germ. transl. of Frederick's answer, dated Christmas Day.
26. 1579. 22 May. Westm. To the same, about merchants' complaints; asks his sanction for a proposed company of merchants trading to the north, for which a charter is desired from her. [4 a, b.]
27. 1579. 22 Oct. Greenwich. To the same, about the case of his subject, Paul Whitfeld, which has been well urged by his messenger but her subject, Thomas Tennekor. [Ib.]

* In Trechow's "Contributions to the Hist. of Queen Eliz., derived from the Danish State Archives," 8vo. Lond. 1871, reference is made (p. 28) to two letters from the Queen of the dates of 30 March and 4 May in this year, pressing the extradition of the Earl of Bothwell. These have not been met with in the English series, and are probably to be found among the Scottish papers, which have not yet been examined.

† This letter is followed in the bundle by a list of 20 culverins, minions, falcons, and falconets, 280 cannon balls, and two demi-culverins, supplied from England to the King of Denmark, at the total price of 163*l.*

‡ See under 1466 and 1466, supra.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

28. 1579[–80, ms. 22]. 4 March. Westm. To the same. Has at his request, but at great sacrifice, forbidden the trading to Nerva during his war with Russia. [Ib.]
29. 1580. 11 Apr. Westm. To the same, asking leave for a ship to go to Nerva to procure the release of a ship and crew seized last year by the Russians. [Ib.]
30. 1580. 28 May. Westm. To the same, desiring free passage for the merchants who have settled at Elbing. [Ib.]
[1580. 10 June. Colding. German translation of a reply from Fred. to a letter of 19 Apr.] [France, 33.]
31. 1580. 6 Aug. Oatland. To Fred. II. Sends John Rogers, LL.D., to notify his election as a Knight of the Garter. [4 a, b.]
32. 1580. 10 Aug. Oatland. To the same, asking sanction and protection for merchants who are obliged to leave the Hanse Towns on account of the unjust demands there made, and who desire to settle at Jextahowe and Krampen, in Holstein. [Ib.]
33. 1582. 10 Apr. Copy of letter to the same, about the claim of the English to freedom of commerce with Russia, which in no way interferes with Danish commerce or rights. [5 a.]
- 34, 35. 1582. 21 May, 24 June. Greenwich. To the same, about his investiture with the Garter, for which she sends Peregrine Lord Willoughby and Eresby and Sir Gilbert Dethick. [4 a, b.]
With translations into German, and copies of various letters, &c., of the King thereupon; and accounts by Caspar Paselick, in Germ. and Lat., of conferences with Lord Willoughby about English merchants.
36. 1582. [17] June. Greenwich. Complimentary letter to Queen Sophia of Denmark. [Ib.]
37. 1582. 19 Dec. Windsor. To Fred. II., asking that, pending the final settlement of questions about the Sound dues, various concessions may be made, including the cessation of the exaction of a thirtieth part, which was imposed in consequence of the war with Sweden. [12 c.]
38. Same date. To the same, about the plundering of a ship which had been frozen up all the preceding winter, and about the trade with Russia. [4 c.]
39. 1583. — April. Richmond. To the same, about the trade with Russia. [Ib.]
40. 1583. 10 May. Greenwich. To the same, accrediting John Herbert to treat about the Russian trade and the excessive tolls. [Ib.]
41. 1583. 13 July. Greenwich. To the same, about the case of Henry Seckford, accused of piracy. [Ib.]
Followed by a notice of proceedings in the case.
42. 1583. 21 Sept. Oatland. To the same, about defrauding of the dues at Elsinore by Cpts. Nich. Carnaby and Will. Michelson. [Ib.]
43. 1583. 6 Oct. Oatland. To the same, commending to him [Jacques] Securis de Pardillan, who comes to him as ambassador from the King of Navarre. [France, 33.]
With a German translation.
44. 1583. 12 Oct. St. James's. To the same. Sends a ratification of the agreement made by John Herbert, with an explanation added of some points which were left doubtful, and which might otherwise breed fresh controversy. Had waited until now for the return of Secretary Walsingham from Scotland, but hears that he is delayed by a fall from his horse. Complains of the excessive dues levied on merchandise which is simply transported through Denmark. [4 c.]
45. Same date. i. The ratification mentioned in the preceding letter of a treaty for the liberty of trade to the port of St. Nicholas in Muscovy during the lives of King Fred. and Queen Eliz. ii. Letters patent authorizing the Society of Merchants to make the annual payment of 100 rose nobles (agreed to be paid to the King of Denmark) at their discretion in thalers; the payment to be due only in those years in which they have made a voyage to Muscovy. Beautifully written, with gilded initials; the Great Seal enclosed in a gold box, with the arms of England engraved thereon. [25 a.]

46. 1584. 18 Apr. Westm. To Fred. II., in reply to a letter of congratulation received through his envoy Matthias Bud on the suppression of [Throckmorton's] conspiracy, which was discovered at once by the confession of its very author. Had hitherto been too lenient in the treatment of those ravening wolves, the Jesuits, who are sent everywhere by the Roman Pontiff to continue plots against the lives of religious princes, and by whom great disturbances have been excited in Ireland. Bud (who is a man of approved fidelity, prudence, and virtue) has informed her of Frederick's readiness to assist her with his forces both by land and sea; he will tell the King by word of mouth all that he desires to know about the Queen of Scots. [4 d.]

[1585. 4 July. Cronenburgh. Copy of a circular letter (in German) from Fred. II. to the Protestant Princes of Germany, embodying the proposals brought by Bodley in the letter of 27 Apr. from Queen Elizabeth for a meeting of Protestant deputies.

Followed by copies of replies. [Ib.]

52. 1585. 8 July. Greenwich. To Fred. II. Has received by Henry Kirkman, an Englishman, his four letters of inquiry and congratulation respecting the recent conspiracy; had already sent Thomas Bodley for other reasons, who is sufficiently informed hereon, but attaches to this letter "schedulam aut libellum in quo totius rei gestæ series continetur."* Has no suspicion with regard to the embassy from Denmark to Scotland. Knowing, from Lord Willoughby, that the King takes delight in hunting with bloodhounds, she sends some which she charged the Earl of Leicester to select; if they are not as good as she hopes, it will be the Earl's fault, not hers.
- (P.S.)—Kirkman deserves no commendation from her; if he had not been the bearer of the King's letters, the bands of the law would have now kept him here; what sort of a man he is, and how he had behaved before, will be understood by the letters of her secretary to the King's chancellor. [2 c.]

A German translation of this letter is in the bundle marked 4 b.

53. 1585. 13 July. Greenwich. To the same. Will severely punish those who are said at the island of Thule to have attacked the inhabitants, if they are found guilty.

Ordinance of the Council, on the same day, that public warning be given at all the ports from which ships go to the north, that no violence be perpetrated against the subjects of the King of Denmark, and that bond to this effect be given by the owners and captains of the ships.

54. 1585. 5 Sept. Nonsuch. To Fred. II. Is greatly gratified by the request of the city of Flensburg that the English merchants will make settlement there; has referred it to the company of Eastland merchants, who, while they perceive that the city is well situated with regard to the Baltic trade, fear that neighbouring ports are rendered unsuitable by quick-sands, and that the difficulties of land-carriage will be great; they will therefore write to make inquiries on these points. 55. 1585. 5 Nov. Richmond. To Fred. II., in reply to the preceding delivered by Corfitz Grubbe. Has commissioned Lord Willoughby (who, as she understands, is now in Denmark) to communicate fully with him. He will learn more about Kirkman from her secretary's letter to the chancellor; she does not wish to hurt the man, whose disgraceful conduct ("indecora") may perhaps be owing to his youth. Thanks the King for having authorised the translation of the book "de Parriana proditione" into Latin and German. [Id. (17).]

56. 1585[-6] an 28. 3 Jan. Greenwich. To Fred. II. Thanks him for offers of help by sea and land, and even of his own personal assistance, communicated through Lord Willoughby. Has been driven by the fruitlessness of appeals to the King of Spain at length to measures of self-defence and that of the Confederates; and desires the help of the King in two special ways. First, what number of ships can he supply, and when? for although it is believed that the English can drive the Spaniards from the whole ocean if alone, yet as they are procuring aid from Italy and Venice, it is needful for the English also to get assistance from their friends. Secondly, whereas the customary free passage through the Straits of Dover is now allowed to the Hanse Towns only on condition of their not thereby supplying munitions of war and provisions to the Spaniards, and those Towns are in consequence carrying their contraband traffic round the Orkneys and the west of Ireland, the King is desired to prohibit their passage by Oresund during the ensuing summer.

The King of Spain also consents to negotiation, of whose letter (brought by an envoy who was despatched to him by the King of Denmark on 1 Apr., and returned, after a perilous journey, at the end of Sept.) a copy is now sent to her; but he, with regard to religion, proposes conditions diametrically opposite to those of the Queen. Desires her answer as to the continuance of negotiation]. [9.]

58. [1586-7. 28 Feb.?] To Fred. II. on the execution of Mary, Queen of Scots :—

"Serenissime Princeps et Frater charissime, Quoniam per nobilem virum qui has perfert, aut etiam antequam ille in Daniæ regnum forte venerit, de Scotiæ Reginæ nece famem volaturam suspicamur, ea res quemadmodum gesta sit Serenitati vestræ vere et fideliter apperendam duximus. Ea Regina in quantis criminibus de necis nostræ non semel sed sæpius iterata machinatione et status nostri eversione deprehensa sit, Serenitatem vestram audivisse non dubitamus. Quod ipsius Reginæ multis literis, secretariorumque ejus confessione, multorumque in necem nostram ejus mandato conjuratorum testimoniis, evidentissime comprobatum est. Ac conjuratos illos totam illam machinationem statim cum caperentur atque etiam cum supplicio traderentur palam confitentes, debitis pœnis leges affecerunt.

"Reginam vero vitæ nostræ quotidie struentem insidias trium statum nostrorum auctoritas, quod Parliamentum vocant, justissimo judicio neci condempnavit, qui sæpe nos iteratis precibus defatigarunt ut eam potius meritæ neci traderemus quam perpetuo dum illa viveret cum suis emissariis de nostra vita dimicaremus, simul etiam plane nobis edicentes nullam humano ingenio rationem iniri posse qua (illa salva) nos salvæ esse possemus. Eam tamen supplicio tradere propter sanguinis conjunctionem nunquam sustinuimus, sed diploma tantum intimorum rogatu manu rebellio ejus Reginæ causa in perniciem nostram excitata esset. Hoc diploma secretario cuidam nostro custodiendum dedimus, graviter interdicentes ne cuiquam id enunciaret, aut quicquam in ea re nobis non prius consultis ageret. Quod ille prorsus negligens (habita cum consiliariis nostris nonnullis consultatione) præcipiti festinatione nobis insciis executioni mandavit, qui tamen nunc ita se excusant se esse veritos ne nimia nostra clementia nobis ipsis exitium acceleraremus.

"Ita præter nostram voluntatem hujus secretarii temeritate Regina illa (quanquam, quod negari non potest, nocentissima), nobis, Deum testatur, nihil tale suspicantibus, morti tradita est. Secretarium tamen illum propter manifestum mandati nostri contemptum in Turrim conjecimus, ut ad amussim inexpectati nobis facti rationem reddat.

"Quod hiis literis Serenitati vestræ testari voluimus, non quod vereamur ne hujus Reginæ supplicium nobis imputetur, quod et justissime exequi potuimus, et si periculi nostri duntaxat rationem habuissemus certe debuimus, sed ut rei ordinem vere et sincere pro sororio nostro animo intelligeret nec quicquam nobis in vita hoc uno facto acerbius contigisse. Iterum Deum Optimum Maximum precamur ut Serenitati vestræ omnia fausta ac felicia largiatur. Datum ut in literis.

Elizabeth R."

Endorsed, "R. Scanderb. 23 Martii anno, &c. 87." [11.]

It appears from this endorsement that the letter referred to for the date, which this document accompanied, is the following letter of 28 Feb. For that is accompanied by Leicester's letter of 5 March (p. 38), which bears the same endorsement. A singular error was made in the letter by the secretary who wrote it (and who, possibly from agitation while engaged on it, made two other blunders in its course); for instead of "inexpectati facti" he at first wrote "expectati," and then, neatly crossing out this word, substituted the other!

The letter is printed in Treschow's "Contributions to the History of "Queen Eliz., derived from the Danish State Archives," 8vo. Lond. 1871, pp. 33-36 (where reference is made to an earlier publication of it in a Danish magazine in 1823), but there are many mistakes and the omission of a whole line in his copy; and he says that the letter in which this was enclosed does not exist in the Danish archives.

The execution is mentioned with great satisfaction by Lord Willoughby, p. 45 infra.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

59. 1586[-7] an. 29. 28 Feb. Greenwich. To Fred. II., acknowledging his letter of 28 Oct. about his offer of mediation with Spain, which she gladly accepts, finding from the letter of the King of Spain to him (of which a German copy has been shown her by à Wens) that he is willing on his part to entertain it. Fears that the difficulties, however, can hardly be obviated, since she claims liberty of conscience and the free exercise of religion in Flanders, while the King of Spain will tolerate no religion but that of Rome. "Sapienter certe Carolus quintus, hujus Regis Hispani pater, cum tota Germania seditionibus, tumultu et intestinis bellis propter religionis dissidium laboraret, promulgato edicto de utriusque religionis exercitio Catholicorum et Protestantium tolerando, bella et lites omnes e vestigio consopivit. Hoc Edictum ab eo usque tempore firmissimum omnium juditio tam diuturnæ pacis Germanica (sic) vinculum habetur. Nec id mirum cuiquam videri debet, cum nos qui Reformatam religionem profitemur in Christianæ fidei articulis cum his qui se Catholicos vocari volunt præclare conveniamus, errorum quorundam et ceremoniarum inutilium quæ per Romanorum Pontificum incuriam et ambitionem irrepserunt, et Dei Ecclesiam turpiter defædarent, quasi nube detracta. Erit itaque iniquissimum si Rex Hispanus subditos suos, eos potissimum qui in sincera hac religione enutriti et educati sunt, nec aliam unquam cognoverunt aut didicerunt, ferro et flammis propter conscientiam solum libertatem persequi velit." Desires that the King of Denmark will choose some safe place for meeting, on the confines of the United Provinces, and will send commissioners as soon as she hears of the consent of the King of Spain to do the like. 61. 1587. 17 May. Nonesuch. To Fred. II., respecting the detention of some ships and confiscation of their cargoes at Elsinor, as reprisals for the injury done to a Danish subject by Piper, who, with his confederates, has been imprisoned in England. [12 c.]
[1587. 14 May. Colding. Copy of letter from Fred. II. to Queen Eliz. Fears that unless both sides will consent to some modification of their conditions, negotiation will be useless; but is prepared to send his envoys for meeting at Embden on 27 Aug. if he hears that England and Spain consent.] [11.]
62. 1587. 14 June. Greenwich. Reply of Queen Eliz. to the preceding. Fears that Embden is too far distant both from her and from the Duke of Parma for the necessary speedy inter-communication; as the Duke has left the choice of place and time to her, will carefully look for some place where the envoys will be safely and honourably received. Has written to the United Provinces to demand that those who ill-treated King Frederick's messenger when lately passing through the country on his way to the Duke of Parma shall be severely punished. [11.]
[1587. 17 July. Logagger. Copy of the reply of King Frederick. Desires to know speedily the Queen's determination as to the proposed negotiation, and the time and place. Cannot send to any place in Flanders, as ministers lately sent thither on this business returned having barely escaped with their lives from the hands of the soldiers of both parties.] [11.]
[1587. Same date. The same to the Duke of Parma on the same subject. In German.] [11.]
63. 1587. 23 Aug. Oatland. The Queen to Fred. II. Received his letter of 18 [sic] July on 17 Aug. Earnestly desires peace. Has agreed with the Duke of Parma that the place of meeting shall be near Bergen-up-son, of which city Lord Willoughby is governor; here the Danish envoys will be sure of safety, as the whole country round is under the government of the Earl of Leicester. The time is fixed for Michaelmas, and before 20 Sept. safe-conducts shall be sent to Embden from herself, the Earl of Leicester, and the States General; she will also ask for the same from the Duke of Parma. 64. 1587. 18 Sept. Oatland. To Fred. II., accrediting Daniel Rogers, the Secretary to the Privy Council. [12 a.]
65. 1587[-8] an. 30. 28 Feb. Greenwich. To Fred. II. Thanks him for the letter received from Alex. Durham (who is the bearer of this), and for the offer of mediation with the King of Scotland. There was no such hostile contention with the latter as rumour reported, but only, because border inroads were being made (as often happens), means were taken to restrain these, and the King of Scotland resolved, as became a just prince, to punish the offenders. There is no need therefore of an embassy to Scotland. [12 a.]
66. [Same date?] To the same. It is the fault of the United Provinces that his ambassadors have not yet been summoned to the conference about peace with Spain, for they have sent no answer as yet on their part. Has now sent her own ambassadors into Brabant without waiting longer, lest the Duke of Parma should think himself trifled with. "Datum ut in literis." [qu. the preceding?] [12 a.]

68. 1588. 13 June. Greenwich. To Christian IV., on the death of his father, and accrediting Dan. Rogers. [12 a.]
69. Same date. To the Dowager Queen Sophia, to the same effect. [12 a.]
70. Same date. To Nich. Kaas, Chancellor, and the Council of Denmark, to the same effect. [12 a.]
The last two are in the handwriting of D. Rogers.
71. 1588. 5 Nov. Richmond. To Christian IV. The Hanseatic League desires that their controversies about their privileges in England should be referred to foreign tribunals for decision, to which she can never allow such authority; this the Emperor saw, who wrote last year from Prague to the Syndic of Lubeck, urging moderation, and the abstaining from pressing the extreme letter of their privileges. But ambassadors who have lately come from them are so far from listening to the Emperor that they recede from the very conditions proposed by the Alderman of the Steel-yard only a year ago; and (although it can be proved that nothing is due to them here), have obstinately rejected a proposal that, pending a settlement of the question, they shall enjoy the same rights in England as English subjects provided reciprocal privileges be extended to Englishmen in their cities. As they have consequently begun to talk of uniting with the enemies of England, and may possibly endeavour to stigmatize the English commerce, established at Antwerp for more than a hundred years, as a monopoly, by which they very nearly procured the expulsion of the English from the Empire, the Queen therefore requests the King to write to the four cities and to Hamburg according as will be signified to his Chancellor by the bearer of this letter. [6.]
72. 1589. 29 June. Nonsuch. To Christian IV. Harloff Daa, a Dane of noble birth, came into England two years ago, with his wife Wenekina Williamsaa, a Dutch woman; but very soon deserted her, alleging that he had never been legally married, whereas his only real reason is that her rank, her family being merchants, is not equal to his own. The Archbishop of Canterbury having examined the case found the marriage was legal, and that it had been examined in Denmark by King Fred. II. and approved by sentence in the King's consistory; but meanwhile Daa had returned to Denmark, leaving his wife behind him. Desires therefore that he will cause the parties to be re-united, more especially because before the husband left England a daughter was born who strongly resembles him. "Certo conjux generis sui tenuitatem morum nobilitate et lepore com-pensare videtur." [12 b.]
73. 1589. 15 July. Nonsuch. To Christian IV., in reply to a letter urging the return of the English Merchant Adventurers to their settlement at Hamburg. Sends a Declaration by which he will see that they only left on account of the harsh treatment they met with; but as the people of Hamburg have written to express their regret, and have also lately decidedly rejected the solicitations of agents of the Duke of Parma to join Spain against England, she will take into consideration the means of satisfying the King and them herein. 92. 1592. 24 Oct. Hampton Court. To the same. The negotiations commenced by Paul Knibbe have unhappily been broken off by his death, and his family do not wish to prosecute them, but only desire to return home. [12 c.]
93. 1593. 22 Dec. Hampton Court. To the same. Had resolved in consequence of his repeated appeals on behalf "Viti Hansii," whose ship was plundered in the expedition to Portugal, to do something for his relief; but in the course of enquiry it appeared that five lasts of wheat were falsely sworn to be his which really belonged to one John Martens of Hamburgh; instead, therefore, of compensating Hans, she hopes the King will inflict upon him a punishment meet "pro sceleris atrocitate." 94. 1595. 12 Nov. Richmond. To the same. As the King of Spain is preparing to make war upon England with an immense fleet next year, she requests that he will (in accordance with the well-known purpose of his father), firstly, prevent any of his subjects from furnishing ships to Spain, and, secondly, lend to her eight of his largest vessels. 95. 1596[–7] an. 39. 17 March. Westm. To Christian IV. Has received his envoy Nich. Theopholi (sic). The complaints made by Danish subjects are made with like bitterness and like desire to proceed to extremities by many in England; it is the part of wise princes to restrain the ill-considered and one-sided importunities of the ignorant people. Hopes that her commissioners have agreed upon a settlement of the controversies with his envoy. [13.]
96. 1597. 24 Apr. Westm. To Christian IV. Another letter on behalf of John Stokes, whose fishing trade, after being carried on without interruption for 20 years, is now obstructed by the imposition of new charges imposed by new officers. [12 c.]
97. 1597. 25 Sept. Richmond. To the same. Has conferred with his envoys Arnold Witfeld and Christian Barnekou on the points submitted by them, and has referred these to her Council to be fully discussed and answered in writing. [12 c.]
98. 1597. 18 Nov. Westm. To the same. Another letter on behalf of the wife of Harloff Daa who has returned to England in great distress, representing that when her case was about to come on for hearing in Denmark she was robbed of many letters and documents on which she relied; begs therefore that the King will examine her case and do what is right.

107. 1599. 20 Dec. Richmond. To the same. Has received two letters, the first, dated 30 Oct., by her servant Stephen Lesieur, the second, dated 1 Nov., by his messenger Holst, and is disappointed at their contents, in which too little regard seemed to be had either to equity or good will. Consents to his proposal that commissioners from both parties shall be appointed for conference at next Easter; but suggests that Embden will be a better place for their meeting than Bremen. (20.)

Ferrers and Steph. Lesieur. Proposes a meeting of commissioners at Bremen; agrees afterwards to the substitution of Embden.] [2 c.]
108. 1600 an. 42. 19 Feb. Richmond. To Christ. IV., complaining of interference with deep-sea fishing, which is by the law of nations free to all. (2 c.)
109. 1600 an. 42. 9 March. Richmond. To Christ. IV. Their Commissioners should be prepared to meet at Embden about 23 March. [P.S.] Her Commissioners represent to her that it will be difficult for them to cross over, on account of the severity of the weather, before the end of this month; they ask therefore that the day of meeting may be postponed to 15 Apr. Endorsed "R. Fridericoburgi, 9 Apr." Sent by the hands of a Danish messenger, Brokenhows.
110. 1602. 10 Apr. Richmond. To the same. Wrote in 1599 of the complaints of people of Hull of their ships having been seized while fishing in a place in the North Sea never before prohibited; hoped that then all occasions of dispute would have been removed by the conference agreed to be held at Embden in 1600, which was postponed to 15 Apr. on account of the unusual severity of the weather; the King of Denmark himself proposing that those who arrived first should wait for the others. But when her Commissioners arrived on 10 May they found his on the point of sailing, saying that the time allotted to them had elapsed [see p. 55]. Now she sends Stephen Lesieur, one of the gentlemen of her bedchamber, to press the case of the people of Hull and others. [2 c.]

111. 1602. 15 July. Greenwich. To Christ. IV. Agrees to his proposal for a conference; agrees to Bremen as the place, the day of meeting to be 25th of Sept., but the Commissioners not to be limited to time in case their arrival be delayed by contrary winds. Dwells on the importance of sending Commissioners well qualified by their regard to the rules of justice rather than of expediency and profit, by rank, experience, and acquaintance with international law, and not attached to the Spanish faction. 112. 1602. 16 July. Greenwich. To the same. Hears that it is threatened that the first merchant ships which reach Oresund will be detained in pledge for compensation for a ship of Copenhagen lately plundered by John Ward of Plymouth. If in this time of war with a powerful enemy her ships do any violence to those of friends, she will inflict punishment and exact satisfaction. Trusts that those of her subjects who were about to proceed on their voyage may now do so in safety, relying on her interposition on their behalf, pending enquiry into the matter complained of. - 1582-88. Fifteen letters from the Earl of Leicester to Fred II. and Christ. IV. [5.]
1582. 22 May, "ab aula regia Anglicana." To Fred. II., acknowledging a letter. His ambassador has gone before the writer could procure the horses he desires; will look for the best he can possibly find, but the Queen meanwhile sends two trotters ("gradarios"), such as she herself uses. Signed, "Robertus Comes Leycestris."
Endorsed, "Perductæ Cronoburgi, v die Junii, Anno 82."
1585. 13 July, "ab aula regia Anglicana." To the same, acknowledging a letter. At the Queen's command has selected for him the best staghounds he can find; but from the season of the year they are not as yet in training and practice for hunting. Signed.
Endorsed, "R. Nicopiæ, 4 Aug., A.D. 85."
1585. 12 Nov. Lond. To the same, acknowledging a letter; glad he is pleased with the dogs, and will send some of those Irish dogs which he desires. Is now preparing, at the Queen's command, to go into Flanders. Signed.
1586. 8 July. Utrecht. To the same in German, requesting license for Frederick Hantzow to levy soldiers in Denmark to serve under Count Adolph, of Neuenar and Limburg, in Flanders. Signed.
1586. 30 Aug., O.S. Arnheim. To the same, in French, accrediting Sir Noel de Caron, lord of Schonnewealle. Signed.
1586. 13 Nov., O.S. The Hague. To the same, with the following narrative, written at the King's request, of the war in Flanders:—
"Serenissime ac potentissime Rex, Accepi Majestatis tuæ literas omittere nolui quin postulatis tuis hac in parte respondeam, humiliter petens ut (quicquid rumoribus feretur) ea quæ sequuntur a me breviter descripta veram et certam commemorationem continere existimes eorum quæ utrinque tam ab hoste quam a nobis militariter gesta sunt ab eo tempore quo Serenissimæ Do. meæ mandatu in has provincias appulerim. Sic autem se habent.
"Veni ex Anglia Vlissingam, 12 die Decembris, anno 1585. Inveni omnia non tam metus quam plane desperationis plena; anarchiam vero tam in politicis quam in militaribus, et personis et rebus. Delata est mihi gubernatio: composui res civiles: ad militares animum adjeci. Hostem inveni continuis victoriis elatum: novissime autem recenti illa deditione Antverpiana, ac jam per legatum Gravam oppidum Brabantie cis Mosam fluvium in confinibus Clivie obsidentem, non corona aut justo exercitu, sed novis erectis per intervalla fortalitis, et in iis dispositis ad 1,500 militibus; castra autem habentem quinque millium Hispanorum et Italarum peditum, ad miliare unum Italicum distantia. Huic oppido ut ferrem opem primum consilium fuit. Veni ipse Ultrajectum; mandavi statim eo cum tribus millibus peditum (equitibus locus non erat aptus) Comitem Hollochiu locumtenentem meum in exercitu generalem, et cujus fidei illud oppidum fuerat jam ante commissum. Ivit, cum hoste pugnavit, quingentos omnes Hispanos occidit, et inter eos duos e præcipua nobilitate viros, novem egregios capitaneos. Postea castellum Batenburgense in Geldria juxta situm tormentis verberavit et vicit: tria etiam alia parva fortalitia recepit. Ipse Gravam, hoste inspectante, intravit; refecit militibus, annona, omnibus necessariis, et incolomis rediit, desideratis e nostris in hac tota expeditione ad 150, non amplius, nullo cujusquam existimationis præter unum locumtenentem privati cujusdam centurionis amisso. Hæc mense Martio et Aprili gesta sunt.

“Hinc jam exandescere Parmensis, ac ipse in castra cogitare. Præfecerat Comes Hollochius Gravæ Baronem Hemmartium, Brabantum nobilem, sed nec militarem virum nec sibi fidelem, ut postea est expertus. Parmensis jam justo coacto exercitu quatuordecim millium peditum et quatuor millium equitum, et omnibus necessariis per hyemem paratis, ipse Gravam (sic) venit mense Maio; obsidet, verberat tormentis; non magno illato damno, deditam accepit. Ob eam deditionem Hemmartius, præside Comite Hollochio, et multis assidentibus variarum nationum militaribus officiariis, nobilibus et tribunis militum, publico judicio postea damnatus est Trajecti, et capite punitus.

“Interea dum ista fiunt, ego etiam exercitum quatuor millium peditum et mille equitum paro, eo consilio ut quam proxime castra hostium accedam, commeatum intercludam, occasionem aliquid gerendi captem. Venio initio Maii Arnhemum. Trajectio ibi Rhenum; fortalitiū Noviomagense in ripa fluminis Vahalii e regione urbis Noviomagi situm, præsidio 300 militum firmatum, tormentis quatio, capio. Item aliud munitissimum castellum vocatum Berckshoofe, in quo erant 200 præsidarii milites, et duo alia minora. Ita totum illum amoenissimum et fertilissimum tractum inter duo flumina Rhenum et Vahalim interjacentem in Ducatu Geldriæ vocatum Betowe redigo in potestatem, et hoste libero. Skenkium interim ablego cum parte copiarum ut insulam parvam occupet in flumine Rheni prope Towlihuys in Ducatu Clivie. Ibi se diffundit Rhenus, ac ipse nomen suum retinens prætorlabitur Arnhemum: altera parte Noviomagum magno impetu decurrit, ac Vahalii non incelebre flumen appellatur. Qui insulam hanc tenet utrique et Rheno imperat et Vahali, ut neque Arnhemum neque Noviomagum per ea possit navigari. Occupat eam Skenkium, et fortalitiū illic incipit extruere, perficit, et 700 militibus implet. His ex animo peractis, omnibus jam a tergo tutis, pontem Vahali prope Noviomagum incipio sternere ut proprius hostem accedam, cum in medio opere ecce afferuntur nova, Gravam deditam esse hosti.

“Non credimus primo, Comes Hollochius præsertim, qui annona ad novem menses militibus, et omnibus necessariis sciret esse refertam, oppidum autem omnium totius Brabantie munitissimum: sciremus etiam hostem per dimidium unius diei tantummodo tormentis egisse. Gravenensis etiam Præfectus non ignoraret nos cum exercitu ad octo miliaria Italica, non amplius, abesse, et jam transitum per Vahalim parare. Sed, ita Deo visum, traditum hosti oppidum est; nostræ rationes eo inopinato casu conturbatæ.

“Est oppidum Venlo in Ducatu Geldriæ cis Mosam fluvium, ad octo vel circiter miliaria Italica distans Graviæ; nostrum erat; præerat Skenkium. Skenkio mando cum certis cohortibus illuc festinet. It, reperit interclusum iter, irrupit cum 100 equitibus in exercitum hostilem, stragem aliquam ædit, sed cogitur retrocedere, amissis ad 40 equitibus. Venloam hostis obsidet. Cives, dum pauci milites instant operi, portas aperiunt, hostem intromittunt.

“A Trochserio Electore Coloniensi erat paulo ante demandata Skenkio cura oppidorum Berckæ et Novesii, ditionis Coloniensis. Skenkium autem, exclusus Venloa, statim Berckam proficiscitur, petitque et impetrat a me mille ducentos Anglos, quos eo secum ducit. Præfecerat Novesio Cloutium juvenem strenuum cum militibus Belgicis ad 1800. Ego loca omnia meæ gubernationis vicina validis præsidii firmo. Deinde me conféro Ultrajectum, majores copias collecturus.

“Hostis Venloa initio Julii discedit Novesium, urbem obsidione cingit, quassum tormentis aggreditur vi, repellitur strenue, donec vulnerato Cloutio milites territi de compositione agentes capiuntur una cum urbe.

“Fertur hostis ad duo millia militum in hac obsidione amississe. Cloutius vulneratus et lecto decumbens e fenestra suspenditur, crudeli magis quam militari justitia aut exemplo.

“Hinc hostis Berckam rectâ pergit cum exercitu; eam obsidet, et incipit petere tormentis. Munierat eam ante Skenkium; noctesque diesque in eo laborantibus et ipso et omnibus præsidariis. Itaque hostis parum proficiens, retrahit pluraque tormenta, obsidet laxius.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

“Ego interea ex Anglia et Scotia militem colligo. Mitto etiam in Alemaniam pro equitibus, qua in re intelligo Regiam tuam Majestatem auctoritatem tuam amice interposuisse, de quo humiliter habeo gratiam, quamvis re ipsa et operam et pecuniam in eis levandis amiserimus, nescio cujus culpa.

“Sed ne collectus miles otiosus sit, dum reliqui coguntur, mitto (blank) Julii in Flandriam nepotem meum Philippum Sidnæum cum Comite Mauritio de Naissau, qui cum tribus millibus peditum oppidum munitum in illis locis vocatum Axel subito vi capiunt, cum tribus munitissimis fortalitiis; oppidum diripiunt, præsiarios ad 600 interficiunt et ejiciunt, sex militaria signa referunt, in oppido præsidium mille militum relinquunt, ac redeunt incolumes. Est magni momenti hoc oppidum, situm non procul Esculsa, sed propius Antverpiam et Gandavum, et totum illum tractum infestum hosti reddit. Postea etiam nostri litus perfoderunt, mare intromiserunt ad ipsa Axellæ mœnia et Hulstum usque, agrum inundans ad 12 vel circiter Italica miliaria. Axella eo modo vinci terra nequit, et commoditatem habet maris.

“Deinde nepos meus Gravelingam in Flandria secreto promissam sibi tradi tentat, sed frustra: itaque sex vel septem gregariis militibus amissis redit.

“Jam ego mense Augusto exercitum paraveram, quinque millium Anglorum peditum, duorum millium Sotorum et Belgicorum; equitum Anglorum 1,000, mille Belgicorum, expectans ex Alemania eos equites et pedites ob quos missus erat Comes Newenarius. Comitem Hollochium et Mareschallum Pelhamum Anglum mitto in Brabantiam, qui illic omnia late vastantes, præsiarios equites Italos qui se objiciunt disjicientes, redeunt. Arnhemum venio 20 Augusti. Erat animus Berckam obsidione liberare, quæ etsi non esset mææ gubernationis sed ditionis Colonienensis, tamen quod esset illic Skenckius, et 1,200 Angli quos nollem perditos: esset etiam oppidum ipsum rebus nostris non parvum damnum illaturum si ab hoste caperetur, utpote quod situm in ripa Rheni, omnem ad nos navigationem e Germania per Rhenum esset impeditum; visum est liberationem illius attentare. Ad id dum viæ offerebantur; altera, si hostem in illo loco quæreremus; altera, si eum inde abstrahere possemus. Hæc probatur, sed in vulgus de alia rumore spargo. Itaque cum exercitum aliquot ante dies per pontem ex linitibus confectum eam partem Rheni trajecissem quæ paulo supra Arnhemum se in Isalam fluvium diffundit, jam ipse in castra venio 27^o die Augusti, ac propius hostem ad 20 miliaria Italica metor, in Aeltham non incelebri pago Cliviæ cis Rhenum. Ibi copias recenseo, ac post biduum conclamatis vasis, simulans rectâ me ad hostem perrecturum, Duisburgum recedo.

“Est Duisburgum in comitatu Zutphanie situm, oppidum satis habitatum et munitum, et camera comit. Zutphaniensis; alluitur et Isala fluvio et brachio illo Rheni quod prope Arnhemum hac excurrit, et hic se cum Isala confundens Rheni nomen amittit, vocaturque Isala, quæ nunc aucta tumide per Zutphaniam, Daventriam, Hattenum, Campenum, in mare se devolvit quod Australe vocant vel Zuyder-Zee. Erant in oppido 600 milites præsiarii, 800 burgenses qui ferrent arma. Vix triduum hic consederam, et post aliquot leves dimicationes cum præsiariis, tormenta inceperam admovere cum ecce adferuntur nova Prin. Parmensem castra movisse, exercitum incepisse per pontem trajicere Rhenum; adfuturum intra biduum vel triduum ut oppido suppetias ferret. Ego mea castra munio, tormentis majoribus 12 oppidum aggredior. Murum duobus in locis deficio, acies armatæ stant sub muris ad vi ingrediendum, cum, magna alacritate et robore nostrorum consternati, præsiarii subito se his conditionibus dedunt:—

“Ut capitanei et officarii remaneant captivi.

“Ut oppidum et burgenses meo relinquantur arbitratui.

“Ita deditum et receptum est oppidum 2^o die Sept. Hic ego, ut res in hoc oppido componam, et ut Parmensem expectem, si veniat, in castris extra oppidum maneo per aliquot dies. Interea mitto qui fortalitium Harfourth et duo alia minora non procul distantia redigant in potestatem. Cum videam hostem non venire et audiam post amissum Duisburgum non festinare, sed circa Wesaliam cum exercitu hære, ut magis urgeam, et abstraham ex illis partibus, et ita Berckam omnino liberem, Zutphaniam ipsam proficiscor cum exercitu 13^o Septembris.

“Zutphania metropolis est comitatus Zutphanie, sita in ripa Isalæ fluvii, æquo spacio 7 vel 8 milliarium Italicorum inter Duisburgum et Daventriam, celebre in illis regionibus emporium. Alluit eam ab occasu Isala, quæ longo tractu provinciam illam fertilem et spatiosam Geldriæ quæ Velowe appellatur dividit a comitatu Zutphaniensi et provincia transissulana. Extruxerat hostis in agro Vellowensi e regione urbis Zutphanis trans flumen, sed intra teli jactum, duo munitissima fortalitia vocata Zutphaniensia. Hæc infestabant per aliquot annos totam provinciam Vellowensem: ita ut nisi Arnhem, Amersforti, et aliis in locis muro cinctis vel munitis, nullus incolæ maneret nisi qui tributum his fortalitiis penderet: destruerentur ædificia, pecus abigeretur, agri inculti relinquerentur, quin Ultrajectum usque et ad portas ipsas Leydæ in Hollandia et Amsterdamam cogeantur rustici vectigal solvere; colligebatque horum fortalitiarum præfectus in hoc tractu a nostris quadraginta octo millia florenorum menstrua. Hæc fortalitia Ordines Provinciarum Unitarum ante biennium per octodecim menses magnis copiis obsederant frustra, et jam omnino desperabant vinci posse. Præerat eis et oppido Zutphanis Taxis, notæ virtutis apud hostes militum tribunus, locumtenens Verdugo magni nominis ducis et præfecti Frisise pro Hispano. Erant in fortalitiis 800 præsidarii milites, bis mille in oppido, e quorum altero in alterum per flumen facile transmitti possent. Venio, castra loco ad miliare Italicum prope Zutphaniam, ab eadem parte fluminis. Consilio capto, visum est fortalitia potius aggredi quam oppidum, quod majus nobis damnum inferrent: oppidum autem, illis captis, oppidis nostris præsidariis maneret obsessum. Itaque flumini pontem ex lintribus injicio; castra in utraque ripa munio, ut Parmensi etiam si veniret potestatem pugnandi non auferam; statim opus aggredimur; aggeres contra eorum fortalitia in agro Vellowensi erigimus; includimus, ut ne qua exire possint nisi per flumen in oppidum. Vix ibi triduum consederamus cum ad duo miliaria Germanica nunciatur adesse Parmensis cum exercitu. Die 22^o Septembris adunt ad dimidium miliare Germanicum a nostris castris duo millia musquetariorum Hispani, mille hastati, ad mille ducentos equites totius ejus exercitus præstantissimi. In iis Marchio Guastensis, Comes Hanibal de Gonzaga, Nycolo de Busto, Verdugo, et alii. Curaverant invehì in Zutphaniam non multum annonæ, et volebant regredi. Factus certior mitto e meis castris ad 200 equites, sclopetarios circiter 400, 300 hastatos non amplius. Hostis sentiens eos adventare munito et angusto loco acie firmata constitit. Musquetarii primi utrinque explodunt; deinde prodeunt equites hostium, quos nostri conspicati illico in illos ruunt ac bis intra munitiones cogunt et cadendo persequuntur. Comitem Hanibalem occidunt, cum tribus vel quatuor aliis magni nominis, et ducentis vel circiter gregariis; tria reportant equitum vexilla; unum egregium equitum ductorem Albane[n]sem Georgium Greserum abducunt captivum. E nostris desiderati pauci: captivus unus locumtenens privati capitanei; vulnerati ad 10 vel 12, et in iis nepos meus Philippus Sidnæus, globulo trajectus femur, ex quo post viginti quatuor dies mortuus est, lætitiâque publicam publico omnium uctu funebrem reddidit. Direptum prælium est, a nostris quod hostilem, ab illis quod nostrum exercitum totum, putarent adesse. Parmensis ipse, ut compertum est postea, ad miliare Germanicum aberat cum reliqua parte copiarum. Ac post hanc pugnam audiens Germanos nostros cum Newenario jam movere, ipse Frisiam versus cum exercitu deflectit, ubi quid egerit nescio, sed de Germanis nostris postea nihil est auditum. Ego interim obsidionem fortalitiarum urgeo; ac primum aliud fortalitiarum prope mœnia ipsa Zutphanis, intra minoris tormenti jactum, capio, ac castra pontemque proprius moveo. Quarto die Octobris rediit Princeps cum omnibus copiis ad portas ipsas Zutphanis. Expectamus ut ea nocte munitiones nostras ex ea parte rivi invadat; sed postridie mane, nihil molitus, abiit ad duo miliaria Germanica. Proximo die, viz., 26^o Octobris, ego ex utraque parte fluminis parvum sed munitissimum eorum fortalitiarum tormentis quatio, dum ipsi et ex fortalito et ex oppido tormentis agunt etiam in nostros. Tandem capio per assaltum in conspectu oppidi, inspectante et Verdugo et Taxis cum omnibus præsidariis militibus et oppidanis, Principe ipso non ultra duo miliaria cum exercitu absente. Ea nocte aufugiunt omnes ex magno fortalito et nobis vacuum relinquunt; ita utroque feliciter potiti sumus, totamque illam Vellowensem provinciam liberavimus hoste. Princeps abiit statim propius Wesaliam, neque post quicquam hactenus tentavit. Nostri autem milites, cum et equitatum magnum pauci disjecerint, et peditatum isto modo ceciderint, non nunc usque adeo feroces putant esse Hispanos quam feruntur; quod nisi fefellissent nos Germani nostri, totum hostilem exercitum sine dubio delevissemus.

“Est Daventria emporium celebre et urbs præcipua totius provincie transissulane, e qua reliquæ, Campen, Swoule et cæteræ, fere dependent. Sita est in eadem Isalæ ripa qua Zutphania. Favit ea nostris partibus; sed ita ut hostis etiam non dubitaret quin ab illo statuta esset, ita magnos in ea fautores e præcipuis civibus secretasque cum illis intelligentias habebat. Is erat urbis status ut uter prior cum exercitu veniret potiri ea posse putaretur. Cum primum Zutphaniam venio, postero die Daventriam ipse proficiscor, biduum ibi manens; revocor ad castra subito nuncio adventus hostis. Redeo post expugnata fortalitia ac deinde ipse digrediens ita per alios cum illis ago ut præsidium receperint Anglorum 1,200 peditum, equitum 200. Magistratum muto, ac totam illam provinciam transissulanam nutantem antea confirmo, ac plane e faucibus hosti eripio.

"Jam anni tempus erat medio Octobri dimittendi exercitum in præsidia; miles infirmabatur. Ego in Angliam revocabar, neque erat cur diutius castra continuarem.

"Feceram enim quod principio mihi proposueram. Hostem deduxeram Bercka. Et jam Skenckius cum plerisque Anglis meis qui illic fuerant in præsidio, ad me venerat in castra. Ceperam Duisburgum et Zutphanensia fortalitia cum quatuor vel quinque aliis minoribus. Pugnaveram sæliciter cum hoste; rejeceram eum unde venerat. Totam Velowensem provinciam liberaveram; Transissulanam confirmaveram; Zutphaniam reliqueram obsessam nostris prædiariis oppidis, Daventria, Lochem, Shereberge, Doeticum, Duisburge, Arnham, et fortalitii Zutphaniensibus, ut ne qua possit commeatus in eam importari nisi de longinquo et justo fere exercitu. Itaque jam copias dimitto in hyberna, et me confero in Angliam, rediturus fortasse brevi, nisi serenissimæ Dominiæ meæ aliter fuerit visum.

"Omisi in ista decursione summaria pleraque leviora, veritus ne prolixior fuero quam deceat. Sed quoniam ita Majestas tua voluit, ego officio meo nolui deesse. Majestatem tuam humiliter peto in bonam partem accipiat, meque sibi humillime devinctum sciat, paratumque ut omni obsequio ei inserviam ut occasio offeretur. Deus Opt. Max. Regiam tuam Majestatem conservet incolumem et cæpta ejus secundet. Hagæ Comitum in Hollandia, 13^o die Novembris, 1586, stylo veteri.

Regiæ tue Majestati
Humillime deditus,
R. LEICESTER."

1586. 24 Nov. The Hague. To Fred. II., in German; upon the state of affairs on his leaving Flanders, and forwarding the preceding Relation.

1586[-7]. 5 March [O.S.]. Greenwich. To the same. Thanks him for letters and expressions of good will brought first by Noel Carron and next by Wilh. von der Wense. Acknowledges on the part of the Queen his offers of mediation with Spain; grave deliberations are now proceeding in the Council, and it is not yet settled whether Leicester shall return to the Low Countries; this would be of advantage if the "Ordines" could be brought to observe any "order," but they are constantly involved in factions amongst themselves as if they were living in profound peace from external enemies. "Accedit quidem perincommodum ut Daventria, singulari gubernatoris a me illic constituti perfidia, aggerque Zutphanie oppido oppositus (quem solo æquatum ab inimicis intelligo) pari scelere ab alio, hosti proderetur, qui Jesuiticis artibus corrupti et Regine Scotiæ tum superstitis factionibus deliniti, ab officio recesserunt; sed his incommodis facile succurrere possemus si Ordines isti sanis consiliis acquiescerent, ac concordie inter ipsos stabiliendæ debita cura invigilarent. Sunt enim inter hos (quod fortassis Majestati vestræ novum fuerit) qui, ex calamitatibus patriæ, avaritiæ suæ explendæ potius quam militibus, qui ipsos ab hostium conatibus tueantur, conservandis sint addicti; ut nihil jam dicam de indignitatibus infinitis, quales sæpe offeruntur." Should he return thither, he will write to the King at once on the state of affairs. Signed.

Endorsed, "R. Scanderburg. 23 Martii, A.D. 87."

(The original, with a good impression of Leicester's seal, is in the parcel marked "England 9," and a German translation in "5.")

1587. 28 Sept. The Hague. To the same. The disheartening condition of things is the reason why he has not written often; in spite of all the benefits conferred upon these men by the Queen, and of all his care and anxiety since the time that the administration of the provinces was committed to him both by the Queen and by them, either it is their disease that they will bear no cure for their evils, or it is their fate that the State should be on the verge of destruction. Commends the bearer, Gawyn Smith, and begs favour for his requests. Signed.

1587. 26 Oct., O.S. Amsterdam. To the same. Sends this letter by Daniel Rogers, now on his way to him as ambassador from the Queen. Some weeks ago sent a nobleman of his household to Embden with a safe conduct from the Queen, and another from himself, for the Commissioners who are coming from the King to treat of peace, but who have not yet arrived. Signed.

1587. 30 Nov. Flushing. To the same; in German. A long statement with reference to the case of George Peterson, John Jellisson, Brandt Schürman, and others, Danish merchants, for restitution of a ship seized by the Admiralty of Zealand in 1585. Signed.

Endorsed, "R. Hadersleb., 2 Febr. A.D. 88."

1587[–8]. 15 March, O.S. Greenwich. To the same. Great gratification felt by the Queen and her Council at the friendly assurance brought by Dan. Rogers on his return, and now confirmed by the arrival of Alexander Durrham, as ambassador from the King with offers of mediation with the King of Scots, with whom differences had arisen; relations with Scotland are, however, now in a better state than they were a short time before Durrham's arrival, and the King's interposition is not necessary. The reception of the offers he made two years ago of intervention on behalf of peace in the Low Countries afford little encouragement in this barbarous age to such Christian endeavours.

"Quantas enim tragœdias prosecutio pacificationis, a Christianissima vestra Majestate propositæ primum, mihi apud omnes per Belgium ordines excitavit, animus fere commemorare horret. Qui enim ante Pater patriæ ab omnibus ordinibus, summis et imis, salutar, cum hominum animos ad pacem amplectendam excitare satagerem, confestim in tam atroces suspiciones incidi perinde ac si Rempublicam hosti prodere tentavissem. Quare male feriati homines statim in dubium vocarunt ea quæ antea singulari candore et Reipublicæ bono a me proposita ipsi assuerunt: qui si tanti Rempublicam facerent quanti privata sua æstimant, non tantopere Belgium in præsentī laboraret. Sed quanto hi ad Remp. perdendam sunt pervicaciores, tanto magis ad eam instaurandam et communiendam eniti eos decet quorum fidei et authoritati Deus Opt. Max. Remp. administrandam concedidit. Jamdudum pax institui poterat si sanis vestræ Majestatis et serenissimæ Reginæ correspondentibus studiis, turbulentī et ambitiosi quidam homines auscultassent. Ad festum Michaelis præteritū (sic) tempus deliberationibus pacificationis indictum fuit; qua tempestate meminī me salviconductus rescripta, a Majestate Serenissimæ Reginæ ad me transmissa, Embdam præmisisse, ei finī ut vestræ Maj. legatis eo confluentibus parata essent. Intelligo vero ex præfato Seren. Reginæ oratore D. Rogersio literas ab augustissima mea Heroīna mense Augusto in hunc usum ad vestram Maj. perscriptas, post festum Michaelis primum fuisse redditas; quibus et hoc incommodi accessit, ut post reditum supracitati oratoris propter tempestates adversas Serenissima Regina regiam vestram Maj. de iis quæ insecta sunt certiores facere nequiverit. Eo autem res devenit, ne Hispani se deludi putarent, ut suos legatos serenissima Regina Oestendam jam amandavit qui ante pauculos dies eo appulisse dicuntur. Inter hos sunt illustris Derbiæ comes, Cobhamus Baro, uterque ordinis Anglici eques; Jacobus Croftus, auratæ militiæ eques et Aulæ contrascriptor, omnes Majestati suæ a consiliis; Valerius Dalæus et Joannes Rogersius, juris utriusque ambo doctores, ex quibus postremus frater est Danielis Rogersii, Maj. vestræ regis observantissimi. Quod si in tempore Maj. vestræ legati accesserint, in spem venio Deum Opt. Max. tantis conatibus felices successus additurum. Quo vero loco hi cum Regis Hispani consiliariis conferre debeant, nondum nobis constat. Credo ego Brugis, vel etiam Antwerpiae, de communi consensu, publicis colloquiis locum designandum." 1585. 13 July. Lond. Had a long conversation with the Queen two days ago, in which she dwelt entirely upon her regard for the King, and said she saw by the letters delivered by Kirkman that this regard is mutual. With respect, however, to Kirkman himself (who was once in the household—"famulus domesticus"—of the writer, but is not one whom he can recommend), his life is justly forfeit to the law, and the Queen has pardoned him, and even admitted him to her presence, only for the sake of the King. Is greatly grieved and surprised at Kirkman's telling him that the King charges him with ungrateful forgetfulness; he has written three times in one year. Signed.

Mussitant hic varia, secundum varias illorum sectas, de Comitis affectione: ferunt alii, et illi quidem magis sinceri, consilia illum conferre cum Hispaniarum Rege, et multa moliri contra communem pacem quam proficitur cum nostris et Belgicis. Multum sibi metuunt mercatores nostri a malecontentis, ut vulgo appellantur, cum quotidie liberum accessum in civitatem habeant. "Quando quidem placuit Vestrę Serenitati mihi in mandatis dare, ut ad eam de iis quę hic gererentur sæpe rescriberem, non verebor arrogantis nomen si ad vestram Serenitatem quę hic nuper contigerunt perscripsero. Igitur, ut a domesticis rebus incipiam, Serenissima Regina domina mea clementissima, re diu agitata et mature considerata, pollicita est se ad præsens bellum suppedituram omnino quicquid erit necessarium, milites, pecunias, naves et cetera necessaria. Itaque ante festum Pentecostes expectamus ex Anglia decem hominum millia et pecuniarum non parvam summam. Dominus Johannes Norreiz, universo peditatui Anglice præfectus, ad solvendam obsidionem civitatis Grave profectus, non procul ab hostibus castrametatus est. Die autem sexta hujus mensis, acceptis trecentis Anglis, paulo ulterius progreditur, et suos vallo munire conatur, quod ubi ab hostibus est animadversum magno animo nostros aggrediuntur. Pugnatum est utrinque fortiter, et iste Præfectus statim initio prælii levi vulnere est affectus. Nostri defatigati, et longe hostibus numero inferiores, coacti sunt paulatim in sua castra se recipere, vallo ab hostibus occupato, ad quę ubi venerunt, collectis animis et viribus et numero aucti, impetum in hostes fecerunt, eosque non solum vallo occupato repulerunt, sed etiam usque in castra fugientes sunt secuti, ubi hostium vallo superato aliquot tormenta occuparunt, eaque in proximum flumen submerserunt. Ceciderunt ex nostris Anglis fere centum, gregarii omnes; ex nostris Germanis fere totidem; ex hostibus 500, inter quos, ut ex captivis intelleximus, fuerunt 14 capitanei, et unus præfectus magni nominis, omnes Hispani veterani milites. Hostes nihilominus obsidionem nondum solverunt: nostri in conspectu eorum manent. Interea equitatum nostrum ex hibernis eduximus, cum magna parte peditatus. Speramus Principem Parmensem bonam partem copiarum suarum in Artesiam et Hannoniā missurum, ut se tueatur a copiis Regis Navarrai quę Cameracum occuparunt, et ulterius progressurę sunt, Germanos equites recepturę; si hoc ita sit, bene nobiscum agetur. Civitates Transinsulanę, Campensis, Deventriensis, et reliquę ultro se Comiti Leycestrio submiserunt, et Anglica præsidia recipere obtulerunt. Noster Draco (quem Hispani *Archipirata*m cognominant) circiter idus Novembris ad Insulas Promontorii Viridis, quod Hispani Capo Verde vocant, appulit, insulas illas omnes vastavit, in ipso continenti multa oppida diruit, indeque asportatis omnibus bellicis tormentis et magna præda, solvit circiter nonas Decembris, ulterius progressus ad amenissimam Indię partem appulit, civitates præcipuas auxilio Indorum occupavit, ibique præsidia statuit illic romansura, et jam paratur classis ad eum profectura. Rex Galliarum vel ultro, vel ut satisfaceret Principum Legatis, qui ad eum die 10^a Martii pervenerunt, declaravit se implacabilem hostem Regis Navarrae et omnium eorum qui religionem profitentur, ad quos omnes perdendos nullis suppliciis, nullis ad bellum gerendum sumptibus, imo ne vitæ suæ, si opus sit, parcere posthac velit. Princeps Condæus in agro Fictaviensi habet decem millia hominum. Regis Navarrae copiae ad recipiendos Germanos equites missæ Cameracum cum aliis civitatibus occuparunt. Guisius in Lotharingiam Germanis aditum prohibiturus cum satis magnis copiis profectus est. Frater ejus Dux Conomanensis nuper a Navarrae magnam accepit cladem; ipse Dux etiam inter cæteros graviter vulneratus est. Hæc sunt de quibus in præsentia vestram Serenitatem certiorum facere ausus sum” [France 35a.]

. “Quandoquidem, serenissime Rex, placuit vestræ Serenitati mihi in mandatis dare ut ea quæ hic gererentur ad eam perscriberem, ausus sum paucis quæ hic nuper gesta sunt referre. Die sequenti festum Pentecostes, hora sexta vespertina, exivimus ex urbe circiter septingenti, inter quos erant ducenti fere equites: tota nocte iter fecimus ad sex miliaria Brabantica. Sequenti die, circiter horam quartam matutinam occurrimus hostibus plus quam mille egregie armatis, quadringentos currus omni comœatus genere onustos Antverpiam deducuntibus; quos statim, Dei beneficio, ita terruimus, ut permulti Antverpiam fuga petierint; qui vero relictæ sunt inter currus se continuerunt, ita ut equitum impetum irritum facerent; adveniente peditatu nostro acerrime pugnatum est. Illi vero nostrorum impetum vix amplius ferentes, in templum vicinum ad 200 se recipiunt; sed igne in templum injecto et portis reclusis fere omnes occisi sunt. Ceciderunt ex illis amplius quam 200, ex nostris pauci. Omnibus currubus potiti sumus, quos cum omni comœatu cremavimus. Captivos ducentos, equos fere quingentos, vaccas et oves multas, in urbem abduximus. Quo in prælio serenissimæ vestræ Majestatis equo usus sum, quo non credo me unquam conscendisse generosiorum et laboris magis patientem, ut qui me armatum 24 horis sustinuerit sine ullo pabulo. Gestabam etiam vestræ Serenitatis gladium; itaque non potui quin vestræ Serenitati quæ cum equo et gladio gesta essent referrem. Quamquam autem hoc videtur esse parvi momenti, hostibus tamen est intollerabilius quam si 3000 eorum ad unum trucidassetur. Hinc enim Antverpia tanta annonæ penuria premetur, ut cogantur omnes urbem deserere; neque est minor in castris hostium fames, ita ut brevi obsidionem sint soluturi comœatus inopia. Comes Leycestrius adhuc obsidet Neomagum” Signed.

“Quod aliquanto diutius fuerit mearum literarum intermissio (serenissime potentissimeque Rex) eo factum est quod nihil apud nos dignum relatu acciderit; fortuna enim miscens se rebus bellicis a nostris jamdiu ad hostes secundis quidem flatibus avolvit. Tandem autem mutatis aleis placidoque vultu nostros intuita, optatam illam mihi meisque peperit victoriam quæ justam ad Serenitatem vestram scribendi materiam subministravit. Inito enim cum proceribus nostris hostem agrediendi consilio, conventum est terram illam quæ Vastata sive Desolata dicitur quibusdam militum turmis attingere, quod expedite feliciterque factum, perque diem integrum loco quodam prope urbem Tournois satis instructe delitescentes, intempesta nocte per castra hostium sumus progressi, missisque sexaginta militibus qui aquam tranarent, ascensis muris interfectisque excubiis, de improvviso portas adorti, statim subsecuta est illustris illa urbis Axellensis expugnatio. Ego interea cum meis duo hostium loca munita voluntaria eorum deditione recepi: idem etiam die postero factum est a Comite Mauritio, perforatisque ripis, eæ immixtæ sunt in terram hostilem aquarum inundationes quæ pabulam omneque frumenti genus ingurgitarunt. Dum hæc agerentur Do. Sydneius curabat asportandum comœatum ad urbem, reductisque ibi militum quibusdam cohortibus, certis diebus frustra hostium congressum expectantibus, prius munitis prope flumen castris, tandem reversi sumus incolumes ad nostros. Hunc nostræ protectionis cursum pro debito meo officio paucis perstringo, humillimas vestræ Serenitati gratias referens ob regalem illam “Serenissime Rex, Si mihi fuisset tanta oportunitas nuntiorum quanta voluntas testificandi omne officium studii et observantiae meae ergo Serenitatem vestram, longe antehac magis peccassem saepius quam raro scribendo. Nunc autem occasione data, praetermittere nolui certiorum reddere Majestatem vestram de rebus nostris gestis. Latere non potest Serenitati vestrae quanta diligentia inimicus noster omnes conatus suos expedit, cum illi omnia suppeditantur ex regali munificentia; vicissim, quam lente nos hic progredimur qui ex mutabili vulgo dependemus. Ista enim democratia quae ad illorum jurisdictionem qui vulgo Status appellantur pervenit, nimis sero semper procrastinationibus suis pestiferis providet; unde fit ut hostis aliqua, nos perpaucis auditu digna adhuc gesserimus. Tandem autem potius tentare fortunam quam nostris viribus nitentes, exercitum conscripsimus, deinde aliqua alia ludicra belli conseruimus cum inimicis. Die autem Martis, 9 Septembris, conventum est cum exercitu civitatem Duysburgiae quam obsidebamus, expectantes congressum Principis Parmensis, qui non procul inde agebat. Eiusdem autem civitatis milites quoad potuerunt se valide gesserunt. Tandem autem, erutis muris nostrisque intrare paratis, se in misericordiam dederunt: scilicet, ut eorundem duces et primates captivos nobis traderent, et ipsimet cum albis virgulis in manibus suis discederent.

“Primus Marrescallus campi, pater juvenis Pelhami (qui mecum apud Serenitatem vestram agebat) s[c]loplitra (quae ad me longe antecessentem explodebatur) ictus est; Deo autem annuente, non lethali vulnere occubuit, sed vires recuperavit.

“Duysburghia feliciter evicta, Comes Hohenlo cum aliquibus nobilibus Anglis aggressi sumus duos alios arces juxta Zutphen, qui etiam se dederunt in manus nostras. Hinc circumdata est a nobis civitas Zutphen, ubi quotidie expectamus congressum inimici, qui dicitur cum omnibus suis copiis huc itinerare ut aleam belli nobiscum tentet. Quod si feliciter nobis succedat, satis feliciter hyemare possimus pro hoc anno; et his rebus ita gestis, Berk, civitas ditionis Electoris Coloniensis [Coloniensis] ab inimicis obsessa, et a nostris viriliter defensa, liberata est.

1586. 7 Oct. “E campo ante Zutphenam.”

“Belli nostri rationem hactenus ex superioribus literis intellexit Majestas tua. Ex eo tempore strenue et propius obsidentibus nobis propugnacula Zutpheniara ex parte Ghelriae (Isula fluvio tantum ab urbe separantur), quibus totus ille regionis tractus ad Hollandiam et usque portas Campen, Deventer, et Zwoll obnoxius est, Parmensis, eorum simulque Zutphenae jacturam veritus, castra quae coram Berka oppido posita erant, movit, ut Zutphenae laboranti succurreret. In quam urbem, absque ullo vel tubae clangore vel taburinae sono, ingressus, currum aliquot annona onustorum subsidio recreavit, indeque subito recessit. Postridie, Guastae Marchionem et plurimos Italos nobiles viros, cum 17 turmis equitum, misit, et Verdugonem Phrisiae gubernatorem cum peditibus 3,000, ut novo commeatu urbem redirent. Quod eorum consilium 150 equitibus et 800 peditibus nostris impeditum est. Atque hic opportune accedit ut ego, cum lanceariis meis primum occurrens, in Georgium Gressierum Albanum, unum ex praecipuis equitum ducibus, incidere. Qui cum lancea et ense Hispanico armatus esset, ego vero tantum gladio, eodemque quem a Majestate tua dono acceperam, Dei benignitate factum est ut manus cum eo conferens ex equo deturbarem, eoque in meam potestatem redacto, denuo copias ejus profligare ad vallum usque bombardiorum graviorum machinarum, et hastatorum agmen insequutus. Unde cum redirem, occurrerunt Comes Hannibal de Gonzaga et Comes Orapinus Romanus cum suis copiis, quas ita adorsus ut in medium agmen perrumperem. Et certe occisum me vel captum tenuissent hostes, nisi mihi aliquot genere et virtute nobiles adfuissent.

Horum princeps erat Vlissingæ gubernator,* quicum mihi militare quoddam fœdus mutus inter nos fratris compellatione pactum fuerat. Qui una cum eo qui totius equitatus præfecti locum tenebat cum ad mei subsidium festinârat, gravioris bombardiæ globulis in femore ictus est. In extremo conflictu Comes Hannibal de Gouzaga (saltem ita dicitur in castris nostris) et alii multi ceciderunt. Duæ etiam turmæ captæ sunt; reliqui turpiter fugiendo vitæ consuluerunt. Interim pedites nostri strenue cum hostibus dimicabant. Atque si eo die copias nostræ fuissent eductæ, quod Comes Holockus noluit, veritus ne Parmensis exercitu novo nos a tergo adoriretur, clarissimus certe nostris et ad omnem posteritatem celebrandus ille dies extitisset. Quæ suspitio ita Excellentiam suam† affecit ut reditum imperaret. Ita nos reversi sumus, et hostis non minus festinanter, et ipse ad castra sua rediit. Otiduum post, machinis tentavimus alterum propugnaculum, et nostri ad pugnam dum ita erant alacres ut, antemurale tantum dejecto, in propugnaculum irruerint summaque virtute ceperint. Eodem die equites nostri hostem ad arma provocarunt, qui tamen nusquam comperuit (sic), sed intra castrum continebat se. Eadem nocte qui majus propugnaculum tenebant, cum animadverterent quam nostri fortiter agerent, et præterea ducem suum primo congressu amisissent, propugnaculo noctu derelicto, ad oppidum transfugerunt. Comitibus Gulielmi milites statim propugnaculum occupant, ubi reliquos, vel somno vel oscitantia ad fugam tardiores, occiderunt. Ejus Excellentia, cum hac tanta Dei benignitate victor evasisset, animum dedit toti regioni subjugandæ, et recuperandis tributis, quæ sunt sexageni mille floreni in singulos menses. Et quia jam instaret hyems, septem aut octo hominum millia in Deventria, Donsburgo, Lockhamo, Arnhem, Campen, Zwoll cæterisque Zutphenæ vicinis oppidis collocavit: quibus adhuc quodam modo obsessa tenetur, et hostes ab ejus aditu prohibentur. Parmensis, qui initio receperat (sic) fore ut quocunque proficisceremur nos conveniret, nunc abstinere ab his locis in quibus versamur. His rebus ita gestis, et milite ad præsidia dimisso, Excellentia ejus reditum in Angliam instituit, ut Serenissimam Reginam Dominam nostram omni ratione excitet ad hanc totam causam amplectendam, prout et Regiæ dignitatis splendor et ipsius causæ magnitudo postulant. Quod ni effecerit, ita hic omnia plane misera sunt ut nisi de nostro statu periclitari velimus, dum pro aliis certamus, hujus belli sumptibus diutius ferendis pares esse non possimus. Verum si id poterit efficere, et tua quoque Majestas hoc tam necessarium et salutare consilium vicinos de omni statu suo periclitantes juvandi promoverit, eam proculdubio voluptatem ex vero Dei cultu legitime instaurato, et opulentissima mercatura, atque antiquis Inferioris hujus Germaniæ immunitatibus restitutus, capiet, quæ tam Christiano principe est digna, et quæ infinitis numeris omnem sumptuum in tam præclarum institutum erogatorum rationem superabit. Quod ad me attinet, equidem constitueram hæc, non per literas sed coram, retulisse Majestati tuæ nisi Serenissimæ Reginæ mandato ad ordinem totius regni conventum accersitus fuisset. Quamobrem spero fore ut Majestas tua me habeat excusatum. Inter alia non piget etiam referre, equum subnigrum qui Majestati tuæ ante hac inservierit, ex ejus celeberrimi quem dixi diei laboribus et ictibus mortuum esse; et gladium etiam quo me donaveras prope mucronem fractum esse, ita tamen ut non multum deterior factus sit” memor appareat. Non est novum, potentissime Rex, quod ante mensam Regina clementissima, a sanguine tantum abhorrens ut justam ægre sumat vindictam, victa tamen omnium Angliæ ordinum atque universitatis civium suorum et subditorum precibus assiduâ, eam jussit exequendam sententiam quam regni proceres tulerant, et tota gens nostra comprobât, contra nocentissimam Reginam. Has no news to tell of the war, because a vague expectation of peace keeps both sides quiet; but writes by occasion of the journey of the bearer, “viri sane nobilis probi, artis virtutisque nomine clari et chari, mihi, vestræque gratiæ et servicii cum primis cupidi.” “Rerum hic gestarum conditio meliuscule se habet. Nam renovato fœdere Ordines, Excellentiæ suæ reconciliati, omnia concedunt pro ejus votis; nec jam amplius Protectorem cum certis legibus astrictum, sed sui juris et liberum agnoscunt Imperator Parmensis totus stativis hæret Tournhoutianis, e quibus semel atque iterum, facta ad usque speculas excursionem, evocandi eum conatus fuit; fortuna non fuit, tumultuque Antverpiæ concitato, frustra rediimus.

E Gal[li]is quædam aura benevola afflavit nos; Regem Navarra tanta exercitus vi viam capessere ut male sibi metuant Catholici, ne suus ipsorum Rex, incertus ille quidem (quod vident) et pendens animi, una copias admisceat atque adjungat. Cui malo ut oportune obviam fiat, fertur Parmensem octo equitum turmas auxiliares ad Guisianos misisse, et peditatum quoque nonnullum jamjam ornare, eo primo quoque tempore ducendum.

“Cataphracti Germani equites Lotharingiani salvi ad unum omnes ingressi sunt. Obstitit iis Ossovilinus, Falsburgi præfectus, aliquandiu et immigrandi copiam negavit: cæterum, relicto tandem loco, urbis viæque compotes perrexerunt Blamontium, atque ibi Casimiri adventum præstolati sunt. Fears that his frequent letters have not reached the King, as he has never heard of their being received; and more especially as the Queen’s ambassador, Rogers, on his return here a few days ago brought no message about them. “Supradictus Dn. 1588. 24 Jan. O.S. La Haye. To Mons. Rhamell, Privy Councillor to the King of Denmark ; in French ; repeating the news contained in the preceding letter to the King. Sends copies of news-letters received yesterday from France, Spain, and Scotland. Desires to be remembered to Mons. Kaas. Signed.

MISCELLANEOUS PAPERS temp. ELIZ.

1559. Aug.—Dec. Papers relating to the negotiations of John Spithonius, Monasteriensis (of Münster), in England, with a view to the marriage of Queen Eliz. to Fred. II. ; consisting of copies of the King's letters, and of fifteen letters from Münster, which are largely occupied with notices of the proceedings of the envoys of rival candidates for the Queen's hand, including an account of the magnificent reception given to the Duke of Finland (the brother of the King of Sweden), and a minute description of his rich dress.

An abstract of the narrative of Münster's mission drawn from these papers is contained in Chr. de Treschow's Contributions to the History of Queen Eliz., above cited, p. 28.

These papers are in a parcel labelled “England,” which contains also a few mercantile papers and letters of no importance, including a pass for exit of a ship from Plymouth, dated 22 Apr. 1566.

- 1562–1565. Papers of Nic. Gyldenstern, Swedish envoy to England, which must have been intercepted by the Danes. [2 d.]

- i. 1562. 2 Apr. Lond. Obligation by Gyldenstern for the payment of an annual stipend by the King of Sweden to James Goldborn, gentleman, of 100 French crowns, so long as he shall faithfully serve the King in the matters entrusted to him.
- ii. Obligation on the part of Goldborn, in accordance with the preceding paper, that, being left in England by Gyldenstern on the departure of the latter, he will do his utmost to learn all that is done both privately and publicly in the Court and within and without the Council, and will communicate all that he learns as faithfully and as secretly as possible.
- iii. Copy, in pencil, by Gyldenstern of a letter from him to Goldborn, informing him that when about to sail for England on a second embassy, he was suddenly recalled by the King through the false and calumnious representations of Francis Bartu, who persuaded the King that he could never attain his object, and alienated him from it by the falsest slanders against Queen Eliz. (such as he often made against her and against her Court and ladies to Gyldenstern himself while in England), viz., that she was barren, was lame with one foot, had had carnal intercourse with a certain Earl who died in Italy, and many other things which such a rascal, traitor, and thief ought not to have uttered. Moreover, he said that Gyldenstern did not owe so much money in England as he represented, and that he intended if now sent thither again never to come back, but to abscond with the overplus. Prays Goldborn, therefore, to endeavour, for God's sake, to get Barthu punished as he deserves.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

- iv. Notes by Gyldenstern of points urged to the Queen in King Eric's favour, and in answer to objections.
Cf. ibid., p. 19, Art. 45.
- v. Two letters from Queen Eliz. to King Eric :—
 - 1. 1565. 19 May. Westm. Has received in this month his letter written on 1 June last year about his war with Denmark. Grieves that there should be such a war, and hopes that the peace now talked of will be concluded.
 - 2. 1565[-6] an. 8. 14 March. Westm. Urging the speedy payment of the debts contracted by Nic. "Goldinster."
- 1565. 29 Apr., in Narve. Letter from Christopher Benett, in England, to "his master," Will. Bond, or to John Foxall, with the account of his trafficking for them, giving the prices of many articles of commerce, salt, flax, hemp, feathers, &c. [2 d.]
- 1565-1566. Documents relating to John Keyle's project for salt-making in Sweden, apparently intercepted by the Danes :—
 - i. 1565 an. 8. 12 Dec. Articles of agreement, tripartite (on vellum), between the Princess Cecylia of Swethen, the Lord Cobham, and John Keyle, gent., by which the Princess undertakes to procure license from her brother, the King of Sweden, for the setting up of salt-works by Keyle, according to a new invention obtained by Lord Cobham from Gyovan Jacomo Scaramutsa, a merchant of Milan. Signed, "Ceelia," "W. Cobham."
In English; followed by a Latin translation. [22.]
 - ii. 1566 an. 8. 31 March. Indenture tripartite (on vellum), between Lord Cobham on the one part, Francis Bartye, merchant stranger, and Sir Will. Ceylle on the second, and John Keylle on the third, that whereas the Lady Cecylie has failed, through "her present and notorious" necessity here of money for her sufficient provysyon for the mayntenance of her honorable estate "to carry out her agreement in the articles preceding, the said Francis Bartye has agreed to furnish the money for the sending forth of Keylle to set up salt-works not only in Sweden, but also on the sea-coasts of Pooleland and Prussia and all other the east countries, Lord Cobham undertaking to bear Keylle harmless against the Lady Cecylia. Signed, "W. Cobham, Francis Berty, W. Cecyll, John Keyle."
In English, with Latin translation. [22.]
 - iii. Letter signed by Cobham and Cecill to John Keyle, Esq., at Mr. Home's house in Hamborough. Since his departure they have at great expense found out a more easy and a cheaper way of making salt, and therefore send the bearer to let him understand the whole manner, for communication to the King of Sweden.
English, with Latin translation. [Ib.]
 - iv. "Memoire pour mons. le sieur Jhon Keyle, esquier, de la part et en faveur du sieur Francisco Berty," for an application to the King of Sweden on behalf of two merchants of Antwerp, whose ship had been confiscated at Stockholm. [Ib.]
 - v. "Remembrance of that Mr. Keale most do for a frend when he is in Sweden about the King"; viz., to obtain particulars about the sale of some "giouwels" by a merchant of Antwerp, Hans Glaser, who has wronged the persons from whom he obtained them. If there be any good result, Keyle's wife shall have a chain. [Ib.]
 - vi. 1566. 16 March. Lond. Letter, in German, from the Princess Cecilia to her brother, King Eric. [2 d.]
 - vii. 1566. 9 Apr. Letters commendatory from the same for John Keel. [Ib.]
 - viii. 1566. 19 June. Antwerp. Draft of a letter from Keyle to the King of Sweden, about his coming into Sweden to practise his invention. Sent by the hands of Mr. Knappe. [2 d.]
 - ix. 1566. 21 Aug. Hamburg. The same to a friend; in English. Cannot yet get into Sweden as the Danes are carefully watching for him everywhere to intercept him; they have taken Mr. Thomas Knappe, who was lately in England from the King of Sweden, and with him two letters from Keyle to Mr. Bartu. Report of a great naval battle between the Danes and Swedes. [Ib.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

- 1565-7. Papers of Albert Knopper, envoy from Denmark to England, relating to his negotiations on the five points of—1. piracy; 2. the closing of the Baltic; 3. the prohibition of navigation to Muscovy; 4. the fishing at Iceland; 5. the case of H. Billingshusen. [2 d.]
 Account of an audience with the Queen on 5 Jan. 1566; the replies given by Secretary Cecil and the Council on 12 Jan.
 Copies of various papers relating to Billingshusen's case.
 Narrative by Knopper of his second mission, in April, 1566; account of his audience with the Queen at Greenwich; "in ipsius Serenitatis cubiculum privatum sum introductus, ubi serenissima Regina, semotis omnibus consiliariis, sola me audivit, intellectoque ex oratione habita præcipuo legationis scopo, extemporaliter elegantique oratione respondit."
 6 Apr. Lond. Letter from Knopper. [4 c.]
 Answers, in Knopper's handwriting, to representations made 14 June 1567, by John Foxal, envoy from Queen Eliz., with regard to 12 cases of alleged injury to English merchants. [2 d.]
- [1567?] Statement, in French, respecting the payment of the stipulated compensation [500,000 crowns] by the King of France for the retention of Calais, in accordance with the treaty of Chateau Cambresie [1559]. [2 d.]
1570. May. Lond. Letter from John Foxall to a correspondent in Denmark. Has received two letters from the King of 2 Nov. 1569 and last of Feb. 1570; the cannon ordered will be cast by the feast of St. Bartholomew; has procured for the King 100 of the larger cloth, and 200 others called in English "Northerne douzains"; mentions the means employed to raise the money for these great expenses. [2 d.]
 See list of cannon mentioned under the letter of Queen Eliz. of 14 March 157½, supra.
1577. Copies of papers (instructions, protocols, narrative of proceedings, &c.) relating to the negotiations at Embden with the English Commissioners John Rogers and Anthony Jenkinson. Chiefly in German. [3 a, b.]
1577. 14 Aug. Hamburgh, in the chapel of St. George. Statement by John Rogers and Anth. Jenkinson, the commissioners appointed on the part of the Queen of England to discuss with those of the King of Denmark the question of the right of the English to trade with Russia, of the arguments on both sides and of the failure to come to an agreement; wherefore the whole question is referred back to their respective sovereigns. [23.]
1581. Petition from Gregory Pormort, of Kingston-upon-Hull, to Fred. II. for letters to Queen Eliz., recommending him for admission among the merchants privileged to trade with the north. [4 b.]
1581. Petitions to Fred. II. from Israel Johnson, a merchant of Queenborough, and from Thomas Russell. Germ. and Lat. [4 b.]
1581. 12 Nov. Lond. Letter to the same from John Foxall. Germ. [Ib.]
1583. 22 June. Hadersleben. Articles of agreement respecting trade with Russia, agreed upon by John Herbert on the part of the Queen of England, and Nic. Kaas, Hen. Below, and Hen. Kamell on the part of the King of Denmark. Signed by all the Commissioners. [24.]
 Copies of papers relating to Herbert's negotiation, with regard to the complaints and propositions of the Eastland merchants. [4 c.]
1584. Certificate attested before the L. Mayor of London that a ship laden from Candia, with wine for Dantzic, had been obliged to put into Harwich, and then to go to London and unlade, from damage by storms. [4 d.]
1585. "6 nonas (sic: idus?) Apr." Lond. Letter from John Poley to Fred. II. His gratitude for a letter received; is glad that the dogs he sent gave satisfaction; now sends six more.
1585. 15 July. Lond. The same to the same. Reverently kissed the King's letter on its reception; hopes to reach Denmark, for his service, before the end of next month; meanwhile sends back his young cousin, with grateful thanks for the favours conferred on him.
1586. 18 May. Lond. Henry Cavendyshe to Fred. II. Apologises for not having written since he left Denmark; sends the bearer, one of his household, with a small gift. Signed.

No. 1.— Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

1587. 22 Sept. Oatland. Lord Charles Howard of Effingham to the same. Takes the opportunity of the mission of Dan. Rogers from the Queen to assure him of his devotion to his service, to which he is specially bound as being a fellow Knight of the Garter. Being nominated Admiral of England, any Danes who may have occasion to appeal to him will find him ever ready to assist them. Signed. Good impression of seal.
1587. 5 Dec. Representation by Dan. Rogers to Fred. II. of the reasons of his embassy:—i. the proposed marriage of the King of Scotland, of which Queen Eliz. approves, but which had not been communicated to her by that King although he had often declared that he would never contemplate marriage without first consulting her; ii. the delays in the progress of the negotiations for peace with Spain, which are not owing to the Queen, but to those who manage the affairs of the United Provinces, who think that if peace were made they would lose both their present authority and their salaries of 20, 30, and 40 florins per day; iii. the affairs of France, and the need of help for the King of Navarre; iv. the question of reprisals against English merchants for piracies committed by Englishmen; v. the dispute between English merchants and the city of Hamburg, which has made the former transfer themselves to Stade. [12 a.]
- Collection of memorials and statements submitted by Rogers on the same day on behalf of various English traders, &c., viz., Thomas Bannister, of London, for goods seized in 1551; Lionel Duckett, Alderman of Lond., and Rich. Springham, 1563; Thos. Valentine, 1564; John Dymock, of London, 1563; Rich. Champion, 1566; Sir Thos. Golding, Knt., and his wife Eliz., executrix of her late husband Capt. Cuthbert Vaughan, 1559; Giles Vandye, Arthur Mawde, and John Burnell, 1566; Bertram Anderson, of Newcastle, (signed by R. Ascham), 1563; and John Porter, of King's Lynn, 1563. [12 a.]
- 1587[–8]. 21 March [O. S. ?]. Lond. Sir Martin "Frobiser" to the same. Thanks him for the assurances of his favour received through Lord Wilughby. Seizes the first opportunity for writing after his return to England, and sends the bearer (one of the King's subjects) to give a relation of all the hindrances and varying fortunes of his laborious journey. Is ready at all times to serve the King, even at peril of life and fortune. Signed.
Endorsed, "R. Hadersleben."
1588. 8 June. Greenwich. Sir Francis Walsyngham to Nicolas Kaas, Chancellor of Denmark. Received the first news of the death of the King from his private letter; it is a cause of great grief at this time when the enemies of Gospel-truth are banded together to oppose in all ways pure religion. Will further to the utmost that which the Chancellor so earnestly asks, viz., the maintenance of the alliance between England and Denmark. Signed.
1588. (Blank) June. Greenwich. The same to the same. The Queen sends Dan. Rogers on a mission of condolence to the widowed Queen and her son who is now King. Signed.
1588. 28 May. Greenwich. Part of a long letter from Daniel Rogers to Hen. Rantzovius, the viceroy of Denmark. The slow progress of negotiations with Spain; the commissioners are to meet this week at Burburg, between Dunkirk and Gravelines, but the question of the form of a truce has to be discussed, the Duke of Parma at present only consenting to a partial cessation of arms. Meanwhile Spain is making great naval preparations, but England was never from the beginning of the world so strong both by land and sea as now; by exact enquiry it has been found that there are 200,000 men fully armed and trained, and the fleet consists of 200 great ships. Howard and Drake have gone westwards with 130 ships, and Hen. Seymour guards the Channel with 70. Notice of affairs in France. In Scotland the King has been solicited both by the Guises and Spain, but he feared that if he opened his ports to them they would become masters of the kingdom; many Scottish nobles have gone to France and Spain, making great promises in case of invasion. But the English have nothing to fear so long as the Queen is safe. [12 a.]
1588. 19 July. "Summa legationis Dan. Rogersii," being his representation to the Council of Regency of Denmark of the proceedings in England with regard to the complaints of various Danish merchants, and of the counter-complaints of several merchants in England; together with a statement of the claims of England with regard to the Sound dues, liberty of trading with Iceland, &c.

[12 a.]

In duplicate; with two copies of the "Responsum" to Rogers, dated 21 July.

1588. 25 July. Croneburg. Letter from Dan. Rogers, upon his leaving Denmark, to Nic. Kaas, recommending Peter Vaerheil [al Vanheil], who has been with Rogers, and who now desires employment in the Danish Court; he is of a noble family of Bruges, and left his country on account of the civil commotions, and went to the Universities of Germany, and thence to Oxford, where he became "juris licenciatus." Thence he went to France to the service of the King of Navarre, who recommended him to Queen Eliz., the Earl of Leicester, and Walsingham; and his services were very much valued by Leicester in his Flemish campaigns. Should it be desired that the young King should be taught French, Vaerheil will be found most competent to teach him, as he speaks French not as the Flemings do, but as it is spoken in the centre of France.

[1589.] Letter from John Poley to Christ. IV. on his accession and on the marriage of his sister to the King of Scots.

"Nova habemus . . . et novitate et raritate novis ipsis et noviora et rariora. Belgia, continuis bellorum cladibus defatigata, nunc dolo (cui plus quam viribus confidet) assidue studet; et certe novæ istæ bellandi artes (quibus Bredaum, Brabantiae maximi et munimenti et momenti oppidum, obtinimus) felicissime nobis, primas molientibus astutias, successerunt. Proxima etiam tempestate, literæ (quas Rex Catholicus ad Lotharingium, Lotharingius ad Parmanum ducem, mitteret) a Berghemensibus interceptæ fuerunt, quæ (ut ab interprete fidelissimo, qui hæc nobis hyereglifica exposuit) et totam conjuratorum de vera religione extirpanda consilii rationem et extremam ejus fautorum ruinam continebant."

[1590.] Papers of Geo. Schomaker, envoy to England from the King of Denmark.

[2 b.]

- i. Memorial with reference to 14 cases of complaints on the part of Danish subjects; with the formal reply (in parallel columns) of the Commissioners appointed to examine it, Fra. Walsyngham, J. Fortescue, and Hen. Aubrey.
- ii. Rejoinder of Schomaker; with reply of the Lords of the Council, in similar form, signed by Jo. Cant., Chr. Hatton, W. Burghley, J. Hunsdon, W. Cobham, F. Knollys, C. Howard, J. Buckehurst, T. Heneage, J. Fortescue, and Dan. Rogers.

The several complaints are against i. Tho. Evans and John Killigrew; ii. Capt. Melch. Stranguits (Strangways?), Capt. John Fox, Will. Pitt, and Sir E. Seymour; iii. Hen. Sackford; iv. the Earl of Cumberland; v. Will. Constable; vi. Sir Walter Lewson; vii. Sir John Norris and Sir F. Drake (for an impressed ship); viii. Capts. Rich. Burnett and Gilbert Lee; ix. Capt. Brasbridge; and, x. Thos. Purser (both of whom have been hung for piracy); xi. Capt. Anth. Weeks (who has escaped from prison); xii. Capt. Chas. Howard; xiii. Egbert Leak; xiv. the inhabitants of Rye, Lydd, and Romney.

See the Queen's letter of 20 July, 1590, supra.

1591. June–July. Various papers and memorials delivered in the course of Parkins' renewed negotiations.

A copy of his address on 26 June is endorsed "Legati Anglici admodum civilis et perhumana commonefactio." [12 b.]

German and Danish letters from John Stacks of London, Hen. Hankin, and Thos. Humffray are included, and extracts from various treaties, &c.

1591. 15 Dec. Lond., "Ex ædibus Radcliffianis." Christopher Parching to Chancellor Kaas. See Queen's letters, supra, under date of 4 Dec. 1591.

1592. 12 Jan. Fridrichsburg. Letter from Sophia, Queen Dowager of Denmark, to Queen Eliz., requesting that James Holmes, a merchant of Hamburg, who has suffered great losses, may be allowed to import into England annually for four years a thousand pieces of white unfulled ("non præparati") cloth, paying the usual duty of 6s. 8d. per piece without any further charges. [23 b.]

1592. 6 Oct. Lond., "In ædibus Meetkerchicis." Paul Knibbe to the Council of Regency in Denmark. While engaged in his embassy, he has fallen dangerously sick, and the physicians give little hope of his recovery. Begs that provision may be made in case of his death for his widow and infant children, who are in a foreign land, without money or relations. Recommends his secretary Tobias, whom he has employed for three years, and who writes this, as he is unable even to sign it. [12 b.]

1592. 11, 13 Oct. 6 Nov. Lond. Three letters to the Council of Regency from Marguerite van Lichtervelde, widow of Adolf van Meetkerke, about the death of her son-in-law, Paul Knibbe. He left a little over 40*l.* in English money, which has all been spent in payment of debts, medical attendance, and funeral expenses. [12 c.]

1592. 12 Nov., 6 Nov. London. Two letters from Peter de Heil, called Varheil, to the same, with full reports of his proceedings on the death of Knibbe, who died on 8 Oct., and was buried on the 10th, at 10 o'clock at night near the tomb of his father-in-law Adolph van Meetkerke, President of Flanders; interviews with the Council, copies of letters written by him and to him (chiefly from Dr. Christ. Parking) and by Knibbe's amanuensis, Tobias Lauterbach. At the end he adds notes of news from France. [12 c.]

- 1592-6. A collection of memorials to the Regency of Denmark and Christ. IV., and other papers, in German, Danish, and Latin, from John Fagot and various other persons, respecting alleged wrongs committed by the English. [12 b., c.]

1594. 2 Oct. Lond. News-letter from P. Van Heile to —.

"French news, in continuation of intelligence given in two letters in Sept.

"Sunt qui asserunt in Hispania de pace Gallica agi, sermonesque de Regis et Infantis Hispaniæ nuptiis factos. His rumoribus multum scio in hac aula tribui fidei, nescio an merito. Videnturque ita se parare Angli ac si Gallum prævenire vellent aut præoccupare in pace cum Hispano ineunda. Ut hoc credam faciunt hæc. Primum quod inter aulicos istos de dicta pace Gallica mussitari sæpe nunc videam. Dein quod ante tres septimanas Regina nuncium ad Archiducem Ernestum miserit ut literas salvoconductus impetraret quibus permetteretur Legato Anglico ad Archiducem venire, et cum eo de variis rebus agere. Causa legationis prætextitur ista quod Regina apud Archiducem expostulare velit de injuriis Hispanicis, quod indies sicarios ad se mittant, eosque ipsorum adhortationibus et pollicitationibus impulsos, et inter eos plerosque Anglos natione, vitæ Reg. malis insidiari; quales ante septimanam aliquot hic sunt deprehensi, ante mensem tres alii Angli, et paulo ante rursum alii. Petitura itaque Regina dicitur ab Archiduce ne tales perduelles et fugitivos Anglos subditos suos diutius foveat, verum, ut inter principes Christianos decet, eos ditionibus suis excludat, omnia Archiduci officia amica eo nomine pollicens. Hæc dicuntur fere palam, ideoque mihi sunt suspiciosa, faciuntque ut aliud quid causæ legationi isti subesse credam, viz., ut quid Galli cum Hispano contrahant expiscantur. Dein pacem ipsi (si possint) opera hujus Archiducis ab Hispano impetrent, scio enim plerosque hic, et primarios consiliarios, pacis esse studiosissimos. Tertium argumentum quo inducor ut credam istos pacem aliquam cum Hispano instituere est, quod ante biduum Regina per duos consiliarios nunciaverit duobus Regis Antonii filiis qui hic sunt, ut discederent cum suis ex Anglia, causam allegantes quod Reginæ videretur melius fore ut cum patre in Gallia degerent quam hic; præterea, multos sub eorum umbra hic latere qui Reginæ vitæ insidiarentur. Quæ causæ certe frigide sunt, nam Rex Antonius aliquoties proditorum et conspiratorum conatus detexit, Reginamque a multis violentis manibus Dei beneficio præservavit. Sed causæ nunquam desunt politicis, etiam in re facillima. Miror istos homines; istos non sapere: non expecto aliud nisi ut ab Hispano fallantur, qui illis (nisi multum fallor) illudet."

Again and again he must repeat that he cannot follow the English court to gain his intelligence without spending more than is allowed him by the King of Denmark. If his pension is raised to 200 crowns, they shall not regret it; he certainly thinks that he easily deserves this reward when he knows that the agents of some princes and states, to whom he will give way in no respect, receive little less than 1000 crowns and do not write so diligently as he does. (A. 5.)

1596. 24 Nov. Instructions (in German) from Christ. IV. for Nicholas Theophili, LL.D., sent into England to treat about the mercantile disputes. [13.]

- 1596-7. Narrative (in German) by N. Theophili of his proceedings in England from 25 Dec. to 15 March; his interviews with the Queen, and discussions with the English Commissioners (John Herbert, Sir Jul. Cesar and Dr. Parkins) and with Lord Buckhurst and Sir J. Fortescue, on the various cases complained of, including those of Hen. Sackford, Walter Leveson, and the Earl of Cumberland. 14 leaves. 1597. 20 Feb. London. Peter Van Heile to Christian IV.

"Wrote on 29 Jan. with intelligence of affairs here. Account of proceedings at the Parliament of Rouen, and of some concessions made to the Protestants, and of general French affairs. "Hæc est deturpatissima facies miserimæ Gallie, ubi mera nunc est confusio et anarehia."

"Haud multo melius (bonis omnibus dolentibus) superioribus diebus res iverunt in Scotia, ubi Rex cum ministris ecclesiæ qui limites jurisdictionis excedunt magnam habet periculosamque contentionem; ideo vult Majestas ejus habere administrationem clavium Sancti Petri, hoc est, potestatem ligandi et absolvendi. Hæc causa etiam est ob quam vult declarari caput ecclesiæ Scotiæ, exemplo hujus Regiæ quæ ecclesiæ Anglicana caput a suis agnoscitur. Indicta sunt comitia Regni, seu concilium nationale, ultimo hujus mensis, in quibus comitiis coram Rege et ordinibus Regni ex consilio prudentum virorum tam sæcularium quam ecclesiasticorum statuatur quatenus se extendat jurisdictionio et auctoritas ecclesiastica seu spiritualis, tam in applicatione doctrinæ evangelicæ quam in politia domus Dei. Utque omnes qui eo convenient instructiores sint et paratiores, publicatis sunt a sua Majestate 55 questiones, quibus tota res controversa continetur. Super quibus quidquid publico consensu ibi decerneretur, legis instar erit. Deus Spiritu Sæo Sancto consensui illi adsit, ut optimus Rex in pace suos regere possit, et pacatum regnum posteris relinquere!"

"In Hybernia res adhuc valde sunt perturbatæ. Ipsi duces militares Angli inter se non conveniunt, Russellius, videlicet, et Norreysius simulatione laborantes. Quod alteri ipsorum, scil. Norreysio, novum non est, nam parem non fert, multo minus superiorem. Metuunt Angli ne Hispanicum subeidium Hybernis rebellibus accedat, quod huic statui esset periculosissimum. Nam etiam hæcenus pecuniæ Hispanicæ ad dictos rebelles pervenerunt, quibus quodammodo fuerunt confirmati, copiæ tamen Hispanorum nunquam eo perungere adhuc potuerunt. Apparatur hic (ut ante scripsi) classis quæ proximo vere novam expeditionem in Hispanum molitur; comitabitur 90 navibus Hollandicis, ut nuper. Ex navibus Regiæ adornantur 12 majores, ad quas accedunt 60 vel 70 aliæ naves nobilium vel mercatorum ad bellum instructæ, regiis paulo inferiores. Comes Essexiæ præfecturam classis hujus recusavit, quia suo præjudicio posthac tam diu ab aula abesse non vult, ad quod accedit quod Regina ejus aspectu diu carere non potest; ideoque in ejus locum assumptus videtur Comes Combris, nisi, ut sæpe fit, sententiam interea mutabunt.

"Hæc habui quæ in præsentia Regiæ vestræ Majestati de reip. statu scriberem. Quod ad negotia magnifici Legati Regiæ vestræ Maj. attinet, non dubito quin ex ipsiusmet literis jam certior facta sit vestra Maj. Repperit verum esse quod ab initio ei dixi, verba sibi, pro more gentis hujus, dari, quod pro sua prudentia satis cito deprehendit. Ut tamen nihil intentatum relinqueret, nec ullam officii sibi impositi partem omitteret, aliquot dies hic adhuc manere voluit, ut istos reddat inexcusabiles, cogitans brevi ad Maj. vestram redire, et ei particulariter omnia referre quæ sibi hic usuvenerint. Nec dubito quin, inter alia, etiam Maj. vestræ significabit meum paratissimum promptissimumque animum ad omnia ei officia præstanda quæ in mea potestate fuerunt, quæque Legato in peregrina regione versanti maxime solent esse necessaria. Oravi postremis meis submissee matrem vestram ut literis suis patentibus me dignaretur cohonestare, et literas quas nomine Regiæ vestræ Maj. a magnificis dominis senatoribus regni accepi renovare, pensionemque annuam in ea (sic) mihi assignatam ad 100 libras Anglicas pro sua clementia extendere. Idem nunc a regia vestra Maj. submissee et reverenter oro ut faciat Jam septem sunt anni quod ad aulam vestræ Maj. scribo et regni senatores, spe compensationis aliquando obtinendæ a vestra Maj. dum ad regni administrationem venisset." (A. 5.)

1597. Sept. Register, in duplicate, by Arn. Witfeldt and Chr. Barnekou of their embassy to England and to the States General; containing—

- i. Copies of all the papers delivered on both sides in England, with relation to Danish ships carrying contraband of war for Spain, and the English trade with Iceland, &c.; from 7 Sept. to 28 Sept.
- ii. Two original papers of replies signed by Egerton, Burghley, Buckhurst, Fortescue, and Cecill, and one by Herbert, Cæsar, and Parkins.
- iii. Speech to the Queen on delivering up the insignia of the Garter which belonged to Fred. II.; 28 Sept.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

iv. List of articles of merchandise prohibited by the English as contraband of war.

v. Copies of memorials about the cases of various merchants, including those of merchants of Harwich.

[Cf. Queen's Letters, 1592, supra.]

vi. Short diary (in one of the two copies) from 12 Aug. to 7 Nov., including the mission to Holland.

"Sept. 9. Regina nos in venationem vocavit, ubi aliquot damas sua manu sagittando confixit."

On the first page of the first book (which, as well as the other, is bound in a fragment of a fourteenth century lectionary) is this inscription: "1597, die 8 Novembris, Hunc librum et hanc relationem de sua legatione in Angliam habita, item in Belgium, retulerunt in Cancellariam legati."

"Arnoldus Wittfeldt, Christianus Barnekou, manu propria." [14.]

1597-8. "Summaria narratio eorum quas Petrus ab Heila in causis subditorum sereniss. Regis Daniæ sibi a magnificis dominis Legatis Daniæ 27 Sept. 1597 commissis in Angliæ curia egit, usque ad præsentem mensem Junium 1598." Dated 12 June. [18.]

Thirty closely-written leaves, in folio. Contains copies of many letters respecting the claims of Danish merchants, particularly those referred to in G. Schomaker's Memorial in 1590 (supra), and reports of various conferences. Vanheil complains greatly of the discourtesy shown to him by Drs. Herbert and Parkins, who objected to his recognition as a Danish Commissioner, denying that the Ambassadors had powers of delegate to himself without letters from the King; and gratefully acknowledges, on the other hand, the courtesy and attention he received from Lord Buckhurst and Sir John Fortescue. His narrative ceases at the time when it was resolved to send Lord Zouche on his embassy to Denmark, with the hope of settling the disputes, which had become greatly embittered by recent news from that country.

"Sub mensem Mayum venerunt nova de detentione navium Anglicarum in freto Danico, quo rumore tantopere commoti et exacerbati omnium hic fuerunt animi tantisque maledictis in Regem et nomen Danicum invecti sunt, ut consultum tum non duxerim in aulam me conferre cui nomen Danicum factum erat tam odiosum, præsertim cum nondum literas regias acceperam quibus munitus munus ministri Regii administrare hic possem . . . Dominus Baro Buccurstius et Dominus Fortescue responsum mihi miserant per Ambrosium Rogers et Jacobum Finch (quos ad eos miseram ut ex eis intelligerem quando Senatui placeret vacare rebus Daniæ) quod Senatus omnino de rebus Daniæ nihil audire vellet antequam intellexisset quo pacto Angli in Dania tractarentur."

1598. Papers delivered by Lord Zouche and Christ. "Parking," and copies of replies, on their mission in July respecting interferences with trade, and copies of papers given by and to Parkins on a second mission in Nov. [15 b.]

1598. 29 Nov. Helsingor. Exemplification, attested by the Rector and Professors of the Univ. of Copenhagen under their public seal, and dated 1 Aug. 1605, of an acknowledgment by Christ. Parking, dated as above, of the receipt of 40,000 thalers from the King of Denmark in full compensation for goods unjustly confiscated [in a ship from Hull] at Oresund at a time when lawful confiscation was made of other goods [in the same ship] fraudulently described, so that no further claim shall ever hereafter be made. [19.]

1598. Draft, or copy, of the judgment at Copenhagen which condemned the ship of Will. Watkinson, of Hull, and Fras. Pormort for defrauding the Customs at Oresund. [11.]

1598. 25 Dec. Westm. } Two letters from the Lords of the Council to Nic.

1598[-9]. 2 Jan. Westm. } Crag (signed by Essex, Nottingham, G. Hunsdon, Ro. North, Buckehurst, and Ro. Cecyll, with the addition of J. Fortescue to the second); asking, in the former, for a copy of the speech he made to the Queen, and for a written statement of the several complaints; and, in the latter, announcing that the Queen has issued a Commission for examination of the cases, but suggesting that if enquiry is carried too far back far more numerous and heavier complaints will be revived on the part of the English. [20.]

1598. Dec. — 1599. Apr. Long diary by Nic. Cragius (written in a secretary's hand but subscribed by himself) of his mission into England to urge the claims of various Danish merchants. (In bundle labelled "England, 82 Acc.," formerly 16.)

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

He represents himself as not being at first very civilly received or treated : e.g., “die iv. Jan. Julius Cæsar et Parchinus officine ergo an contumeliæ ad me “venerunt”; the Council are offended, he believes, because he had included the Admiral himself, as he could not but do, among those whom he accused. On 6 Jan. is invited by the Queen to see dancing; had much familiar conversation with her; “miscibat seria joci . . . ostendit se secretiora nostrarum rerum nosse . . . Invitata a comite Essexia ad saltandum, prius se mihi joco quodam excusavit, postea eum secuta saltavit admodum artificiose, “dixitque hoc se mea gratia fecisse quod multis annis intermisisset. Jussitque me renunciare Regi meo non ita invalidam quin saltare adhuc posset, et alia facere quæ vegeti corporis. Addidit deinde, Scis quod velim, Scoticos legatos “perstringens.* Aliquoties inter colloquendum Latinitatem suam excusavit, et “in fine addidit alia quæ nescio an in scriptum referre conveniat.” Objection was made by the Council to his calling those who go out with letters of marque “pirates”; fribytters, robbers, voleurs, brigands, were suggested, but at last the Admiral said, Let them be called pirates if they despoil friends. Objection also made to his employing Peter Vanheile whom he has with him on account of his knowledge of English, as being an enemy to England and a servant to the King of Spain. “Die xii. Martii pransus mecum eques Paytonus, Præfectus castelli Londinensis quæ Turris dicitur. Atque is solus ex proceribus eo honore me affecit “ut me viseret atque iterum invitaret.” “Die vii. Aprilis . . . de colloquio “respondit [Julius Cæsar] se non audere ne privatim quidem mecum colloqui. Nam meminisse filium Itali. Die ix. Atrilis invitatus cum proceribus aliquibus “a Majore Londinensi, qui supremus ibi magistratus, ad solenne convivium, ibi “pransus sum. Erant qui existimabant jussum a Consiliariis me invitasse. Die x “Aprilis a Vicecomite invitatus, qui Cherif dicitur, adhuc splendidiore convivio “ibi exceptus sum.” The conferences with the Council are reported at length; they often became very warm and angry, but Cragius appears to have held his ground with great calmness and resolution, and at the last parted on friendly terms, with commendation even from those who, like the Lord High Admiral, had most decidedly opposed him. He attributes much of the treatment of which he complains to Dr. Chr. Perkins (“Parchinius”); and the Council were provoked by his accusing the Earl of Cumberland, Raleigh, Seymour, and others, for actions committed by officers under them, and were unwilling to summon them to answer. The Queen, however, is represented as being very favourably disposed to Cragius and pleased with his conduct; she ordered some confiscated guns to be given up, as a personal favour to him, with assurances of her willingness to have given some costly gift if he would have desired something worthy of an ambassador, and sent him a gold chain on his departure. His last interview with her but one, on 15 Apr., is thus reported :—“Mox ad eam accersitus, “accipior blandis admodum verbis : Primum autem stans mecum collocuta. “Sententia fere verborum hæc fuit, quatenus ea recta oratione referre possem. “‘Quam mirata sum quod de te inopinatum et vere mirandum audierim ! Nam “‘existimabam te mihi bene velle, ac cupere mihi omnem prosperitatem ac “‘longævitatē. At jam videris me necare velle. Nam proverbium est “‘Anglicum quo quis die inopinati aliquid audierit, eum præagere mortem et “‘præsignificare extrema haud longe abesse. Inopinatum autem hoc accidit “‘quod jam adfers de piscatura Islandica et Norvagica, Regem tuum subditis “‘nostris illam vetitam velle. Ego statueram tibi cum benevolentia hodie “‘valedicere, at jam videtur restare alia legatio.’ Tum accersivit quinque “‘Consiliarios, et per jocum repetiit istud de proverbio Anglico, quodque eam “‘necare vellem. Mox iis dimissis, me denuo allocata ait, ‘Vides quod jam “‘petis vix fieri posse, nam plerique subditorum abnavigarunt. Neque nos “‘unquam id ita intelleximus quod vetari posset piscatura vel navigatio illa ; “‘sed tantum quod venia petenda. Itaque non scio quid faciam, nisi ut fratri “‘meo scribam, velit in hunc annum contentus esse. Non dubito quin ipse “‘satis bonus per se ; sed sunt alii qui hanc opinionem de piscatura ista animo “‘ipsius impresserunt. Deinde etiam illi qui sparserunt me infirmam adeo “‘esse, instigant quantum possunt. Sed ego spero ab eo omnem amicitiam, et “‘si scivissem antea, misissem qui ei satisfacerent.’ Ego respondi non solum “‘hoc per superioris anni legatos indicatum, sed et me ab initio id patefecisse, “‘petita et multoties deinde audientia. Atque adeo adscriptum ad calceum “‘Orationis me desiderare audientiam super hoc negotio. Tum illa accersivit “‘Secretarium, et quasi objurgans ait, ‘Cecil, Cecil, estne in Oratione Legati “‘quod haberet tale adhuc negotium de piscatura ista ?’ Ille confessus est

" tale aliquid ibi additum fuisse, sed non expressum quod Rex eam vetitam vellet. Postea ipsa, ' Verum est,' inquit; ' sed jam non scio aliud quod faciam ' quam ut fratri meo scribam. Sed visne tu etiam in gratiam meam ad Regem ' scribere, ut in hunc annum contentus sit? Quæso hoc facias, sicut semper ' te mihi præstitisti benevolum.' Ego respondi meum studium ipsius Majestati merito paratissimum, sed mea scriptione opus non esse. Facturum serenissimum Regem absque ea, quæ fieri ullo modo possent. Tum illa rursus instabat ut scriberem. Itaque promisi me ad Magistrum Palatii scripturum; Tandem illa se levans commendavit amicitiam et benevolentiam suam erga serenissimum Regem meum. ' Frater meus,' inquit ' nullum me sinceriores ' et constantiores usquam reperturus est amicum. Non vellem aliquid ' incidere ut possent hostes dicere de nobis, Jam Rex Daniæ et Regina Angliæ ' inimici sunt qui hucusque fuerunt conjunctissimi. Id hostibus magno esset ' gaudium et amicis dolori.' Ego respondi, illam sibi persuasuram quod per serenissimum Regem non staret quin amicitia pristina inter utrumque regnum perduraret. Ita illa valedicens abiit."

The narrative occupies 42 folio pages closely written. It is followed by a copy of the Queen's Commission to John Herbert, Master in Chancery, Jul. Cæsar, Judge of the Admiralty, Rob. Beale, Secretary of the Council of the North, Christopher Perkins, LL.D., Dean of Carlisle, and Daniel Dun, LL.D., to examine into the complaints of the Danish merchants; a list of the complainants; certified copies of the judgments given by the Commissioners in three of the cases; and a brief abstract of the whole narrative. Bound in a fragment of a 14th cent. Antiphonarium, with music.

1599. Summary (in Danish) of the amounts received for the King of Denmark for fish sold in England in each year from 1561 to 1578, and of the number of English, French, and other ships engaged in the trade from 1588 to 1599, &c. [21 a.]

1599. 1 Nov. Copy of a letter from the Senate of Denmark to the Parliament of England. Great indignation is felt at the contents of the letter brought by Stephen Lesieur; they believe that it proceeds rather from some private persons writing in the public name than from the Queen herself or any one of senatorial rank; beg that the discussions may be carried on only in a friendly and calm manner. [2 c.]

1600. Papers relating to the abortive Conference of Danish and English Commissioners at Embden. [21 b.]

- i. Letter (in Danish) to Christ. IV. from his Commissioners Christ. Friis, Manderup Parsberg, and Hen. Ramell, announcing that having waited in vain for the English they propose to leave on 8 May.
- ii. 8 May. Copy of a letter from the Danish Commissioners to Queen Eliz., stating that they have now waited at Embden a whole month without hearing anything of the English delegates by letter or messenger; they cannot therefore, out of regard to the dignity of their Sovereign, wait any longer, and are now about to leave.
- iii. 10 May. Letter from the English Commissioners to the Danish, remonstrating with them on their reply to the announcement of the arrival of the former, that they will not return to Embden or wait any longer unless on the next day the conference be opened on board their ship.
- iv. 11 May. The same to the same, representing at length the hindrances which delayed their arrival, and embodying much that is in the following letter to the King of 17 May.
- v. 11 May. Reply of the Danes, Christ. Friis, Hen. Ramell, Jon. Charisius, and Nic. Cragius. They themselves had hastened to Embden, and had arrived there, in spite of bad weather, on 9 Apr., one of their number, Manderopius Parsberg, having gone on before with great haste, for fear the English should be beforehand, and had arrived on 26 March, being provided with power to act. They have waited a month, during which time ships and letters have come from England with the same wind that might have brought the envoys, and yet no message was sent to them. The English think it beneath their dignity to come to the ship; which is the greater indignity, their coming now to the Danes, or their absence for so many weeks while the latter waited to the prejudice of their Sovereign and with the censure of the people?

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

- vi. 17 May. Letter (in duplicate) from the English Commissioners, Rich. London, Ch. Parching, and B. Swale, to Christ. IV. On attempting to sail from England they were twice driven back, in spite of all they could do, by a persistent north wind; at length, after one month's delay, they reached Embden on 10 May, only to find the Danish Commissioners on the point of leaving, one of them having already gone away by land; in spite of all they urged, the latter absolutely refused to remain, only saying that if they would come instantly to the ship, they might there enter upon the conference. They strongly represent the unreasonableness and impolicy of this conduct. They endeavoured to send one of themselves back with the Danes, but when the latter saw him rowing out hastily to their ship, they spread more sail and hastened their departure.
 - vii. 23 May, on board the ship Victor. Letter from the Danish Commissioners to Christ. IV. containing their relation of their reasons for refusing to return to Embden.
 - viii. Diary of the Danish Commissioners from 30 March when they left Copenhagen to 30 May when they arrived at Helsingør.
- Snow and severe frost to about 17 April, from which they suffered greatly on account of the want of wood.
- A first letter from the Danish Commissioners to Christ. IV., dated 23 April, is in the parcel numbered 22 b.
1602. Large parcel of papers in Latin, German, and Danish, relating to the conference at Bremen in Oct. and Nov. between Ralph Lord Eure, Sir John Herbert, and Dr. Daniel Dun, on the part of England, and Mandrup Parsberg, Arnold Witfeldt, and Dr. Jonas Charisius, on the part of Denmark, respecting the disputed points with regard to fishing, navigation to Russia, tolls, and the confiscated ships of Hull. Amongst them are the following:—
- i. Lengthy instructions from the King of Denmark to his Commissioners; 10 and 12 Sept.
 - ii. Thirteen letters and papers signed by the English Commissioners.
 - iii. List of names of English skippers engaged in the fishery who came to Copenhagen in 1602 from Hull (16), Yarmouth (16), and other places (17).
 - iv. Many memorials, &c., relative to various cases of complaint.
 - v. Relation by the Danish Commissioners, in Danish, of their proceedings; 25 Sept.—26 Nov.
 - vi. Declaration signed and sealed by all the Commissioners of the result of the conference, viz., that as those from Denmark were not empowered to treat of the reduction of the tolls, nor of the throwing open of the fishery, these, and other matters set forth in writing, must be reserved for settlement hereafter; but that the Danish Commissioners will urge the King to publish an authorized table of tolls, and to order that no goods be confiscated but such as are fraudulently concealed; 26 Nov. [22 a.]
1603. 12 Feb. Bremen. Letter from Lord Eure, Sir J. Herbert, and Dr. Dun, to the Danish Commissioners, reminding them of their promise with regard to the table of tolls, &c., for which purpose they send a special messenger, Alexander Covert, gentleman, with this letter to Denmark, in company with Richard Lewis, merchant, of London; and desiring to receive through him, before they leave Bremen, a written statement of the King's opinion with reference to the points left undecided, viz., free right of traffic to Muscovy, fishery according to treaty-obligations, the reduction of the tolls at Oresund, and the complaints of merchants of Hull. [22 a.]
1603. 6 Feb. Bremen. Steph. Lesieur to Christ. IV., sending a portrait of Queen Eliz. "minori forma . . . ad vivum," which he procured to be painted as quickly as possible after his return to England, in accordance with the King's request. [27.]

Among miscellaneous papers a catalogue of the curiosities, pictures, and other works of art found in the cabinets of the Emperor Rudolph at Prague, on the capture of that city by the Swedes in 1648, deserves special notice. Possibly the list may only exist in this copy (in Vol. CCLXXXIX. of the Second Series) and, in any case, it seems to be a record which well deserves publication in Sweden. Vol. CCLIX. of the same series contains a catalogue of C. G. Wrangel's library, drawn up in 1660.

No. 1.—Further Report on Libraries in Sweden—continued.

Few letters are met with from persons whose names are known in literature. In Vol. XXXVIII. of the Third Series there is a letter from H. Grotius in 1685, which is printed by M. Geoffroy in his Rapport, p. 650; and in Vol. LXXIII. of the same Series there is a fourth letter from Joh. Micælius, in 1658, in addition to the three mentioned in the former Report. A letter from Adam Olearius, dated at Gottorp, 1 Aug. 1663, is found in Vol. CXI. of the Second Series; and very many letters signed by "Matth. Merian" in 1663-4, &c. occur in Vols. CCIII. and CCXX., dated from Frankfort; but the writer is styled "Ofverste," and, therefore, although name, date, and place would all seem to identify him with the well-known engraver, to whom other letters by the same writer have been assigned in the previous report, such identification is probably an error.*

SUPPLEMENTARY NOTICE OF MSS. IN THE LIBRARY AT UPSALA.

- X. 366. Travels of S. Buschenfeldt in Holland, England, Germany, and Switzerland. Arrived at Harwich from Helvoetsluys, 1 June, 1695. In London, visits Gresham College, describes the curiosities in the Museum of the Royal Society; visits Windsor, Hampton Court, Chelsea ("Kells") College, Greenwich; describes a "Petrification nye Harwich," and "Invention på grinder och porter" (for gates and doors). Chelmsford, where in the afternoon he saw a comedy acted of a deaf man with six daughters and seven sons; Colchester, its silk manufacture (ff. 1-7, 21-23); Ipswich and Yarmouth, shipping and fishery (ff. 7-18, 23-31b); Norwich (ff. 19-20, 31b); Lynn Regis; Wisbeach; Lincoln; Gainsborough; Stockwith; Brigg; Barton; Hull (ff. 39b-46); Bridlington; Scarborough; Whitby; Sands End alum work; Guisborough; Stockton; Hartlepool; Sunderland; South and North Shields, and Newcastle, with the coal trade; Richmond; Ripon; Leeds; Wakefield; Birstall; Halifax; Huddersfield; Sheffield; Buxton; Stockport; Manchester, where the chief manufacturers were Tho. Butterworth, James Masden, Peter Peake, Thos. Hays, Benj. Nailer, Matthew Graves, and Miles Bower; Liverpool, (ff. 75-82); Chester; Wrexham; Shrewsbury; Sheffield; Wolverhampton, with an account of the composition of Bath metal and white metal; Stourbridge and its nail manufacture (the quantity made by one man ranges from under 5,000 per week to 2,000 per day, at prices ranging from 10s. per 1,000 to 10d. per 1,000, ff. 89-92); Birmingham; Coventry; Worcester; Tewkesbury; Gloucester; Flaxley; Forest of Dean; Redbrook copper work; Pontypool (ff. 110b-115); Bristol (ff. 115-126); Bath; Southampton; Portsmouth; Chichester; Arundel; Shoreham; Brighthelmston. The qualities, kinds, and prices of the various manufactures are mentioned, with the names of the principal makers and merchants, and of the shippers at the seaports.
- X. 381. Short notes made by Jak. Svedelius, apparently in Apr.—Aug. 1726 (not, as said in the former Report, 1736), on a visit to London, Oxf. and Cambr., of government, ranks, titles, &c., lay and ecclesiastical; followed by similar short notes relative to Scotland and Ireland. These are included in a small commonplace book of notes of travels and miscellaneous observations. A long list of English books of sermons, or "Libri Homiletici," is given.
- In Liden's Travels (noticed before) there is a list of the Swedes who were living in London at the time of his visit in 1769, and previously in 1768, numbering 21 permanent residents and 13 visitors.

* A few misprints and mistakes in the former Report may be noted here. P. 2, note, for "vetustiss." read "vetustus"; p. 8, under P. Ruthven for "Schacksadt (?)," read "Schaffstedt"; a. 7 under date 1646, for Vol. "LXV." read "XXX."

MSS. OF GUSTAVUS III.

Vol. XXIII. In a series of Bilager from ambassadors the following papers occur as having been forwarded from England. They are rather noticeable as showing how carefully the King was kept informed as to everything in which he might be interested.

- i. Transl. of parts of Sheridan's speeches in the Hastings trial.
- ii. Account of the Italian Opera and of the other theatres in London. 4to. 17 pp.
- iii. Transl. of Nos. 4-9 of the weekly paper the Crisis, Feb.—Mar. 1775.
- iv. Printed rules and list of members of the Amico-Medical Society, No. 3, Soho Square. 12mo. 1779. (A mutual benefit society for medical attendance and medicine, on the plan now common in Sweden and Denmark of annual payments; with a charitable dispensary attached.)
- v. "Declaration of Rights [of Man], by George Mason, Esq."

Vol. IX. A copy of a letter, in French, from King Gustavus to Elliot, the English ambassador, written from Gothenburgh, 24 Oct. 1788, justifying his march by the Declaration issued by Denmark; "je la trouve aussi insidieuse et aussi remplie de petites finesses que toutes les démarches de cette cour." At the end are written "Reflexions du Chevalier d'Elliot," which it would seem that some one by some curious mischance had been enabled to copy, and send for the perusal of the sovereign to whom they refer! "Le Roi se flatte de savoir la politique, mais il n'a ni vérité ni bonne foi; je lui ai dit qu'il doit faire sa paix avec la nation, et que ma cour ne se mêle en rien de ses affaires intérieures. Aussi seroit il indigne de moi, comme Anglois et né citoyen libre, de concourir a ce qui pourroit violer les droits de la nation Svedoise, et étendre le pouvoir du Roi au dela les loix de la Constitution."

Vol. XI. Complimentary letter to the King from Sir Horace Mann. Fr. Florence. 22 May 1784.

SPARVENFELDT COLLECTION.

H. 248. An unpublished work by Philip O'Sullivan Bear, in 358 quarto pages, entitled "Vindiciæ Hibernicæ, libb. v.," in reply to Stanihurst. Written in a Spanish-looking hand of the 17th cent., with many corrections and marginal notes. A note signed "J. G. Sparwenfeldt" records that the book was obtained "de la libreria del Marques de Astorga en Madrid en la mes de Junio, 1690." Lying loose in the volume are two folio leaves on which is written by the scribe of the book, "Divi Communi Conerensis Episcopi, Iberni, carmen de aliquot antiquiorum Iberniæ divorum moribus, a Domino Philippo O Sullevano Bearro, Ibero, Latinis versibus explicatum." The poem is headed by ten original lines by O'Sullivan, titled "Principium acephalo carmini a Philippo præpositum," and an "Epilogus" of four lines closes it.

H. 244.

- i. "Status Angliæ, sive descriptio regni Anglicani"; being lists of the officers of the Courts of Justice, &c., in the time of Charles I. "In usum peregrinorum conscriptus."
- ii. "Pragmatiske Anmärkningar öfver Engelska Staten"; a very short sketch of English history. Cent. XVIII.

H. 245. "Politisk Beskrifning öfver England, Skotland och Irland"; an outline of the constitution, government, &c. Cent. XVIII.

MS. F. 213 of the General Collection consists of a volume of letters to Count Carl Gyllenborg (the Swedish envoy in England), in which occur 30 letters on mercantile business in the years 1717-18, and one in 1719, from the following English merchants at Gothenburg:—John Chambers, John Crockatt, John Dyneley, C. Lutwiche, and Henry Maister; and from Sam. St. Leger at Maestricht. There is also a letter from Ingemund Bröms, dated at Carlstad, 27 Jan. 1718, in which the writer says that he has made inquiries with reference to the question of a union between the English and Swedish Churches, and finds that the thing is impossible.

E. 388 contains copies of letters of English correspondents, among others, to Oxenstierna, of which the originals exist in the State archives at Stockholm, and are noticed in Mr. Bliss's Reports thereon.

No. 1.—THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY, COPENHAGEN.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY, COPENHAGEN.

In a large collection of early Swedish Charters occur the two following, numbered 9 a, b, in fasc. 100:—

1380. 9 Sept. } Double Insuperimus; i. by the Chapter of the Cathedral
1384. 2 June } Church of Bergen and the Chapter of the Church of the Twelve Apostles of the Royal Chapel of the city of Embden; ii. by James, the Bishop, and the Chapter, of Bergen; of a bond from Henry de St.
Clare, Earl of Orkney, to Haquin Jonsson for 200 gold nobles, dated at Mascrand, 2 Aug. 1379.

Several other early documents relative to the Sinclairs of Orkney and Roslin are preserved in this collection, which are printed in the Diplomatarium Norvegicum, but these two do not appear to be included in that work.

MS. Hist. 4to. 39 contains an account in mingled Latin prose and verse, of a visit to England in 1652, which occupies 12 small quarto pages; but although so small a book, it deserves extended notice from the interesting nature of its contents. It is entitled, "Iter Anglicum anno MDCLII. die ii. Maii inceptum, die xxx. Augusti absolutum, cum in comitatu nobilissimorum dominorum, domini Erici Rosekrantsii et domini Petri Reedtsii, Regis Daniæ ad Rempubicam Anglicanam legatorum, essem, Wilhelmus Worm Olai F." The writer visits "Raidsister" (Rochester) and "Kjethom" (Chatham), where he sees a great ship of 120 guns built by K. Charles, "Severini nomine insignitam." At Gravesend a gun burst in saluting the ambassadors, and killed a captain and seven soldiers. The heads "novem illustrium heroum, immani et incredibili crudelitate necatorum," were seen on London Bridge. A description is given of the dangers of shooting the bridge. Whitehall was hung with standards taken from the King. On the House of Parliament Worm Olafson says:—

"Hæc est illa domus quæ tot jam floruit annis,
Juri regali nobiliumque data;
Sed quid nunc nisi latronum fœda cloaca
Facta, ore horrendo dira venena vomit.
Ante quidem Reges, nunc hac dominantur in aula
Invisi terris cœlitibusque viri."

In Westminster Abbey "Generalis Exex [Essex] statuam ad vivum exsculptam "capsuleque inclusam vidi, qui summa et ineffabili tameritate primus contra Regem "arma ceperat, vultu heroico et magnum aliquod minitante, ita ut vere canam,

"Naturam ex facie cognosces, nam fuit ille
Sicut trux vultu sic animoque ferox,
Primus qui Regi cædes minitatus et arma
Æternum nomen nempe rebellis habet.
Dignus cui fieret supremum furca sepulchrum
Aut unquam si quid durius esse potest."

Laments over Whitehall as being "immanissimo scelerum capiti Cronvellio "domicilium facta."

"Vicinus est huic hortus variis herbis arboribusque, imprimis autem platanis longo ordine dispositis, insignis, plurimisque statuis partim ex Pario marmore, partim ex fuso ære, factis, et in medio horto mensa solari insignis artificii exornatus."

On 24 May went to the merchants' resort, "quod sua lingua Old Excens [Old Exchange] vocant," where is a series of statues of Kings; "ultimus tamen "Carolus, postquam octiduum sine capite inte cæteros stetisset, totus demum loco "suo exemptus est, hisce aureis characteribus superscriptis:—

"Exit Tyrannus
"Regum Ultimus
"Anno —
"Anno libertatis Angliæ
"Restitutus —

"Cujus auctorem Miltonium credunt, qui cum eo die occæcatus mihi diceretur "hoc epigramma meruit—

"Monstrum immane ingens Milton cui lumen adeptum,
"Post hac non Regi scommata plura dabit."

Visits Tradescant's house, Sion College, Westminster Library and School, and the Tower, "ubi magnum Principum et Heroum numerum inter parietes et in carcere "detentum, inter quos Generalem Leslei, Regis proditorem pessimum." Goes to Oxford; stays at "Oxbreigam," "Oxbreis" [Oxbridge ?], 34 (sic) miles from London, for the night; next day at "Teccen" [Wycombe ?] from 1 o'clock to 4, and reaches Oxford at 8. Is shown the Botanic Garden thoroughly by Bobart the keeper; at the Bodleian, "laternam qua usus erat qui magnum illud parricidium contra Regem reg-

 " numque Angliæ cogitaverat, vidimus." There were two churches at Oxford "quorum
 " turres, quod hoc tempore in Anglia rarum, crucem ferebant." Sees Woodstock, Enstone with its cave and waterworks, where on 21 June the rustics were celebrating games "quos sua lingua Rabbenhüt [Robin-Hood] vocabant." Notices Aristotle's well, one mile from Oxford. Goes to Hungerford and Ambersberg [Amesbury];
 "inde ad locum quem sua lingua Stonnes vocant discessimus, ubi multæ lapidum
 " eæque maxime moles, in altum elevatæ, octavum mundi miraculum constituent,
 " quos quotiescunque numeraveris nihilominus certum in numerum assignare nequis."
 Thence to Salisbury, where he describes the wonders of the cathedral, "Viltinghus," "Kodfort," where he spent the night "hospitio non satis commodo, non ut placuit
 " sed ut licuit," and therefore started thence at 5 o'clock in the morning; Bath, before reaching which the travellers were robbed of all their money by highwaymen;
 "Schisseton" [?] a village; "urbem Boffort" [?]; Oxford again; and London, where six weeks were spent. Often in the company of Gataker, Selden, Castell, Sir
 T. Mayerne, and — Mosler. Sails from London on 12 Aug. and reaches Copenhagen on 30 Aug.

The other MSS. in the University Library which bear upon English history are very few and of little importance. They are these:—

Folio, 35. A volume of very rough drafts of papers relating to negotiations between England and Denmark in the latter part of Queen Elizabeth's reign and in that of James I. In it there occurs, "Responsum seren.
 " Angliæ Reginæ ad Legatum Poloniæ, 1597, in Julio."

Quarto, 88; 7 leaves. "Examen der Parlamentschen Englischen Declaration
 " . . . durch zwey Lutherische undt zwey Calvinische der S. Schrift
 " undt auch der Juristen Facultät Candidatos aufgesetzt. In Franckfuhr
 " an der Oder den. x. Apr., stilo veteri, anno 1659."

Quarto, 322; 32 leaves. Copy (made at the beginning of the 18th cent.) of a Danish narrative of the marriage of James VI. of Scotland with the Princess Anne, containing both the negotiations and the ceremonial.

In a small octavo volume entitled "A collection of songs by Symphony Quaver, " sometime a student of Warble College, 1740," which contains 213 songs (chiefly of loose character), there is found "Rule Britannia," which is noticeable as being a copy made in the year in which (as stated in Chappell's History) the song first appeared. "All in the Downs," and "English Roast Beef" are also included, both of which had then only been sung for some 10 or 15 years, while in the medley, strange to say, the Easter Hymn, "Jesus Christ is risen to-day," finds a place. The armorial book-plate of "Thos. Pennington, A.M., of Bledlow, Bucks," is in the volume, of which another owner was one "Will. M. Sale."
